10 MILLION BOND ISSUE URGED TO GIVE IDLE WORK

Revenue Body Said to Favor Plan.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A substantial bond issue to supply a work fund to provide employment for needy men during the approach of winter is now receiving consideration by Gov. Emmerson's revenue commission.

Chairman, Joseph K. Brittain, assisted Douglas Sutherland, Harris A. Lider, and J. Louis Jacobs as a committee yesterday to ascertain and recommend what agency should issue bonds for such a public fund and what safeguards should be thrown around its expenditure.

The commission's attitude toward the proposal at present was reflected by a few of its members as favorable following a plea for the project by Ald. John R. Waller, Oscar F. Nelson, Col. Wendell Blair, and two or three others.

Ask $10,000,000 Fund.

A bond issue of $10,000,000 was requested, but the survey of the Joint Emergency Relief organization headed by Edward L. Ryerson Jr. is said to have developed approximately $20,000,000 in projects on which the money might be usefully employed. It is considered unlikely that the governor's revenue commission would go further than the plans of the Emergency Relief organization for public employment.

The $7,000,000, or perhaps $10,000,000, is to be used for the employment solely of men who are the heads of needy families. The fund would be in addition to the $8,800,000 to be raised by private subscription for relief of the unemployed. The general direction of the raising of the $8,800,000 is under Samuel Insull Jr., and the division of special gifts from public citizens has started its drive. So far it has obtained pledges for an aggregate of $813,532.55, including the promise of $250,000 from Julius Rosenwald contingent upon securing five other contributions of the same amount.

Five Donations Reported.

The leaders of two sections of this special gift division reported donations yesterday of $109,700. One section, headed by Max Epstein, reported $59,850, of which L. E. Block obtained $10,000 in subscriptions. C. H. Kerwin, $5,000; Charles F. Glore, $12,450; F. A. Poston, $1,500, and Harold Swift, $5,000.

The other section, headed by John Wood, reported $50,850, of which Max Adler got $11,300; Robert A. Gardner, $7,500; John A. Holabird, $3,900; Douglas Stuart, $3,250, and John P. Wilson, $3,000.

The appeal for the $7,000,000 or $10,000,000 work fund to the governor's revenue commission caused considerable discussion yesterday. The chamber's unemployment committee, headed by Ald. Waller, has taken the lead in an attempt to obtain such a fund. The last session of the committee was attended by Mayor Dever.

The fiscal program of the city committee to pull the financial affairs of the city out of the fire contemplates that the city shall use all of its $27,000,000 of unused bond money. The governor's commission has not yet learned how the city could use the work fund bonds. On the other hand, the county has considerable bonding power available, and members of the commission were inclined to favor county bonds yesterday.

Ask for Working Plan.

But they have asked the subcommittee to work out a plan by which the spending of the money would be segregated from political influence. The governor's representatives have already proclaimed opposition to taxes of any kind and will not knowingly approve of a plan which will increase it. Also they are opposed to increasing the tax burden, and some members desire that other public expenditures be curtailed to the extent of the bond issue to provide employment.

The final attitude of the commission on the bond issue, it is said, will depend largely upon the report of its committee and the pledges given by the Ryerson emergency organization. It is said, however, that convincing information has been presented to the commission that the $8,800,000 fund obtained from private citizens should be supplemented by a substantial work fund.

Evanston started its charity fund drive in cooperation with Gov. Emmerson's relief commission yesterday, and by evening the business men's and housewives' sections had reported pledges totaling $15,892. The quota in the drive, which ends Oct. 17, is $50,000.

RAIDING PASTOR POINTS OUT AL AS GAMING CHIEF

Gambling House Aid Tells Big Profits.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Five witnesses, one of them a Congregational minister and another a gambler of the Capone syndicate, took the witness stand in Federal Judge Wilkerson's courtroom yesterday as the curtain was lifted upon the income tax case against Al Capone which the United States government has been three years in building.

Through the Rev. Henry C. Hoover, an earnest young suburban pastor, and two other members of a ministerial and civic association which had been organized to drive Capone out of the western suburbs, the government succeeded in connecting Capone directly with the ownership and management of a gambling house at 4818 West 22d street, Cicero.

Gambler Tells of Profits.

And through L. A. Shumway, a former employé of the underground gambling houses of Cicero, which were driven from one place to open in another, the prosecution showed profits to the house which Capone owned of $300,250 in 1924, $117,460 in 1925, and $170,011 during four months of 1926. The books of the gambling house were introduced as evidence.

The Rev. Mr. Hoover is ruddy of complexion, with a thin face and a long, sharp nose, surmounted by pince nez. He testified slowly and deliberately, apparently weighing each answer before delivering it.

Capone and the young minister came face to face during a raid on the place at 4818 West 22d street on the afternoon of the third Saturday in May, 1925, the day of the Kentucky Derby. The association of church members and property owners had collected a posse of police and had entered the place with the purpose of wrecking it.

Place Reopened on Same Day.

They did so partially, but it was shown through another witness that it was only for a few hours, as the gamblers were doing business at the same stand later that afternoon. In the meantime several noses had been broken, including that of one witness who took the stand yesterday.

Capone's presence in the gambling house and his conversation were considered vital evidence by the government, as his income must be shown largely by circumstances.

The minister identified Capone in court, pointing him out as he sat behind his lawyers, Michael Ahern and Albert Fink. Capone smiled and enjoyed the evidence, frequently poking his lawyers in the back in amusement.

On the afternoon of the raid Capone evidently was roused from his slumbers at an unusual hour for him. His appearance was made in a pajama coat, trousers hastily pulled on. He had no shave. Two witnesses described his entry and swore that he said:

"I'm the owner of this place."

Describes Gang Chief's Plea.

The Rev. Mr. Hoover said that when Capone came in he followed the gangster to the office part of the gambling house and Capone said to him:

"Why don't you fellows lay off me?"

After the minister had explained that he had no personal feelings against Capone, but was merely acting in the interests of civic righteousness, Capone said to him:

"This is the last raid you'll ever pull on me."

Mr. Hoover said that he asked a policeman who "that man" was and Capone replied:

"I'm Al Brown—is that good enough for you?"

The minister and the gangster then held a little conversation.

"Listen, reverend," said Capone, "why can't you and I get together?"

"What do you mean?" asked the minister.

Capone Offers to Bargain.

"If you let up on me in Cicero I'll get out of Stickney," said Capone.

It was in Stickney that this same association of reformers made another raid about that time. The character of the place raided there was described as a "bawdy house" by one witness.

The minister said he refused to have any bargaining with Capone and left him.

Mr. Hoover was asked by defense counsel if he had talked with any of the other witnesses, whose testimony he had corroborated. He replied that he had talked with one, David Morgan, yesterday morning because Morgan's wife and children were afraid

STARTING THE FLOW

Germany Gets Dictatorship; Bruening Boss

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Chancellor Bruening got rid of his entire cabinet today and immediately undertook the formation of a new government that will rule Germany under a virtual dictatorship.

The resignations of the complete ministry were submitted by the chancellor to President Von Hindenburg, and Bruening straightaway was commissioned to form a cabinet whose members will be able to withstand Nationalist and national Socialist attacks when the reichstag reconvenes next Tuesday.

New Emergency Decrees.

With the ministerial shift came a long series of new emergency decrees, signed by the president, which give the government far reaching powers in dealing with the nation's financial and economic burden and in thwarting attempts of the opposition parties to make Germany Fascist or communist.

These decrees were interpreted by some observers as sufficiently elastic to enable the government to abrogate such fundamentals as the inviolability of the person, the home, and the mails.

They reach far into the provinces of private business, even to the salaries of certain employés. The government is empowered to declare void any long term contract between employer and employé which stipulates a salary of more than $3,500.

Will Pay Dole in Kind.

The decrees also provide:

Federal aid for communes and states in persuading foreign creditors to convert short term loans into long term loans.

Payment of one-third of unemployment doles in kind.

Cessation of construction of administrative buildings for three years.

Reduction of high pensions.

Stringent savings bank regulations.

Extraordinary courts for tax shirkers.

Special powers for police to be used against subversive movements; any one knowing of the existence of illegal or subversive documents must report them to the authorities, who may confiscate even the equipment on which they are printed.

Strikes Blow at Radicals.

Clubs and other gathering places for radicals may be closed summarily.

Lowering of the capitalization of business concerns to meet changed economic conditions.

While the nation pored over these new and extraordinary powers assumed by the government in accordance with the constitutional provisions designed to meet emergencies, Bruening sought to form a cabinet.

In that task it was known he intended to be guided solely by the personal standing of the available candidates and not by their party connections.

Committee of New York bankers headed by Mortimer N. Buckner, head of New York Clearing House association, starts organization of $500,000,000 nation-wide credit pool sponsored by Hoover and assert it will be ready to function within week. (Details on Page 3.)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—President Hoover's emergency program for the rehabilitation of American business went forward rapidly today as the leading banking interests of the nation mobilized their resources to perfect the organization of a half billion dollar revolving fund designed to thaw frozen bank credits and promote public confidence.

Washington officials in close touch with the New York bankers engaged in the formation of the emergency bankers' pool expressed confidence late tonight that this new banking institution would be operating in the interests of the weaker section of the American banking structure before the end of next week.

Immediate reduction in the number of bank failures due to frozen credits and diminution of the hoarding which has alarmed White House and cabinet officials during the last few days was predicted as one of the first fruits of the new Hoover program.

War Debts to Fore.

As this program got under way with a flying start, the impression was growing throughout congressional and diplomatic circles that President Hoover daily is giving greater consideration to the advisability of proposing an extension of the existing moratorium on intergovernmental debts which expires next July 1. As a result of what the President said last night at the White House parley, many senators and representatives now feel that he wishes a moratorium extension included in his general economic rehabilitation program.

In view of the fact that the President announced early this morning that extension of the war debts and reparations holiday would be discussed with Premier Laval of France on his arrival here on Oct. 22, many believe Mr. Hoover may even discuss war debt revision with M. Laval.

President Is Pleased.

At a late hour today the President's satisfaction with the first results of his latest move to stimulate business through the freeing of frozen credits was made known at the White House, where scores of congratulatory telegrams had been received.

At this time it was disclosed also that the half billion dollar revolving fund to be formed by the bankers would be utilized in discounting certain classes of the hundreds of millions of dollars in frozen real estate mortgage bonds which are now impeding business recovery.

The first inkling of formidable congressional opposition to certain phases of the President's emergency program, especially those dealing with war debts and the reparations moratorium, became evident late today as Mr. Hoover conferred with ten leading bankers and real estate representatives on a series of plans for creating a strong central organization to aid in the financing of home ownership.

Opposition in Congress Seen.

It became known that the President received warning last night that he would meet with stiff opposition in congress if he sought to extend the one year moratorium on war debts and reparations or to revise the war debts. It transpires today that at the outset of the White House conference several of the congressional leaders got the impression that President Hoover wanted them to give their approval to a plan for extending the moratorium for one or two years beyond the one year holiday ending next June.

So vigorous became their opposition, according to senators who attended the parley, that President Hoover was forced to change his emergency relief statement materially, so that there would be no possible chance that it could be construed as binding those attending the conference to any program for either extending or revising the war debts. As finally given to the press, the statement merely said that

Wife Sues to Oust McLean as Post Editor

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Two sensational suits against Edward B. McLean, millionaire publisher of the Washington Post, were filed in the District Supreme court today by his wife, Evelyn Walsh McLean. One of the petitions is for a limited divorce on grounds of adultery, while the other asks that McLean be removed as co-trustee of his father's estate on the grounds that he has "grossly neglected" the affairs of the Washington Post.

Today's action marks the second time within a year that the marital and business difficulties existing between the McLeans have been aired in court. In November, 1930, Mrs. McLean sued her husband for maintenance of herself and their three children. The publisher retaliated by filing suit for divorce in Mexico, but was restrained from proceeding with the suit by a permanent injunction granted Mrs. McLean by the District Supreme court.

Charges Gross Infidelity.

In the divorce action instituted today, Mrs. McLean declares that her husband, "more or less, continuously, for more than two years, has been notoriously living in Washington with a woman not his wife. He has traveled with her, both in this country and abroad, and upon his return, late in September, 1931, from his European journey, he brought the woman with him to Washington."

Mrs. McLean also alleges that, in spite of her husband's refusal to support his wife and their children, he paid "from $15,000 to $35,000" for a sapphire which he gave the other woman. In October, 1929, she states, her husband was confined to an institution in Baltimore because of excessive drinking.

Tells of Other Indiscretions.

In May, 1928, the suit continues, McLean took "a woman not his wife" to the Kentucky Derby in his private railroad car. Mrs. McLean declares she learned of this incident but forgave her husband upon his promise to mend his ways.

Notwithstanding this promise, the petition says, McLean early in the summer of 1929, went to California, where he met and "assumed adulterous relations with another woman not his wife." Mrs. McLean charges that her husband took this woman to Mexico when he went there to prosecute the divorce action, and after traveling abroad with her, returned to this country and "installed this woman in the family home at Friendship for immoral purposes." Mrs. McLean asserts that her husband asked that she and their three children leave Washington because their presence here was embarrassing to him.

Newspaper Suffers, Is Charge.

Mrs. McLean set forth three specific reasons why her husband should be removed as head of the Washington Post, which he inherited from his father, the late John R. McLean. These as listed in the petition were:

"1. Ignoring the business affairs of the paper while drinking excessively and consorting with a woman other than his wife.

"2. Using the trust property for his private gain and appropriating funds of the Post for his personal use to the damage of the estate.

"3. Refusing to pay his own personal bills, thereby offending Washington business men who are actual or potential advertisers in the Post."

PROGRESS IS MADE TOWARD SETTLEMENT OF MOVIE CONFLICT

Hope for a successful termination of the dispute between the Allied Independent Theater Owners' association and the moving picture operators' union, was expressed shortly before midnight last night following the adjournment of a special meeting of representatives of both sides with Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton.

"We have made very substantial progress," said Mr. Sexton. "We discussed harmoniously the various problems, and have reached a tentative agreement on one of the major points. Each party will talk over the matter, and we will confer again."

The next conference will be held this afternoon or tonight and, like last night's parley, in Mr. Sexton's office. Present at last night's meeting were Mr. Sexton; Emmett Quinn, steward; Ralph O'Hara, organizer; Thomas Reynolds, president, and Thomas D. Nash, attorney, all of the operators' union, and Howard Ellis and Theodore Levin, attorneys, and Verne Langdon, executive committee member, all of the theater owners.

His Wife Shot, Rifle Expert Wings Bandit

Mrs. Frances Cummings, 34 years old, was wounded in the right leg during an attempted holdup early this morning and her bandit assailant was shot twice and probably fatally wounded by John H. Cummings, her husband. Cummings, an attorney with offices at 120 South La Salle street, is a member of the Illinois State Rifle association and is an expert shot.

The Cummingses had just left the home of Charles Natelson, 3819½ Greenview avenue, bound for their home at 707 Hinman avenue, Evanston, when two men boarded their automobile at Grace street and Greenview avenue.

Wife Shot by Bandit.

Cummings resisted and with his wife struggled with the nearest bandit. The latter fired, striking Mrs. Cummings. The attorney meantime had managed to arm himself with a revolver taken from the pocket of his car and fired at the robber.

Both men ran and Cummings, taking careful aim, fired twice again at the nearest. Both took effect, but the robber continued his flight. Natelson, hearing the shooting, ran outside and pursued the robber, who collapsed in front of 3722 North Marshfield avenue. He had been shot in the right shoulder and arm and was believed to be dying from loss of blood.

Robber Is Identified.

Mrs. Cummings and the robber were taken to the Ravenswood hospital. The robber, identified by Cummings, gave his name as Frank Hixson, 25 years old, and said he lived at 2241 Carver street. He denied the attempted robbery and told Sergts. Ed Garrity and Clarence Sweeney that he was shot by the husband of a woman friend. Later he admitted that "Jimmie Snyder," a janitor living at Division and Dearborn streets, had invited him out on a robbery and had "double crossed him."

Indict U. S. Dry Agent for Murder of Man During Raid

Florence, S. C., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A Florence county grand jury today indicted W. J. Sarratt, federal prohibition agent, and W. H. Worrell, a magistrate's constable, for murder in connection with the slaying of Clyde Brewer, 35, in a raid on a still in this county. At a coroner's inquest a physician testified Brewer had been shot in the back.

Kills Self in Courtroom as Jury Finds Him Guilty

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—H. S. McCormack, defendant in a long trial on charges of grand theft, shot and killed himself in the courtroom of Superior Judge Elliott Craig tonight when the jury, which had been out three days, brought in a verdict of guilty. McCormack was vice president of the Huntington Finance company of Glendale.

the question would be discussed when Premier Laval of France reaches the United States.

Virtually one-half of last night's conference was devoted to debating the reparations and war debts question. Many of the President's callers left with the distinct impression that the President was prepared to arrange for revision of the war debts when and if public opinion in this country regarded such action with favor. The impression grew that he may take up certain phases of debt revision with M. Laval.

President Hoover's conference in the cabinet room with the real estate and banking group that met today was unproductive. The question of forming a billion dollar central mortgage financing organization to aid in the financing of home ownership was discussed, but dissension prevented an agreement. Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, who participated, said no definite action probably would be taken before December. The inference was given at the White House, however, the formation of some sort of a pool for handling frozen real estate assets may follow in due course.

Storm Is Brewing.

While the White House and the executive departments buzzed with activity and optimism, in the offices of senators and representatives on Capitol Hill a spirit of opposition and distrust was simmering.

Last night's "harmony" had somehow become a bit discordant, and it became certain that though the 32 members of congress who attended the conference had agreed "in principle" to the President's announcement, when it comes to working out the details at the next session there will be plenty of controversy—perhaps enough to wreck some of the President's proposals.

The most vigorous debate of all, it seemed, is likely to arise when President Hoover, in keeping with his program, submits recommendations to congress that "the eligibility provisions of the federal reserve act shall be broadened in order to give greater liquidity to the assets of the banks."

Dissenters State Case.

Members of congress vigorously denounced what they termed any attempt to make a government institution, supported by taxpayers' funds, take over frozen assets which they said were the results of poor banking methods.

And how, they inquired, were new types of securities to be admitted to discount without threatening the country's currency basis?

None was more vehement in defending the inviolability of the present federal reserve act than Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], author of the original act, despite the fact that he had agreed in principle to the President's statement.

"My idea of what paper shall be eligible for discount is contained in the law as it is now written," he said. "We are not going to allow speculative securities to be rediscounted. In fact, more reason exists why this should not be done today than when the act was evolved. Any one who should suggest such a course is either crazy or a stock speculator."

He Warned President.

At the conference, it was learned, Senator Glass informed President Hoover that to suggest a broadening of the act's eligibility provisions would mislead security holders and raise false hopes among persons, each of whom would be sure that his type of security should be included.

Senator Glass pointed out that this very proposition had been before the subcommittee of the senate committee on banking and currency, of which he is chairman, that it had been thoroughly discussed, but that no sound means of including other types of securities had yet been found.

The President, it became known, was vague in his suggestions and made no specific recommendations. Neither, it was assumed, did Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, who was the principal supporter of this project at last night's meeting.

Senator Glass declared the proposal could not be carried out and the soundness of the federal reserve system maintained at the same time.

McFadden Supports Glass.

Nor was Representative Louis T. McFadden of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house banking and currency committee, and an administration regular, any more optimistic.

"All of these subjects have been thoroughly discussed in the past and we have gone as far as we could safely," he declared. "Any enlargement of the rediscounting principle will tend to freeze the assets of the federal reserve system. Heretofore we have sought to guard the system from speculation in order to keep funds available for emergencies."

There was keen dissatisfaction, particularly among the insurgents, over the President's treatment of farm credit. His proposal to increase the capital stock of the federal land banks by $60,000,000 was held to be inadequate.

Borah Not Satisfied.

Senator Borah, the only insurgent asked to attend the meeting, said that congress would have to go considerably beyond the President's suggestion if the government is to reach the farmer whose land is being sold for want of money with which to pay interest charges. And Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart of Iowa, terming the conference "a Wall street party designed to boom stocks," called the President's program "utterly inadequate to meet the needs of the agricultural situation."

Representative John N. Garner [Dem., Tex.], who was reported to have been in a contentious mood the night before, was still touchy.

"In my opinion," he asserted, "the meeting was called chiefly to get an agreement on the extension of the moratorium."

It was learned that he and Senator Borah had led the fight against any such plan, he charging that the President was seeking to get the members of congress to "write his message to congress and then underwrite it."

President Hoover, it was disclosed, had entered the conference with a prepared statement embodying his proposals and including the moratorium extension. He asked that the conferees approve it.

Representative Garner, Democratic floor leader of the house, started the protracted debate by jumping to his feet and exclaiming:

"The way that reads seems to me to mean cancellation of debts and I'm opposed to it."

Some Confusion Exists.

There was confusion in the minds of several senators and representatives as to exactly what the President was suggesting in the language he employed in referring to the visit of Premier Laval of France. They confessed that the President's meaning was not clear to them, but there was an inclination to contend that the wording of the appropriate paragraphs was such as to possibly infer that the President had been authorized by the conference to take important steps that might lead to revision of the war time and post-war obligations of Europe to this government.

In the end President Hoover agreed that the original statement was somewhat cloudy and consented to change it before it was given to the press in such a way as to leave no implication that the senators and representatives participating in the conference were committed in advance to whatever results might flow from his discussions with Premier Laval.

Canada Sees Good Reaction.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 7.—President Hoover's financial plan will, it is hoped here, have an important effect upon the financial situation in Canada.

It is no great secret that negotiations in respect to removing the economic pressure to which the Canadian dollar has been subjected in New York have been delayed owing to the desire of the United States to attend first to its own domestic problem. With the Hoover plan under way, the road would seem to be clear for dealing with the international situation, in which Canada's exchange problem is a factor.

Nation's Reaction to Hoover Program as Shown in Newspaper Editorials

The following comment from newspapers and individuals on President Hoover's plan to revive business confidence has been gathered by the Associated Press:

NEW YORK TIMES—The President's plan for meeting certain serious developments in the economic crisis is of high importance. The expedient contemplated ought to grapple efficiently with one of the most aggravating elements—the unnecessary run on widely separated banks and the resultant throwing on the market for whatever they will bring of investments held by them.

NEW YORK SUN—The President has led the way to a remedy. . . . The bankers of the country should respond with the support which Mr. Hoover asks.

NEW YORK WORLD-TELEGRAM—Instead of letting matters drift further, the administration has faced the emergency . . . It should revive hope in the discouraged business community. Mr. Hoover has assumed leadership. The people will not follow him blindly. But they will follow any reasonable line of march.

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE—Practically overnight the country's credit resources have gained the benefit of a unified command. . . . The effect cannot fail to be steadying upon distraught financial nerves. . . . With the full support of the country the saving of the wealth of the nation—to the small home owners, to the depositor, to the investor—can be colossal.

BOSTON TRANSCRIPT—With the support of leaders of both parties in congress, President Hoover has taken a step of the utmost significance. Only fools—who ought already to be incarcerated in some state hospital—will have doubt of the future.

PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER—The President's action may mark the turning point of the depression. The bankers and the leaders in congress are pledged to do their part. But, as the President says, the American people must also respond to this call by coöperating to the fullest extent.

PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER—An outstanding virtue of the President's whole program is its foundation on self-help. Most important of all, his scheme is practical.

BALTIMORE SUN—If we were not passing through a period when common sense in many economic matters is taking a vacation it would be quite impossible to justify this latest White House venture in economic statecraft. . . . However, given times as they are, it may be that President Hoover's program will have the controlling virtue of serving generally desirable ends and thus justify the means.

MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL—The plan appears to be a simple getting back to the elementals of all productiveness. . . . It is a necessary first step and it may be that it will turn the steps of a disordered world back to paths that have been abandoned in the disorder.

ATLANTA JOURNAL—The revolving credit plan . . . is primarily an investment in public confidence, and there is every reason to expect the returns will be satisfactory.

NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE—President Hoover's proposal to form a half billion dollar corporation to revive business is deserving of national support. The plan of introducing a bill in congress to liberalize the limitations of the rediscount features in the federal reserve act may be found. It depends on just what form of liberalization is finally proposed.

OHIO STATE JOURNAL, Columbus—The most important progress against adverse conditions to date, as registered by that most sensitive of barometers, the stock market, is President Hoover's plan for an organization which will release frozen credits and put idle money to work again."

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER—How far it is wise for the federal government to use public funds in an endeavor to help financial institutions embarrassed as a result of the recent deflation it is difficult to say. . . . Credit is certainly due the President for approaching a problem prompt solution of which is essential to early business recovery.

CINCINNATI TIMES STAR—The President's plan to improve the banking situation was urgently needed; it seems well thought out and practical. . . . Hoover is at his best in facing such a problem. He is one of the best fitted of all our Presidents to deal with an emergency like the present one.

DETROIT FREE PRESS—Mr. Hoover's proposals . . . cannot restore normal conditions overnight; but if they can start the ball of confidence rolling they will ultimately bring an enlivened industrial production which will absorb the country's unemployed.

ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT—It is clear that these [Hoover's proposals] go to some of the roots of our present economic situation, and are designed to strengthen the operating position of the banks in this crisis. . . . They should by all means be regarded as nonpartisan measures and considered on their merits as devices for the general welfare of the country.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH—President Hoover has put his finger on the sore spot in the business situation; namely, restriction of credit, and on the weak spot of the federal reserve syste. . . . The Hoover program, it seems to us, reveals leadership which the people have long been awaiting.

KANSAS CITY STAR—The west will be particularly interested in the proposal to strengthen the federal land banks to make them more serviceable to agriculture. . . . It may be taken for granted that the President's proposals can be developed in a way to be helpful to American industry, as well as agriculture.

ST. PAUL DISPATCH—That President Hoover's measures will reinforce banking and finance and hasten a rebirth of confidence is not to be doubted. There is one obvious and unavoidable gap in this plan. It does not make definite provision for the international credit predicament, but this also is in his mind.

MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE—As far as it goes, the Hoover plan is sound. It avoids the dangers that might be expected to flow from an unreasoned inflation and at the same time is directed toward calling a halt to a deflationism that has gone too far.

DENVER POST—President Hoover is running true to form. He has but one remedy for every governmental or economic ailment—organize a new commission. . . . On the strength of the announcement that political and business leaders had been summoned to Washington to hear the President outline his new relief program, security values increased five billion dollars Tuesday. Wall street is more gullible than the rest of the country. In judging the new Hoover credit corporation scheme, the people of the west are Missourians—they will have to be shown.

SEATTLE TIMES—President Hoover's aggressive campaign to check deflation and to mobilize the nation's financial and business resources was the one thing needed to start the country on its return to normally prosperous times.

PARIS AGREES TO HELP STABILIZE THE POUND; MORGAN ON THE SCENE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Heads of the French government today assured Lord Reading, British foreign secretary, that France will coöperate in providing Great Britain with the necessary financial backing to stabilize the pound sterling when the time comes to stabilize it, which is not yet. It was reasserted that Britain will not stabilize the pound until it has found its natural level.

Premier Laval's forthcoming trip to Washington, D. C., is one of the important subjects of Lord Reading's conversations here, and information has been received that Laval is giving the British envoy a good idea of the attitude France will assume in the probable subjects of his talks with President Hoover.

J. P. Morgan of New York arrived here today, but said he was merely in France for his annual visit.

CONVENTION OF BANKERS BACKS UP HOOVER PLAN

Indorsed at Atlantic City Gathering.

BY O. A. MATHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Bankers of the country today pledged hearty support to President Hoover's broad plan for combined banking and government measures to "unfreeze" the credit resources of the nation. While the President's overnight proclamation, and particularly the magnitude of his proposals, took the bankers by surprise, they rose to the occasion by adopting resolutions of approval at the general session of the American Bankers' association annual convention.

Only vague intimations that President Hoover was conferring with bankers and politicians on a plan to alleviate credit conditions reached bankers attending the convention last night. The first knowledge of the details and scope of the plan was received by most of the delegates when the sessions resumed this morning.

Read by F. H. Sisson.

Then Francis H. Sisson, New York banker and vice president of the association, read President Hoover's announcement from the rostrum and offered an extemporaneous resolution voicing approval.

In the meantime, the resolutions committee arranged a holdover meeting in order to embody the President's proposals in its formal recommendations. The convention made a complete job of indorsing the Hoover plan by adopting both resolutions by unanimous vote and without discussion.

However, there was considerable discussion later in the day by groups of bankers as to what degree the banks will respond to the President's suggestion that they subscribe to the proposed $500,000,000 banking pool to the extent of 2 per cent of their deposits.

Another topic of discussion is to what extent President Hoover's proposals for liberalization of the federal reserve act will be approved by congress.

Long Desired by Bankers.

Eastern bankers are particularly interested in having the privilege of borrowing from the federal reserve banks extended to bonds and short term foreign credits, while western banks want to use both corporation and real estate bonds as security for loans in order to free depositors' money. And many bankers believe the government must do something to help holders of federal land bank bonds to secure credit.

Several bankers recalled today that Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, Chicago, several weeks ago suggested to President Hoover that the government establish an intermediate credit agency in the nature of the war finance corporation to furnish additional credit on security not eligible for borrowing from the reserve banks. His proposal was for a corporation with upwards of $500,000,000 in capital, which would be loaned to banks with sound but slow assets, based on 50 per cent of actual value.

He estimated such action would free upwards of $1,000,000,000 in deposits now tied up in closed banks and also prevent further failures of banks that have a chance to weather the depression if given aid.

Following his reading of President Hoover's announcement to the delegates, Mr. Sisson paved the way for the formal resolutions by a preliminary resolution.

"I believe that the plan called for is based on the considered views and judgment of the nation's banking and business leaders and it calls for our approval and for the support of the whole banking profession," he said. "Therefore, I move that this association pledge itself to the task of aiding in the further development and carrying out of the President's plans as outlined in his proclamation."

Formal Resolution Drawn.

This motion was carried and the resolutions committee was informed of the convention's action. While the scheduled speakers made their addresses the resolutions committee was busy preparing an insert to its report, which later was presented and adopted. It starts off as follows:

"We heartily approve the plan of the President of the United States under which a $500,000,000 banking pool is being created for the purpose of meeting the discount demands of bankers who find it advisable in supplying the needs of the public to obtain funds from collateral of a character which, though sound, is not eligible for rediscount directly or indirectly with the federal reserve banks.

Should Revive Confidence.

"The operation of this pool, which would be available for use of all sound banks, both state and national, should immediately remove the restriction upon credit throughout the United States that has been the cause of so much anxiety to bankers and the public and should serve to reëstablish confidence throughout the country."

Other sections of the resolutions advocated extension of the moratorium on international debt payments and carried the suggestion of a further revision of war debts. Measures for unemployment relief were praised, but any movement looking to unemployment insurance or national doles at government expense was condemned.

Previous to the actual business of the convention, James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board, delivered some sharp rebukes to critics of this governmental agency.

At the close of today's general session Harry J. Haas was elected president. He is vice president of the First National bank, Philadelphia. Francis H. Sisson, vice president of the Guaranty Trust company, New York, was elected first vice president, and Francis M. Law, president of the First National bank, Houston, Tex., was chosen second vice president. Los Angeles was selected as the convention city next year.

MILLS EXPLAINS HOW BANKS PLAN TO USE FUND OF 500 MILLION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills explained today how the proposed bankers' organization with its 500 million dollar revolving fund would operate to aid bankers and industry.

Mr. Mills said that 24 banks of the New York Clearing House association had pledged support to the President's plan and that a committee of that organization was now working out the details of how aid can be carried to the banks and business of the country.

The organization, he said, will operate through local clearing-house associations. Where there are no clearing house associations local committees of bankers probably will be organized to represent the central body.

The organization will take the place of the federal reserve banks by making advances to banks where the reserve institutions are unable to act under the law. Mr. Mills pointed out, for instance, that a bank may be faced by unusual demands or a serious run. This bank, while having sound assets, sufficiently to meet the demands, may not be in possession of paper eligible for discount at the federal reserve banks.

"Such an institution," he said, "is placed in the position of having to sacrifice its assets, not an intrinsic but at market values, with heavy losses, or close. In such a situation the new organization could step in, make advances on the assets, and put the bank in possession of sufficient cash to meet the emergency. The large banks back of the plan are possessed with sufficient liquid resources to carry the depreciated assets until such time as conditions improve and bond and other quotations rise to more nearly par."

FINANCE CHIEFS PRAISE HOOVER CREDIT PROPOSAL

Move Seen as Stimulant to Prosperity.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Chicago financial and industrial leaders yesterday hailed President Hoover's bipartisan emergency program as a stimulant in the revival of prosperity. Comment in high banking, manufacturing and commercial circles was that the thawing of frozen assets and credits would put buying power back into the homes and the farms, and would step on the accelerator in agriculture, manufacturing, business, railroads, mills and factories.

JOSEPH E. OTIS.

Details of the half billion dollar bank pool which is to be formed as a credit reservoir have not been released by the local banks as yet. It is expected that within a few days the Washington authorities will present the scheme in full, after which a meeting of the banks in the Chicago Clearing House association is to be held to consider it. The American Bankers' association in convention in Atlantic City yesterday indorsed the power plan.

Otis Expresses Confidence.

Joseph E. Otis, co-chairman of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, said last night: "The President has taken an extremely wise step. Anything the administration can do which is basically sound and will supplement our present facilities in the credit machinery in the United States will be most helpful at this time. I am confident the administration is back of the effort to do something constructive to demonstrate to the people that the alarm which seems to be abroad is largely a mental attitude and that our country is fundamentally in a strong position compared with the condition of any other country in the world."

Plan Clearing House Meeting.

Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the board of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, said a meeting of clearing house members would be called as soon as the detailed plan is forwarded from Washington. "The fact," he said, "that the New York bankers have already pledged their support will go a long way in carrying out the proposals. It seems to me the most significant feature is the fact that senators and congressmen of both parties are cooperating with bankers and business in an effort to bring the country out of the depression."

George M. Reynolds, chairman of the executive committee of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, said: "The President's plan will be very helpful. It would go a long way towards starting things off on a better footing."

The sixth item in the Hoover proposals was dwelt on by Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board, Harris Trust and Savings bank, as being especially good. This suggestion calls for the strengthening of the resources of the federal land banks to aid the farmers and the credit situation in general. "It would have the immediate effect," Mr. Harris said, "of increasing the value of millions of federal land bank bonds now held by a large number of banks. These bonds are now practically unsalable because of low quotations.

"If the government would subscribe $100,000,000 in capital stock of the federal land banks it would immediately affect favorably the value not only of these bonds but sympathetically of all government and municipal issues, and be the greatest market help I can think of in this particular situation.

Would Strengthen Credit.

"In addition, as the President states, it would strengthen the credit of the land banks so that they could secure additional funds at lower interest rates and in this way they would have sufficient funds to take care of the farmers' loan requirements.

"It is such a simple and effective way of supporting the credit and value of millions of securities held by the banks that it is too bad it cannot be done immediately. However, on any suggestion as constructive as this the President should have no difficulty in getting enough congressional support so that he could assure the public that the matter would be laid before the next congress and every effort made to have it passed. It would be enough to start things in the right direction immediately, which is what, of course, he is trying to do."

Sargent Praises Plan.

The reaction of the railroads was reflected by Fred W. Sargent, president of the North Western.

"The Hoover plan," he said, "if entered into whole heartedly and energetically, offers an opportunity to release frozen credits and enlarge the amount of currency circulating against the gold reserve.

"As I understand it, we have as much gold in the basements as there is money drawn against it. We need only 40 per cent reserve and in times when commercial rediscounts are down we automatically contract the currency. I think the federal reserve board should be authorized to make six month commercial loans on perfectly safe underlying bonds as collateral, and twelve month loans on agricultural paper as collateral and that these loans should be available to small banks in agricultural regions regardless of whether they are members of the federal reserve system, provided they rediscount through a member bank.

"It is true that we need to release and enlarge credits, and the President's plan offers such an opportunity. Even a mild inflation in currency would be helpful if kept in control, and the President's plan offers such an opportunity."

"Act of Leadership"—Seubert.

Edward G. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana said: "President Hoover's decision to strengthen the business structure and restore public confidence is a great act of leadership and deserves the unified public support he asks. With the leaders of both political parties and of business and industry giving whole hearted cooperation, there is every reason to look for success of the President's plans for improvement of conditions."

Opinion in the Chicago stockyards was reflected by T. George Lee, president of Armour & Co., who said: "The President's plan should bring relief in many different ways and should go a long way toward restoring confidence in the future—something most urgently needed. It seems to me that Mr. Hoover has evolved a program which everybody should support in every possible way. Its success depends on how well people get behind it."

Theodore R. Gerlach, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, wired President Hoover: "We congratulate you on your timely and constructive plan which will restore confidence and credit and will revive American industry and commerce."

Martin J. Insull, president of the Midwest Utilities company, commented: "I think the President's plan very constructive."

Views of Agriculture.

Leaders of organized agriculture said they had been urging credit extension at lower interest for the farmer, and that the Hoover plan is a step in that direction. George Thiem, manager of the Illinois Agricultural association, said: "There is no question that one of the greatest needs of the farmer is extension of credit. If there were a moritorium on farm interest payments there would be a better feeling in agriculture.

The American Farm Bureau federation pointed out that it has long sought a system for the extension of credits for agriculture. "It is extremely fortunate," the statement read, "that the Hoover plan has been brought forth through a nonpartisan conference."

The United Depositors' Association of Illinois, of which H. Truman Gordon is president, wired President Hoover: "On behalf of 600,000 depositors of 70 closed banks please accept our heartfelt thanks."

Praised by D. F. Kelly.

D. F. Kelly, president of The Fair commented: "I am glad the President and the leaders of the country are trying to find means to thaw out frozen assets. Unquestionably it will have the effect of helping the people to believe in themselves. That's what is needed, a firm belief in our ability to pull ourselves out, and that is what the President has given us."

Elmer Stevens, president of Charles A. Stevens & Bros. said: "President Hoover's plan comes at the right moment. The United States has been suffering from an exaggerated, unreasoning fear, and once that is removed business will begin to go forward, employment will increase rapidly and prosperity will return. The President's plan opens the door for this."

Bankers Build Organization for $500,000,000 Credit Pool

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 7.—[Special.]—The nation's leading bankers began enthusiastically today to put together a 500 million dollar credit pool to liquefy the frozen assets in the country's banks. At the close of business hours they expressed the belief that a corporation to carry out President Hoover's plan would be ready to function by the end of the week.

The framework of organization has been completed, and announcement on details of incorporation, setup and management will be made within forty-eight hours, probably from an official source in Washington.

Committee on Organization.

George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve bank, announced this afternoon the appointment of a local committee on organization for the 500 million dollar national institution. The chairman of the committee is Mortimer N. Buckner, president of the New York Clearing House association, and chairman of the New York Trust company.

The other five are members of the New York clearing house committee, namely: Charles C. McCain, chairman of the Chase National bank; Harry E. Ward, president of the Irving Trust company; George W. Davison, president of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust company; Herbert P. Howell, president of the Commercial Bank and Trust company, and Gordon S. Rentschler, president of the National City bank.

The committee held two meetings today.

New York bankers were willing to discuss the credit plan in a general way, but declined to be directly quoted until the organization is perfected.

Success Is Predicted.

In discussing the 500 million credit, representatives of three of the largest banks in America felt that so far as accomplishing the psychological purpose of restoring confidence, that objective already had been attained. They expressed the opinion that the plan could not fail and that it would be unnecessary to fall back upon the alternative suggested by President Hoover—the resuscitation of the old war finance corporation.

The new corporation, it was said, will be chartered at once with a nominal capital, but with power to issue at least 500 million of debentures. With New York banks already pledged to subscribe 150 million, the remainder of the capital will be ready on call for banks in other federal reserve districts. In this connection, bankers pointed to the fact that on a ratio of 150 million from New York a maximum of 800 million might be raised among the national and other banks of the country.

How Fund Operates.

Once the fund is in operation, it was explained, it will work in the following manner:

As assets which are not now rediscountable at the federal reserve banks are presented for loans, the banks will buy debentures to the amount required, paying the money to the corporation, the latter parceling it among the banks which are helped out. Funds will be handled by a working committee which will advance money to banks worthy of aid.

Bankers cautioned against the idea becoming general that the corporation was to extend aid indiscriminately and that bank failures henceforth would be prevented. The total of frozen credits in the United States was unofficially estimated at approximately 4 billion dollars, and it was emphasized that the new credit corporation could not be considered a grab bag into which sick banks might dig.

HOOVER SCHEME STRIKES HOPEFUL CHORD IN EUROPE

See in It a Way to Stem the World Depression.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—"Only international cooperation can help solve the world economic crisis. The German government is devoting all its energy to this cooperation."

This was Chancellor Bruening's answer today to President Hoover's latest plans to end the depression. Talking confidentially to the national council, Bruening announced that he expected a new world conference on finances, and possibly reparations, to take place in December or January. The Frankfurter Zeitung declares that preparations for this conference are under way.

Although the present cabinet crisis is one of the most severe in Germany's history, greater public interest here seemed to center on reports of Hoover's new plan. The Berlin press finds it "fully as important as the Hoover message of June 20 on the debt moratorium."

Paris Hopes for Debt Cut.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—(AP)—French newspapers and financial circles devoted much attention today to discussions of the possibilities of President Hoover's financial proposals, much of the discussion turning on whether the plan might include a possible further extension of the moratorium on war debts.

"The liveliness of European exchanges today," the newspaper L'Information said, "is a sign of the confidence the world of speculation has in the success of the attempt of the United States to find a solution of the crisis in boosting prices." The paper added that the United States had "turned toward inflation as a remedy," stating that the rediscount bank proposed by President Hoover means inflation rather than deflation.

In the lobbies of the chamber of deputies prevailing sentiment was that in any proposal for the cancellation of war debts German reparations would have to be maintained unchanged, at least the unconditional annuities under the Young plan. France, it was said, could not forego these without some distinct economic advantages resulting from the proposed Franco-German economic collaboration.

London Awaits Details.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—President Hoover's proposals for counteracting the depression attracted wide attention in London. The stock exchange was inclined to wait for more complete information before judging their efficacy, but the newspapers published prominently as much of his recommendations as they had received.

Rome Is Enthusiastic.

ROME, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Political, banking and business leaders here today expressed themselves enthusiastically over President Hoover's financial proposals.

HERE'S THE IDEA OF PLAN TO BROADEN U. S. RESERVE CREDITS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Examples of specific transactions eligible and ineligible under federal reserve laws are as follows:

ELIGIBLE PAPER.

If used for producing, purchasing, carrying, or marketing goods in agriculture, industry, or commerce, such as:

Given by owner to contractor in actual payment for material and service.

Given by a farmer for purchase of implements, or to drain his farm, or to buy mules, the theory being that this is an agricultural purpose.

Given by a packing company—the proceeds used to purchase live stock.

Given by a manufacturer, secured by commodities already manufactured, held waiting delivery under contract of sale.

INELIGIBLE PAPER.

Loans for purchases of speculative securities.

Loans to pay for work of developin or building.

Loans by a motor transport corporation, proceeds to be used for purchase of trucks.

Loans on real estate and loans drawn by one finance company to finance another.

Loans proceeds of which are used for holding grain for a higher price.

Fixed investments or capital purchases of any kind.

While administration officials have declined to state officially what securities they have in mind, it is understood that congress will be asked to provide greater eligibility for stocks and bonds, real estate loans, building and loan association securities, municipal bonds, and installment plan payments.

WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH FROM 15th. FLOOR OF HOTEL

Mrs. Kathryn Astrella, 67 years old, a widow who had been in ill health for some time, leaped from a room on the fifteenth floor of the Atlantic hotel, 316 South Clark street, early this morning, and was killed when she struck a steel wire netting at the second floor. She left a note to her brother, George Odam, 3426 South Michigan avenue, but police would not permit it to be opened until the inquest is held.

Odam said his sister returned from California, where she had gone for her health a short time ago, and had been living with a sister. She registered at the hotel on Tuesday with the intention of making it her home, her brother said.

Gunmen Puncture Tires on 100 Autos in Garage

Four men, two of them armed, early this morning lined up Andrew Neilson Jr., 7545 South Peoria street, son of the owner, and two Negro attendants in the Shope Super Service garage, 2445 East 75th street, and punctured every tire on 100 automobiles in the place. Neilson said the garage owner had had no trouble and he could give no motive for the outrage. Among the cars on which the tires were punctured was that of Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson's office.

Father of Ten Gets 60 Days as "Hit and Run" Driver

Jacob Tomaszkiewicz, 45 years old, father of ten children, was sentenced to sixty days in the house of correction and fined $100 and costs by Judge Francis Borrelli in the Fullmore court on a charge of being a hit and run driver yesterday. The defendant was seized after a car bearing his license number had struck and fatally injured Miss Bertha Mauer, 74 years old, 2426 Augusta street, last May 25.

FIVE UNITED STATES WITNESSES LINK AL CAPONE TO GAMBLING PROFITS

RAIDING PASTOR IDENTIFIES GANG CHIEF IN COURT

Gaming Den Clerk Tells of Huge "Take."

that he would get into trouble by appearing in court against the big shot of gangland.

At the opening of the morning session Attorney Fink informed the court that the defense had just received information that "one of the jurors had not been quite frank" in the examination of Tuesday, when the jury was chosen, and asked time for consultation. The jury was sent out of the room and the lawyers conferred in the judge's chambers for half an hour. Judge Wilkerson then resumed the bench and without comment on the mystery said:

"The case may proceed."

The opening address outlining the government's case was made by Assistant District Attorney Green. He explained the consolidated indictments, which allege that Capone failed to pay any tax on an income of $123,000 in 1924 and that he did not pay on other big incomes for the years 1925 to 1929. The government charges Capone with evasion of $215,000 in taxes on a total income of $1,038,654 during the six years.

The prosecuter stated that Capone concealed and covered this income and dissipated his assets to achieve this end, that he did business always with cash, checks of other persons or Western Union transmissions.

U. S. Tax Official Testifies.

Charles W. Arndt, chief of the income tax division of the internal revenue bureau of this district, was the first witness. He testified that he had searched the records and that Capone, under this name or an alias, had never filed an income return for the years mentioned. There was no cross-examination or dispute of this.

Chester Bragg, a life insurance man who lives in Berwyn, was the next witness. He pointed out the defendant in court and testified that he had met him at 4818 West 22d street in May, 1925, during the raid on that place.

It was Bragg, one of the raiders, who described Capone as breaking his way past the door where Bragg had been placed as a guard, shouting, "I'm the owner of this place."

Morgan, a machinist of Western Springs and another member of the raiding party, was the next witness. He corroborated the other testimony concerning Capone's words and actions on this occasion.

To Argue Points of Law.

Just before the noon recess Mr. Fink said that he had important constitutional points which he wished to argue and the court said he would hear him later. The government has expected to have several new matters of law threshed out here, although some of the points of controversy are already on appeal in the Ralph Capone income tax case.

Mr. Fink said he would move to have 18 counts in the indictment stricken out. This, if successful, would narrow the case almost to a misdemeanor status.

The point was raised by Mr. Ahern as to whether income could be proved by circumstantial evidence. Judge Wilkerson indicated that he would allow a certain latitude in this, but a big struggle is impending on the point and the way of the government is not easy in the case.

Gambling Employé on Stand.

Mr. Shumway, a nervous, elderly man, who kept a handkerchief or hand to his mouth and who spoke almost inaudibly, was the witness who took most of the afternoon session. He said he had worked in gambling establishments in Cicero in 1924, 1925, and 1926. They "moved around" a good deal, he said, occupying five or six places during this time.

He had seen Al Capone come in often and had seen him making bets by wire, but Capone never bet in these houses, the witness said.

He told of the raid in May, 1925, and said that after "the law" had carted away part of the paraphernalia the place opened up again that same afternoon. During the raid, he said, Capone told him what to do with the money on hand. Details of the day's proceedings are recounted below.

THE MORNING SESSION

Assistant District Attorney Green began his opening address to the jury at 10:45 a. m., upon the return of counsel from Judge Wilkerson's chambers, where arguments as to the disputed juror were heard.

"There are two indictments in this case," Mr. Green said. "They have been consolidated for trial against the defendant, Alphonse Capone, alias Al Brown, alias Scarface Brown, alias Scarface Capone, alias A. Costa. The first indictment is in one count and charges that the defendant unlawfully and willfully attempted to evade and defeat an income tax of $32,483.24 on his net income of $123,101.89 for the calendar year 1924, and that he willfully failed to make a return for that year.

"The other indictment, gentlemen of the jury, consists of 22 counts, applying to the calendar years 1924 to 1929 inclusive.

Range of Income Given.

"The amounts of tax alleged in the different counts in the two indictments range from $15,817.76 for the year 1929 to $55,365.25 for the year 1928, and the amounts of net income alleged range from $103,999 for the year 1929 to $257,285.98 for the year 1928.

"In this connection I wish to remind you that the court will undoubtedly instruct you that it is not necessary for the government to prove exact amounts alleged in the different counts, and that it is necessary only to prove that the defendant had some net income on which there was no tax paid. The evidence in this case will show that the defendant never filed an income tax return for the years 1924 to 1929, inclusive, that he maintained an office in Chicago where he carried on his business activities and that his permanent residence is in Chicago.

"The evidence in this case will show the defendant's connection with various gambling place in Cicero, and that in the year 1924 these gambling places made a net profit of $300,250.95; that in the year 1925 they made a net profit of $117,460; that in the year 1926 they made a net profit of $170,011, and that as to the year 1926 the profit was made in a period of four months.

Evidence of Capone Ownership.

"The evidence will show further that the defendant asserted he was the owner of these places. The evidence will show also that he was connected with gambling places in Cicero in the years 1927, 1928, and 1929; that in the year 1927 these places made a net profit of $171,500, and that in the year 1928 the net profit was $28,800.

"The evidence will show further that the defendant carried on his business dealings in cash, by using the checks of other persons, or by transmitting money by Western Union telegraph, and that carrying on his business in this manner was part of a scheme to conceal and cover up his income from the government.

"The evidence will show that the defendant, in his own name and the names of others, fictitious and real, received by Western Union telegraph in 1928 the sum of $67,000, and that in 1929 he received approximately $14,500—a most unusual manner to carry on transactions in a legitimate business.

The Palm Island Mansion.

"The evidence will show that this defendant rented a palatial home at Miami Beach, Fla., at a rental of $2,500 for the six months during the latter part of 1927 and the first part of 1928; that in the early part of 1928 he purchased a large home at 93 Palm Island, Miami Beach, at a cost of $40,000; that in the years 1928 and 1929 the defendant improved this property at a cost of approximately $100,000; that during the latter years covered by these indictments the defendant lived on a lavish scale both in Chicago and his winter home in Florida and spent large sums of money.

"The evidence will show that this defendant appeared before certain government officials and there admitted that he had never filed an income tax return, and that this defendant admitted, or his attorney, to whom he had given authority, admitted that he had a liability to the government for income taxes."

Attorney Ahern objected to Mr. Green's statement as to Capone's admissions, but the court instructed the jurors to regard the opening statement as merely what the government expected to prove.

FIRST WITNESS CALLED

When Mr. Green had concluded, Defense Attorney Fink waived his opening statement, and the first prosecution witness, Charles W. Arndt, chief of the income tax division of the bureau of internal revenue, was called. He was examined by Prosecutor Green.

Q.—From what person does your office receive income tax returns? A.—All who live in the First district of Illinois.

Q.—Does your office keep a record of all returns made? A.—Yes.

Q.—Have you examined the records to ascertain whether Alphonse Capone filed a return for the year 1924? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did he file a return? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Have you examined the records to ascertain whether Alphonse Capone paid a tax for 1924? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did he pay a tax? A.—No, sir.

Mr. Green put the witness through the same catechism with respect to the other years in question and to the various aliases used by Capone. The answers in each case were similar to those given to questions concerning the year 1924. There was no cross-examination.

Insurance Salesman Testifies.

Chester Bragg of Berwyn, a life insurance salesman, was the next witness. Judge Wilkerson cautioned him to keep his voice up so that the furthermost juror might hear his evidence. Prosecutor Green questioned him.

Q.—Do you know Alphonse Capone? A.—Yes.

Q.—Point him out, please. A.—That gentleman with the dark blue suit and blue tie [indicating Capone, who slumped forward between Attorneys Fink and Ahern].

Q.—Describe your first meeting with Capone. A.—In 1925 I was with a group from the West Suburban Ministers' and Citizens' association on a raid at 4818 West 22d street, Cicero. It was the Saturday of Derby day, in the month of May.

Q.—Did you have any conversation with the defendant? A.—Yes.

Q.—Who was present? A.—A number of people of the raiding party and some of the employés of the place, inside the saloon.

Bragg Meets Capone.

Q.—Describe the conversation. A.—Well, my job was to watch the front door and keep anybody from going in or out. A big powerful man tried to get in and finally forced the door open. I got sore and asked him: "What the hell do you think this is, a party?" and he said: "Well, it ought to be a party; I'm the owner of this place." So I said "Come on in, Al, we're waiting for you."

Q.—What did the defendant do then? A.—He went upstairs with Mr. Morgan, one of the raiding party.

Q.—Did you have any later conversations with the defendant? A.—Well, I was present at several conversations. One was upstairs when Capone asked Mr. Morgan and the Rev. Mr. Hoover why they were always picking on him. "Why don't you lay off of me in Cicero?" he said, and Mr. Hoover said they were not picking on him. "This is the last raid you'll ever pull on me," Capone said. [The defendant stared intently at the witness during this testimony, and whispered frequently into the ears of his attorneys.]

Q.—Describe what you saw upstairs? A.—There were roulette wheels, pool, billiard and crap tables, and chuck-a-luck outfits.

Q.—Did you see Capone again? A.—Yes, when Judge Hamilton of La Grange, who was with us, was asked to issue a warrant for him. Shortly after that Capone disappeared.

Cross-Examined by Ahern.

Defense Attorney Ahern took up the cross-examination.

Q.—Who were the other members of the raiding party? A.—Well, Mr. Hoover, a minister of the Congregational church; Mr. Morgan, who belonged to the organization; Chief Matthews of La Grange, Judge Hamilton of La Grange, and Lieut. Davidson of the state's attorney's police and two of his policemen.

Q.—Wasn't Davidson from the highway police? A.—Well, he reported to Robert E. Crowe [then state's attorney], that's all I know.

Q.—What's chuck-a-luck? [Mr. Ahern spoke with sarcasm.] A.—I don't know.

Q.—Then you can't say whether there were chuck-a-luck outfits there. A.—I mean I don't know exactly. It's something like a parrot's cage and dice roll in the center.

Q.—In how many raids have you taken part? A.—I was on another one in Stickney.

Asked About the Warrants.

Q.—Was there any attempt made to arrest Capone in the raid at 4818 West 22d street? A.—I don't know, I didn't see any.

Q.—Were others arrested? A.—Warrants were drawn for the minor help.

Q.—You saw no warrant drawn for the man who said he was the owner of the place? A.—There was a demand made for the warrant and I saw a man start to draw it, but before the warrant was ready Capone was gone.

Q.—Why was the warrant not served? A.—I don't pretend to know the intricacies of the law in such cases.

O.—O, you suspect that there was skullduggery, do you? A.—I know it was a rotten job not to go through with the arrest.

Q.—How do you have such a distinct recollection of this raid? A.—Well, if you had your face busted like I did you wouldn't forget it for a while.

Q.—O, you were beaten up. Where was that? A.—Outside, as I was leaving. My nose was broken by a blackjack or a brass knuckle.

Q.—Did you have a doctor? A.—Yes, Dr. Stephens, at 33d and Oak Park avenue.

Judge Watches McDermott.

The court at this point directed stern attention to the movements of James McDermott, a member of the law firm of Nash & Ahern, of which Defense Attorney Ahern also is a member. Mr. McDermott came from the back of the inclosure before the bench, tapped Philip D'Andrea, Capone's bodyguard, on the shoulder and whispered to him. D'Andrea, who was sitting at the table of defense counsel, several feet behind Capone, moved forward and whispered to the defendant. Capone then whispered to his counsel. Bailiff Frank Otto arose warningly, but made no further move. Judge Wilkerson frowned at McDermott, but said nothing and the trial went on.

On redirect examination Prosecutor Green asked Witness Bragg about the raid in Stickney.

Q.—Where was that raid? A.—On the Harlem inn, which is on Harlem avenue.

Q.—What sort of a place is it? A.—A bawdy house.

Attorney Ahern moved to strike this answer from the record, declaring the nature of the place was irrelevant. The motion was allowed.

Morgan Takes the Stand.

The next witness, David Morgan, a Berwyn machinist, who participated as an investigator in the Cicero raid described by Bragg, corroborated Bragg's testimony. Morgan said he also was beaten up by the mob outside the gambling house.

Q.—[By Mr. Fink] Did Al do it? A.—No.

Q. [by Mr. Green, on redirect examination]—Did the man who came in during the raid have any mark on his face? A.—Yes, a scar.

Q.—Which side of his face was it on? [Here Mr. Fink interrupted, demanding that the witness not look at Capone before replying.] A. [looking at the jury, not at Capone]—On the left side of his face.

Both spectators and jurors glanced quickly at Capone and assured themselves that the witness had made no mistake.

Soon afterward court was adjourned for the noon recess.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION

Leslie A. Shumway, a professional gambler, was the first witness called by the government when court convened again at 2 p. m. Under questioning by Assistant District Attorney Grossman, Shumway told of being employed during parts of 1924, 1925, and 1926 in a number of Cicero gambling establishments, all close to the Hawthorne Inn, one time headquarters of the Capone ring.

His first job, he said, was in the Hawthorne Smoke shop in the Antone hotel and he gave the address as 4835 West 22d street, Cicero.

Q.—Who were the managers of the place? A.—Why, Mr. Penovich and Mr. Pope.

Q.—Mr. Pope? A.—Frankie Pope.

Q.—And just what kind of a place was that gambling establishment; what did they have there? A.—Well, they had the horses, and all kinds of gambling games, a wheel, craps, 21, bird cage.

Q.—Well, was it a pretty complete gambling establishment? A.—Why, yes, sir, I should say so.

Witness Outlines His Job.

Q.—What were your duties at that place? A.—I was figuring sheets.

Q.—Sheets on what? A.—The horses.

MR. FINK—You were what?

MR. GROSSMAN—He figured the sheets, on the horses.

THE WITNESS—Figured the sheets on the bets.

MR. GROSSMAN—Just what did you do? A.—Well, they had sheet writers. If a man came up and made a bet, they would give him a ticket, and that ticket number was recorded on the sheet, on what number horse he wanted. And that ticket was recorded on the sheet and after the race was run, why, I figured the sheet, the winning tickets on the sheets.

Q.—Figuring how much he won, is that it? A.—Figured how much he won, yes. The losing bets I just struck off.

Q.—Did you at any other time—or at any later time, do anything else than figure sheets? A.—Yes, sir, I was later the cashier.

A Helper for Penovich.

Q.—Was there an intermediate position that you held before you became cashier? A.—Well, I worked on the sheets, I believe, right up to the time I took the cashier's job over.

Q.—Well, did you do anything else than figure sheets before you became cashier? A.—Yes, sir, I used to help Mr. Penovich figure up.

Q.—Now, just tell us what that consisted of? A.—Well, that was held on one sheet. Each game was kept separate, the winnings or losings were kept track of during the day, and after the night's business the entire sheet was figured up and posted in a book.

Q.—What did that book contain. A.—It contained a record of the business.

Q.—Was it merely a total, or would it state details? A.—Well, no, that would be just a total for each day.

Q.—That is, the total winnings and losings? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Or just the net? A.—It would be the net winnings or losing for each game.

Income and Deductions.

Q.—What would you put in on the asset side—or the winning side, the income side? A.—We would put in whatever the winnings were.

Q.—What would you put down? What would you deduct from the winnings before arriving at the net? A.—We would deduct, oh, the losses and the expenses.

Q.—What did the expenses consist of? A.—Well, salaries, and rents, and that kind of thing. Incidentals.

Q.—And who made the entries on the daily sheet? A.—Well, usually Mr. Penovich or Mr. Pope.

Prosecutor Grossman then led Shumway into a detailed recounting of the business side of the establishment. The daily sheets, the witness testified, were destroyed every two or three months, when they had filled a steel chest in which they were kept. Shumway finally produced a 34 page loose leaf book bound in large cover which contained a series of daily reports which had not been destroyed. Part of the handwriting was Shumway's, he declared. The rest, or most of it, was in Penovich's hand, he said.

They Go Through the Book.

Starting at the back of the book, Mr. Grossman turned each page and Shumway identified the handwriting, declaring that it recorded the daily "footings" of each game in the establishment. The amounts contained on the sheets were not read into the record. Sometimes Shumway would mention that the writing on a certain page was the work of "Bennie" Pope or of a Frankie McGreevy.

Q.—I notice a figure at the top left hand corner of each page—for instance, on page 12, "bank, $12,000." What does that mean? A.—That was the bank roll that we started with.

Q.—Started at the beginning of the month? A.—Yes.

Q.—In other words, that was the capital of the business? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Now, you stated a little while ago that Mr. Penovich and Mr. Pope were the managers? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—They were sort of bosses right over you? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Who was the boss over them?

MR. FINK—If there was one.

MR. GROSSMAN—If there was one.

MR. FINK—And if he knows. That is really a conclusion, if your honor please.

THE COURT—It may or it may not be. It may be a fact, if he knows.

MR. FINK—My point is this: there may have been some things done and said from which he would draw one conclusion and your honor might draw another.

THE COURT—You have the right to cross-examine him on that. I say that is a fact as the question is put.

Q. [by the court]—Do you know? A. [the witnesse]—Well, from hearsay, or what I was told.

Effort to Name Capone Balked.

There followed an effort of the government to prove that Shumway had been told that Capone owned the place. Penovich and Pope told him that some one owned the establishment, but he was not allowed to relate this hearsay testimony as to who that some one was. Mr. Grossman then went about it from another angle.

Q.—Now, did you at any time see the defendant, Alphonse Capone, in that establishment? A.—Yes, sir, I have seen him in there.

Q.—Where did you see him? A.—Well, it would be in the office, because I would never be anywhere else.

Q.—Did you ever see Al make any bets in that establishment on horses? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Do you know whether he ever made any bets there? A.—Well, he has made some over the wire, but he didn't make any in the establishment.

Q.—Did you ever see Al Capone's name on the wire record as having made bets over the wire? A.—Yes, sir.

Operated in Several Places.

Q.—Now, where did the place move from—how many places did you operate in, do you remember? You say about five or six? A.—Yes, I would say five or six. I don't know.

Q.—Right in the immediate neighborhood there, is that it? A.—Yes, all around within a couple of blocks, a block or so.

Q.—Where was the money kept? A.—The money was kept in a big safe. Until we moved down in the Subway it was—

Q.—Where was the Subway in reference to the Hawthorne Smoke shop, about how far away? A.—I would say about a block, possibly a little over a block.

Q.—Where was the safe? A.—The safe was in a vacant building, in the Hawthorne hotel, right next to the Antone where we were originally.

Q.—And when you were a block away, at the Subway, what did you do with the money? A.—When it accumulated and we got any winnings to amount to anything, why, I would take it up and put in the big safe.

His Trips to the Safe.

Shumway told of having two guards with him when he first began to take the money to the safe, then said he eventually did the job alone. Over objections from defense counsel he described the reason.

Q.—Was there any conversation about it? A.—Yes, I had a conversation with Frankie Pope.

Q.—All right, tell us what it was. A.—I told Frankie that I didn't like the idea of going down there with the guards, because if anything happened, why I would be the one that was right in the middle. And I asked him to get some one else to take it down.

Q.—And then what happened? A.—Well, he said, "O that is all right, then go ahead without the guard."

Q.—Did you any time after that have any conversation with Al Capone about carrying money over there? A.—Yes, it was some time later that Al said something to me about the—asked me what I would do if I got stuck up, and I told him, I says, "I would just let them take it," and he says, "That is right."

Q.—He said, "That is right." A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Talking about this money that you were taking over to the safe, was he? A.—I suppose so.

Defense Attorney Objects.

MR. AHERN—I object, if it please the court, and ask that all the conversation be stricken out.

MR. GROSSMAN—I submit to the court that here is a fair inference. We have already testified in here that Al said that he was the owner; that is, through the first two witnesses.

MR. FINK—That Al said what?

MR. GROSSMAN—Said he was the owner.

MR. FINK—Is this the same place that he said he was the owner of?

MR. GROSSMAN [to the witness]—What place was this where you were working at that time?

THE WITNESS—This was down—when we were down at the Subway.

Q.—Was the operation at the Subway a part, or something else, of the operation at the other place?

MR. AHERN—That is objected to as calling for a conclusion.

MR. GROSSMAN—The witness has already testified now——

THE COURT—[to the witness]—I understood you to say that this business moved around from place to place? THE WITNESS—Yes, sir.

THE COURT—Now you may state, if you haven't done so already, where the places were. A.—The first place was at, I believe, 4835 West 22d. And after that we were closed for two, three, or possibly four months, I don't know how long. And then we moved across the street upstairs.

The witness said this was probably at 4818 or 4828 West 22d street, and next related that the establishment moved back across the street into the building next to the one it formerly occupied. Mr. Grossman, addressing the court, harked back to the incident between Capone and Shumway.

MR. GROSSMAN—They [defense counsel] asked to strike out an answer to the effect that Al had talked to him [Shumway] about what he would do in case of a stickup when he took the money from the Subway over to this safe, and previous to that this witness had talked to the manager, Frankie Pope, about this very matter, and the inference that we think is the proper one is that Al was told about it by the manager, and then as owner he talked to this gentleman about it. The other testimony [of Bragg and Morgan] indicates that he [Capone] was the owner of the establishment.

MR. AHERN—I can't see any such inference as that, if it please the court. And moreover, let me suggest to your honor, what is in the record at the present time from some witnesses here who made a raid is that the defendant stated at the time, "I am the owner of this place." Whether it is the same place or not, we are not sure; nor how long he was the owner, if he was the owner.

Quizzes Witness on Raid.

Mr. Grossman next turned to the raid itself.

Q.—Now, were you present at the time of a raid at one of these establishments; that is, at one of these places where you were working? A.—Yes, sir.

This was while the establishment was across the street from the Hawthorne Smoke shop, said Shumway, and identified the raid as the same one spoken of in the morning testimony. Capone, he said, was there.

THE WITNESS — He [Capone] talked to some of the officers, and I believe he talked to the Rev. Mr. Hoover, and then they came over to where we were counting the money, and he either told the officers to turn the money over to me, or told me to take charge of the money, I can't say which. I don't remember the conversation.

Shumway said he and one Charles Fiahetti, whom he identified as a friend of Ralph Capone, took the money and left the place for a time, then returned and gambling was resumed that afternoon.

Grossman Tries It Again.

Prosecutor Grossman began once more to try to prove that Penovich and Pope had told Shumway that Al Capone owned the place. The argument became infused with technical legal terms, the jury was excused, and after a long debate Judge Wilkerson sustained the defense objection and the matter was dropped. Much of the argument, however, had been presented within hearing of the jury.

Shumway, in response to Grossman's questions, told of seeing Jack Guzik, Capone lieutenant now under a five year prison sentence for income tax violation, around the Cicero establishment doing occasional gambling.

Near the end of Shumway's testimony Mr. Grossman instructed him to read the tabulations of the gambling house's losses and gains during his association with it. The figures for the yearly profits, tabulated month by month, coincided with those given by Prosecutor Green in his opening statement to the jury.

Cross-Examination by Mr. Ahern was brief, but left the intimation that Shumway may be called later by the defense.

MINISTER'S TESTIMONY

There was a stir in the courtroom when the name of the Rev. Henry C. Hoover was called. He was the last witness of the day. The spectators waited expectantly while a bailiff brought him in from the corridor. Prosecutor Green conducted the direct examination.

Q.—What is your occupation? A.—Minister of the gospel.

Q.—Do you know the defendant, Alphonse Capone? A.—Yes, there he is. [The witness looked Capone straight in the eye and pointed his right forefinger directly at him. Capone chewed his gum nervously.]

Q.—When did you first see him? A.—On a Saturday afternoon, in May, 1925, at 4818 West 22d street, Cicero. That was a gambling establishment.

Q.—Where in this establishment did you see him? A.—In the main gambling hall, on the second floor, and later back behind the partition, in a back room.

Pictures the Gambling Hall.

Q.—Describe the second floor. A.—It was a large hall, with gambling apparatus, chairs, and racing forms, and then to rear a partition shut off a back room.

Q.—Where on the second floor did you first see the defendant? A.—I was in the larger hall. I saw him first when he came up the stairway, into the hall, and disappeared into the back room.

Q.—Did the defendant say anything upon entering the hall? A.—Yes, he said: "This is the last raid you'll ever pull."

Q.—Did you see him again? A.—Yes, I followed him into the back room. When I saw him then he was taking the money out the till and putting it into his pockets.

Capone sat back in his chair, vigorously chewing his gum, during the minister's testimony. An apparently forced smile played on his countenance. The jurors gave strict attention to the witness, each of them watching him closely.

Pastor Talks to Capone.

Q.—Did you talk with the defendant at this time? A.—Yes. I said to Lieut. Davidson, "Who is this man?" and Mr. Capone raised his head and replied: "I'm Al Brown, if that's good enough for you." I said: O, I thought it was some one like that, some one more powerful than the President of the United States."

Q.—What else did the defendant say? A.—He said: "Why are you fellows always picking on me?" I told him this was not a personal matter; that we were simply trying to uphold the law in the western suburbs.

Q.—Did you see the defendant at a later time on the same day in this establishment? A.—Yes.

Gang Chief Makes an Offer.

Q.—What did he say, if anything? A.—He said: "Reverend, can't you and I get together—come to some understanding?" I asked him what he meant, and he said: "If you will let up on me in Cicero, I'll withdraw from Stickney." I said: "Mr. Capone, the only understanding you and I can have is that you must obey the law or get out of the western suburbs."

Q.—How did the defendant appear upon this occasion, when you first saw him? A.—He was dressed as though he had just gotten out of bed, with a pajama shirt and a suit of clothes. He was unshaven.

Q.—Was there ever any reference made to any particular places in Stickney by the defendant? A.—Not specifically, but it was quite apparent to me that when he referred to—— [Mr. Ahern and Mr. Funk made simultaneous objections] was the raiding of the Harlem inn.

Q. [by the court]—What had you raided in Stickney? A.—The Harlem inn, a vice resort, and other places.

Ahern Questions Minister.

Attorney Ahern took up the cross-examination.

Q.—How many agents of your association were at that raid? A.—David Morgan and Ray Chandler.

Q.—When did you talk to Morgan last? A.—Today, perhaps two hours ago.

Q.—That was after he had testified. Did he say anything about his testimony? A.—No.

Q.—What did you talk about? A.—I asked concerning his family, as I knew they were frightened because he was a witness in this case.

The jurors stirred at this statement. Judge Wilkerson smiled.

Q.—Did you see Bragg this morning? A.—Just for probably half a minute. He and Mr. Morgan were together.

Q.—Did you ever hear that Bragg said that this defendant told him that he was the owner of that gambling place in Cicero? A.—Yes.

Heard for the First Time.

Q.—Did you hear that today, for the first time, when you talked to Bragg? A.—Yes.

Q.—Well, what did Bragg tell you? A.—As I understand it, Mr. Bragg was standing at the door of the first floor entrance when a man appeared at the door and sought to get in.

Q.—What else did Mr. Bragg tell you this morning? A.—Mr. Bragg, in rather picturesque language, as I recall it, said: "What do you think this is, a party?"

Q.—Where did you get the "picturesque" manner? A.—That is my own comment. It was a bit racy.

Q.—Is that what you mean by picturesque, that he said, "Is this a party?" A.—Yes.

The minister appeared somewhat embarrassed by the forced admission that he discussed the testimony of Bragg and Morgan with them. Capone was enjoying the cross-examination, smiling broadly.

Doesn't Remember About Morgan.

Q.—Did Morgan tell you the same story? A.—Mr. Morgan may have joined in the conversation. I do not remember just what part he had in it.

Q.—But you remember back in May, 1925, that Mr. Capone said: "This is the last raid you'll ever pull," and "Al Brown, if that's good enough for you."

Shortly afterward court was adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning upon the conclusion of the Rev. Mr. Hoover's testimony.

ORDER O'BRIEN INTO COURT FOR TAX CASE DELAY

Legislator Faces Threat of Early Imprisonment.

State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien was ordered yesterday to appear in the federal court today to show cause why he should not begin immediately to serve the sentence of two years in the federal penitentiary imposed upon him ten months ago by Judge Walter C. Lindley. O'Brien was convicted by a jury of income tax evasion.

LAWRENCE O'BRIEN.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals issued the rule to show cause against O'Brien and his attorney, James A. O'Gallaghan. On July 17 the Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the conviction and sentence of O'Brien.

Plea for Rehearing Denied.

On July 25 a petition for a rehearing was denied, but a stay of mittimus was granted to allow Attorney O'Gallaghan to prepare a writ of certiorari to the United States Supreme court. No specific time limit was set for preparation of the appeal, but the lawyer was directed to act "expeditiously."

The records do not show that the appeal has yet been perfected and the judges of the Appeals court ruled that the lawyer had not acted as quickly as he might have. If a satisfactory explanation for O'Brien's delay is not given he will be arrested and sent to the penitentiary at once, the order indicated.

Income Put at $436,000.

Testimony at the trial showed that O'Brien had an income of $436,000 for the years 1926, 1927, and 1928, but had filed no income tax return for those years. Most of O'Brien's income was shown to have been received for work done for three Chicago ladies, the sanitary district, the city, and the Lincoln park commissioners. He admitted also that he had done work for the south park and west park boards.

O'Brien's contention was that he had not believed his income from public sources was taxable.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Jo Davidson, the American sculptor, started work today on a life size figure of Mahatma Gandhi in clay. The mahatma protested at first, but finally consented to pose in his loin cloth and without his shawl. The studio was heated so that he would not catch cold.

Sketches of Central Figures at Trial of Gang Chieftain

Some of the central figures at yesterday's session of the Al Capone trial as they appeared to Tribune artist. Left to right: Assistant U. S. District Attorney Jacob I. Grossman, Capone, Defense Attorney Michael Ahern, Defense Attorney Albert Fink, and Leslie A. Shumway, professional gambler and first government witness at afternoon session.

Courtroom and Corridor Chat from the Capone Trial

Federal Judge George A. Carpenter was one of those shoved aside by policemen to make way for Al Capone at an elevator in the federal building yesterday. The judge with several other persons was waiting on the sixth floor, where the trial is going on, when Capone and his guard came along the corridor. The policemen swept every one out of the way, including Judge Carpenter. No one is permitted to enter an elevator with Capone and his guard.

Because some photographers had made pictures of Capone and his lawyers in the courtroom after Tuesday's adjournment, Anthony Czarnecki, collector of customs and custodian of the federal building, yesterday announced at the close of court that the others might do the same. He asserted, however, that Judge Wilkerson would permit no further courtroom pictures to be made. Instantly a score of photographers rushed into the room and began shooting away from all angles, on top of the bench, from window sills and from the jury box.

At the noon recess Capone was greeted by Corporal James F. Boscarino, on leave from the U. S. S. Tennessee. The uniformed marine shook hands with the gang chief and said: "All the luck in the world, Al," and received thanks therefor. Boscarino said he had known Capone "as a kid around the neighborhood" in Brooklyn.

The impression gathered from watching Capone playing hide-and-seek through corridors and entrances of the federal building, grinning at the crowds, and tirelessly posing for all photographers, is that the gangster is enjoying himself immensely.

One photographer to another: "I don't know which is the worst frost, sitting here in the corridor, or trying to get them society dames to pose, like I did yesterday. They will pose after you beg enough, though." And so did Capone, after court adjourned.

A well dressed middle aged woman sat in the reserved seats just behind the press tables and smilingly examined the scene in the court through a pair of opera glasses.

One woman to another: "Is that man with an undersiung jaw a gangster?"

The other: "No, he's an artist. I saw him sketching this morning."

So far there has been a dearth of hoodlums attending or seeking to attend the trial, the door guards announced. Not one of Capone's henchmen or members of other gangs has put in an appearance in the corridors of the courtroom.

3 BANDITS RAID BRIDGE GAME AND ROB 14 WOMEN

Get Cash, but Miss Gems Hidden by Guests.

Three masked bandits invaded a bridge party given by Mrs. Henry M. Jason in her apartment at 3519 Pine Grove avenue, late yesterday afternoon, and after holding up the hostess, twelve women guests, and a colored maid, left with $57.50.

A considerable amount of jewelry was saved because the women had the presence of mind to secrete it in their clothing. The robbers, all middle aged, were in the apartment for 15 minutes and cut the telephone wires before they left. The money was taken from the purses of the women left in a bedroom.

Three tables of bridge were in progress in the living room when the front door bell rang. Mrs. Jason, answered the bell. She was confronted by the three robbers who pushed inside.

Order Party to Be Quiet.

"We just want a little money," one of them said, concealing his face with a handkerchief. "No one will be hurt if you're quiet."

The women were ordered to remain seated at the tables with their heads bowed and to keep their hands on the table. Before the command, however, they had succeeded in removing rings from their fingers, concealing them in their hair and clothes. The two robbers who came to the tables to guard them cursed when they found no jewels on the women's hands.

The third robber entered the bedroom and went through the purses. A pocketbook containing $70 was missed by the bandit. The gang left with the words: "We'll see you later."

Guests at Bridge Tables.

The guests at the party were Mrs. M. M. Cole, 645 Buckingham place; Mrs. Harry Phillips, 730 Margate terrace; Mrs. Dorothy Saltell, 901 Margate terrace; Mrs. Harry Rosenbaum, 1825 Pine Grove avenue; Mrs. Dorothy Cohn, 540 Brompton place; Mrs. Harriet Williams, 4920 North Lawndale avenue; Mrs. Ralph Goodman, 6813 Lakewood avenue; Mrs. Arnold Nathan, 7714 North Paulina street; Mrs. T. AID UNEMPLOYED OR TAX INDUSTRY, LABOR CHIEF SAYS

Demands Congress Take Immediate Action.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Political reprisal was said by speakers before the American Federation of Labor here today to be inevitable unless the coming congress takes steps to alleviate unemployment. Labor also was lauded for its "courage" in attacking prohibition.

Edward Keating, editor of Labor and former congressman for Colorado, while he made no direct reference to the address of Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, former secretary of labor, yesterdy, repeated one of the senator's phrases with a directly opposite interpretation.

Davis indicated he believed heavy taxation of wealth was futile and inadvisable because it would force wealth into hiding and deplete the resources of the nation.

Urges Five Day Week.

"We would not be eating our seed corn," Keating declared, repeating Senator Davis' language. "We would simply be taxing the godless profits wrung from millions of workers. Go before congress and urge it to remain in session until it has done what it can to relieve the existing situation.

"What can congress do? Well, the United States employs 600,000 men and women. Is there any better place to start the five day week?

"Congress appropriates billions of dollars for works. Instead of placing a premium on the contractor who pays the lowest wages and works the longest hours, congress should provide that every one who gets a government contract must put fair working conditions into effect.

Threatens Political Revolt.

"The nonpartisan program of the American Federation of Labor has not been in vain, and you will get a sympathetic ear from congress. Demand a roll call on every measure—and if congress betrays you, you will have the record as a weapon to bring about a political revolution in 1932."

Keating demanded for the nation's workers "the inalienable right to work, and if industry denies that right, I insist that industry must be taxed."

Spencer Miller, secretary of the Workers' Education bureau, said the unemployment situation must be relieved "or social revision will sweep Europe, and there will be social unrest in America."

WOLF TO RECEIVE SENTENCE TODAY AS $3,666,929 EMBEZZLER

Walter E. Wolf, former manager of the coupon department of the Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust company, whose thefts of $3,666,929 from the bank gained him the title of "the greatest embezzler of the cenutry," is scheduled to appear before Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher in Criminal court at 11 a. m. today for sentence on ten embezzlement charges, to which he has pleaded guilty. Under the Illinois criminal law embezzlement is punishable by one to ten years' imprisonment. Wolf therefore faces a maximum sentence of ten to 100 years if the court directs that the sentences on each of the ten counts run consecutively.

Upon entering his guilty plea last week Wolf, when asked if he had anything to say, expressed hope that the court would direct that the sentences run concurrently. At the same time State's Attorney Swanson recommended that the judge impose a sentence sufficiently severe to deter any one liable to be tempted to follow the coupon clerk's example.

YACHTSMAN SUED BY SAILOR ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Claims He Was Thrown Off Boat.

A suit for $2,000 damages on a charge of "assault and battery upon the high seas" was filed in the United States District court yesterday against Herman A. De Vry, 839 Kenesaw terrace, wealthy manufacturer of moving picture equipment with offices at 55 East Wacker drive. The complainant is Glenn G. Geoffroy, a sailor on the great lakes.

Geoffroy charges that the manufacturer beat and kicked him on the Typee, De Vry's 85 foot Diesel powered pleasure yacht.

The attack occurred on Aug. 10 when the yacht was anchored in Belmont harbor, according to the sailor's suit. De Vry is alleged to have boarded the vessel and informed Geoffroy that he was discharged. Geoffroy declared that when he then asked for two days' wages which were due him De Vry refused to pay him.

Then, in the words of the suit, the sailor called this refusal "lousy." De Vry struck the sailor in the face, it is alleged, then kicked him and threw him off the yacht.

Geoffroy contends that under the rules of admiralty law he should have been given seven days' notice upon dismissal from service on the boat. Because this was not done, the sailor insists De Vry owes him twice his daily wages since the alleged attack occurred.

The remainder of the $2,000 Geoffroy asks as payment for the bruises and lacerations which he alleges he suffered. The sailor demanded that his former employer be arrested and his bond set at $500, pending the outcome of the action, which was represented as following the rules of admiralty law in such matters.

ACCEPT LARCENY PLEA FROM 2 AIDS OF SLAIN BANDIT

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Clark and Francis Haines, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Walter Stanton.

James Clark, 24 years old, and Francis Haines, 29 years old, were sentenced to one to ten years each in the Joliet penitentiary yesterday by Judge Walter Stanton in the Criminal court on a charge of grand larceny. When the charge was changed from robbery to grand larceny, the men pleaded guilty.

Clark and Haines were captured after a holdup of the cigar store of Joseph Miller at 5500 Harper avenue on July 8. Policeman Redmond Gibbons and Louis Olson of the Hyde Park police walked into the store as the bandits were leaving. Clark, Haines, and a third man, Orrie Lehman, opened fire on the police with sawed off shotguns. The police returned the fire and Lehman was killed.

SUPER HIGHWAY PROJECT URGED AT RIVER FOREST

The River Forest Property Owners' association and the River Forest Taxpayers' association, at a joint meeting last night, adopted resolutions petitioning Governor Emmerson to include in his call for a special session of legislature this fall the proposal to start construction this winter on a west side elevated highway. Charles E. Christopher, a village trustee, said he would present a similar resolution for adoption by the village board next week.

"The Austin-Kinzie elevated highway," said Charles E. Byrne, president of the taxpayers' group, "is the only feasible plan to remove through traffic from the dangerous and congested surface boulevards."

Samuel C. Higginson, president of the property owners' association, emphasized the importance of beginning construction this winter so to furnish employment during the cold months to from 10,000 to 30,000 men.

The meeting was held at the home of William E. Schultz, 7550 Chicago avenue, River Forest.

WOMEN BANDITS STAGE HOLDUP IN HE-MAN FASHION

A pair of women bandits broke into the crime spotlight late last night by perpetrating a successful holdup on the near north side in regular man fashion.

Mrs. Pearl Hanscom of 1155 North Dearborn street, was the victim of the unique robbery. She was walking homeward from the Newberry library, Walton place and Dearborn street, when two women, each between 25 and 30 years, accosted her. They asked directions to a certain address. Suddenly one of the women flashed a revolver, and pressed it against Mrs. Hanscom's side.

"Up with your hands," she commanded. Mrs. Hanscom, astonished, was slow, and the second feminine bandit, unarmed slapped her sharply on the face. "Put 'em up," she ordered. Mrs. Hanscom "put 'em up." The women took her purse, containing $7, and then instructed her to walk north, and keep on walking. Mrs. Hanscom walked north and kept on walking until she reached Division street. Then she notified police.

FACTOR'S MINES BOUGHT CHEAPLY, WITNESS SAYS

Attorney Franklin R. Overmeyer, counsel for the British government, yesterday brought out in his cross-examination of Maj. Harry Brian Pearson, mining expert, who was brought here from England to testify in behalf of John [Jake the Barber] Factor, that three properties on which $2,000,000 worth of stock was sold had cost the promoter only a small sum for claim fees.

Only superficial efforts were made to work the properties for copper, according to Overmeyer, who is seeking Factor's extradition to England for trial on charges of having defrauded investors of $7,000,000.

At the outset of the cross-examination, Maj. Pearson testified that he had received about $1,000 from Factor's solicitors to cover the expense of his trip for the purpose of testifying for Factor.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Almost any teacher in almost any public school of the city could explain, forcibly and definitely, why it is that approximately 15,000 pupils in their classrooms said the aid that THE TRIBUNE readers are extending through the Hungry School Children's Fund. But members of the staff at the S—— recreation center can tell it as quickly and as vividly as any, when they relate their experience with Joseph and Theodore.

It was during the warm days early last summer that Joseph, a scrawny, unkempt youngster of eight years, strolled into the center. He was followed by a younger edition of himself, a cowed little fellow who turned out to be his brother, Theodore. Joseph's irascible, bullying attitude toward Theodore and the other smaller children was so reprehensible that he was taken aside and talked to about it.

Children Always Hungry.

Softly the young woman doing the questioning got the story of conditions at the home of the two brothers. Their father had been out of work for many months, and several weeks before they appeared at the center, their mother, an overworked, harried breadwinner for seven, had lost her small wage when the factory where she worked shut down. The children were always hungry.

In Joseph, their constant need of food nourishment and failure to get it inspired the angry, bullying manner. In Theodore, it had exactly the opposite effect. He slunk along like a frightened little rabbit, timid and awkward.

The older boy listened dubiously as the teachers promised that every day he showed up for classes at the center he would have a whole bottle of cool, fresh milk for himself, with cookies and fruit. But when he found their promises, and day after day failed to find them wanting, he gradually lost his anti-social attitude. The good meal a day did wonders for both boys, and before the summer was over Joseph was brighter in mind and manner, taking a real interest in his instruction, and had practically stopped his domineering over the smaller children.

Theodore Perks Up.

Though he was by nature of a different temperament, the regular, nourishing food had a like favorable reaction on Theodore.

Literally hundreds of boys and girls in the schools today reiterate this episode. As the schools reopened and the children of families caught in the general depression drifted back to their rooms, it became apparent how definitely their progress in school was dependent on the nourishment they could not get at home.

The general public, realizing the hardship on the youngsters, has responded quickly and generously to the appeal to give them warm, stimulating food at the extremely low average of ten cents a lunch.

Further contributions will be urgently needed as the weeks go on, and may be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE with the clipping provided for that purpose in this edition.

CHARGES SECRET SESSIONS TO MAP SCHOOL POLICIES

Holdover members of the board of education from the former city administration were charged yesterday by Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, one of the two Democratic trustees, with holding secret meetings to make plans to spend school money. The charge followed a meeting of the Republican members of the board last week to which Mrs. Hefferan was not invited.

The meeting, it was explained by Trustee Joseph P. Savage, was an unimportant one of the buildings and grounds committee. He added that it had been called in an emergency to consider fire damage to a board of education garage some days previous and that the emergency had not permitted the time necessary for notifying Trustee Hefferan.

"Taxpayers have a right to know how their money is being spent," Trustee Hefferan said at a committee meeting yesterday. "They have a right to know the decisions, and they have a right to hear how those decisions are arrived at.

"Yet before every meeting of this board there is a secret session from which the trustees dash into the open meeting and race through public business that in the course of a year entails the expenditure of nearly $100,000,000 of public money. And, as though this were not bad enough, there are other secret sessions after board meetings and in between, here and at the Bismarck hotel."

REALTY DEALER FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN CICERO

A man identified by cards in his clothing as Victor C. Frankiewicz, about 40 years old, a real estate broker on the southwest side and said to be a minor politician, was shot to death last night at 23d place and Cicero avenue, Cicero. The police could find no one who saw the shots fired, but they learned that four men had been seen sitting in a large automobile parked at the intersection all evening.

Chief of Police Martin Wojciechowski was told by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fischl, 4813 West 23d place, that they heard nine shots fired, apparently from an adjoining alley. Frankiewicz was shot once in the head.

Cards found in his pockets gave a number of addresses. One of them, from the state department of registration and education showing that he was a licensed real estate broker, gave the address as 1736 West 47th street. A similar name is listed in the telephone directory at 1947 West 47th street. Other cards gave 4359 South Wood street and 4418 South Wood. Still another address was 2239 West 64th street.

Early this morning Frankiewicz's automobile was found in front of a soft drink parlor at 45th and Honore streets. Police believe that he was taken to the scene of his death in another car. His mother and sister, questioned by detectives, could offer no explanation of the killing.

LAKE COUNTY, IND., WILL PAY $400,000 BILLS WITH SCRIP

Its treasury emptied by heavy expenditures for poor relief, required by state law, Lake county, Ind., yesterday arranged to pay $400,000 of its bills with tax warrant scrip. The tax warrants will be issued to merchants, physicians, and hospitals which have claims pending against the county for poor relief.

The tax warrants were issued in September, but banks refused to buy them. Their issuance to the county's creditors was authorized yesterday by the county council, sitting at Crown Point, and was approved a few minutes later in a decree issued by Circuit Judge E. Miles Norton.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers divided time between their Chicago apartment and a home in Lake Forest. They were married in Boston in March, 1923, and have two children, Corina Higginson Rogers and Adela Waller Rogers.

GAS COMPANY SUPERINTENDENT DROWNS HIMSELF

SAMUEL H. MOORE.

Samuel H. Moore, 53 years old, for fifteen years superintendent of the employés' service department of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, ended his life last night by jumping into the sanitary district canal in Wilmette.

In drowning Moore won a race with police who started a search for him shortly after he had left his residence at 707 Laurel avenue, Wilmette. The search was prompted by fears of his wife Anna. At 7 o'clock she telephoned the police that her husband had left home in his car. She said that he was ailing, and asked that he be found. Shortly afterward, Miss Edna Esentrot, of 153 Maple avenue, reported to police that she had seen a man step out of his car at Maple avenue and the canal, and jump into the water. The car was Moore's. At 9 o'clock, Evanston and Wilmette police recovered the body from the canal just north of Central street where it had been carried by the current.

Moore had been associated with the utility company for thirty years. Previous to his appointment as head of the service department, he had been secretary to the vice president. Two children, besides his widow survive.

B/G Announces NEW Policy

Once again B/G breaks away from established trade practice. After close study, a more scientific method of pricing has been developed.

Scientific Pricing—The new principle holds that the individual price of each item must bear a definite relation to its cost. Heretofore it has been trade practice to establish average prices for various groups of items regardless of cost of ingredients.

Now the savings resulting from low market prices of food products and quantity buying are at once passed along to the guest. The new method of pricing is based on current market costs and works to closer limits than was previously possible. Thus the price of each item has been figured to the penny.

Complete Price Revision—The result is a complete revision of the whole price schedule, not a mere readjustment of prices on a few items.

Total Check Lower—Most items show a substantial reduction, some remain unchanged, and a few have been slightly increased, but the total on your check is invariably lower.

Thus, where all special pies and cakes were priced at 20 cents, now some sell as low as 12 cents, and portions remain the same. Similarly, all the three-deckers on toast have carried a price of 30 to 50 cents. Now some of these same popular specials sell as low as 20 cents.

At every hour of the day special combinations are offered at even greater savings.

Other Policies Continue—In every other respect, the B/G policies which have won popular approval remain unchanged. Quality food, promptly served in clean and pleasant surroundings is still the B/G Idea.

Responsibility of Leadership—Just ten years ago B/G pioneered with a new and distinctive type of eating place. The first shop was based on the idea that the average American likes to eat well, with a minimum of time and effort, as he would at home.

A TYPICAL SAVING

Compare the values in the following example taken at random:

	Old	New
Ham and Egg Sandwich (3-decker on Toast) Deviled Ham and Egg Salad	30c	22c
Apple Pie	15c	12c
Coffee or Tea (More without extra charge)	10c	10c
	55c	44c

At every hour of the day special combinations are offered at even greater savings

Other Original Features—One outstanding innovation was making coffee in small quantities so that it would always be fresh. Then as a gesture of hospitality, B/G invited guests to have more coffee without extra charge.

Recognition for Every Guest—Another feature was the unique service system, whereby the efforts of the whole staff were directed toward prompt and courteous attention to every guest. Thus the B/G girl who took your order was not always the one to deliver it.

Members of the B/G organization scrapped another old custom in not accepting tips. Without gratuities, B/G guests are assured uniform, impartial service.

Plentiful Selection of Good Things—There is a wide selection of delicious foods served in B/G Sandwich Shops and you'll find them priced to the penny. Every noon a special plate snack is offered and in the evening a complete dinner is served.

Save Time and Money—B/G guests, accustomed to conserve their time and effort, can now save money too. Be penny wise and eat at B/G today.

GOVERNOR BACK IN CHICAGO; MUM AS TO CANDIDACY

Noncommittal on Extra Session Plan.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson returned from a ten days' fishing trip in the Rainy River district yesterday, bringing with him a chunk of the "vast silences" said to characterize the north woods.

Before he departed on this trip with President James of the west park board, Otto Hassel and other old time pals, it was predicted that the governor might, in close conferences with these friends, reach a decision as to whether next year he would seek another term of office. But the indications were that he was no nearer a conclusion when he came back than when he went away.

"When I am ready to talk about next year's plans," he said in reply to a direct question concerning the governorship primary, "I'll take the people of the whole state into my confidence."

The governor also was noncommittal when it came to mentioning a possible date for the long discussed special session of the general assembly to enact relief measures for the local governments within the state, including Chicago and Cook county.

The date for such a session, he said, depends entirely upon the progress of the special commission he named to study the involved problems. As he did last year when a similar situation arose and a special session was called, he maintains that he will not summon the legislators to Springfield until the complete program for their consideration is ready for presentation.

Awaits Definite Plan.

"There will not be any special session," he said, "until the commission now working on the subject has a feasible and practical plan approved by the local governments asking for legislative help and backed by the civic interests and leaders which safeguard the taxpayers in matters of this sort. I am not going to call the legislature together just to mill around."

The governor said that he had received requests to include in his call for the special session—the only gateway that will bring them before the assembly—more than twenty-five subjects of various kinds.

"If I granted all those requests," he said, "the legislature would have as many different kinds of business to transact as a constitutional convention."

Gov. Emmerson said he had not had time to familiarize himself with President Hoover's new plans for financial relief of the nation.

"But I am quite sure," he added, "that we all agree we must do something of the sort. We seem to have lost confidence in each other, yet here we have the greatest nation on earth. It is essential to rearouse confidence and any plan that does that will please the entire country."

CERMAK MAKES PLEA FOR REDUCTION OF REAL ESTATE TAXES

Mayor Cermak went on record last night for a reduction of taxation on real estate.

"From the number of foreclosures and the amount of taxes still unpaid," he told the Chicago Real Estate board at its monthly meeting, "I feel it is reasonable to believe that the tax situation of today with its disproportionate assessments against real estate is in a measure somewhat responsible for our present depressed condition.

"If we are convinced that the tax load on real estate is too heavy, that this burden is retarding building operations, is preventing the employment of workmen, and is seriously affecting the building industry, we must look for a solution."

I. C. C. Approves Leasing of Ballroom for Market

The Illinois commerce commission, meeting in Springfield, yesterday approved the leasing of the old Arcadia ballroom, Broadway and Wilson avenue, by the Chicago Rapid Transit company to Morris B. Okun, who will turn it into a market. The average annual rental of the building will be $9,400 and Okun estimated the remodeling cost at between $50,000 and $60,000.

TAX INJUNCTION PLEA IS BARRED FROM U.S. COURT

Judge Woodward Says He Lacks Jurisdiction.

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward refused yesterday to hear the plea of some 2,000 Cook county taxpayers for an injunction restraining the collection of their taxes for 1928 and 1929. The judge based his refusal on lack of jurisdiction. He dissolved a temporary injunction he had issued against County Treasurer McDonough pending hearing of the case.

Attorney Roy D. Keehn of counsel for the plaintiffs, who are headed by the American Mutual Liability Insurance company of Massachusetts, said that an appeal would be taken, probably within a week, to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Of all the taxpayers' suits pending in the Cook county financial tangle, the one before Judge Woodward was regarded with most apprehension by county officials, they admitted. Their apprehensions were based on the decision of Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter in Florida, ordering a complete reassessment in Palm Beach county.

Same Basis as Florida Case.

The same contention advanced in the Florida case was made in the proceedings before Judge Woodward —that by failure to assess huge amounts of personal property the assessment placed an inequitable tax burden on owners of real estate.

Judge Woodward himself directed counsel in the case to present arguments on his jurisdiction in the case. He upheld the contention of County Attorney Hayden N. Bell and counsel for various county officials that the federal court lacks jurisdiction because the plaintiffs failed to take advantage of their right of appeal to the County court and Illinois Supreme court against the allegedly inequitable assessments.

Sees Objections as Valid.

At the same time the federal judge indicated in his opinion that the tax objectors have valid objections, which he might have upheld had he consented to hear their case.

"The bill, it may be assumed, makes out a case of a violation of the constitution," the opinion stated. "Under the averments of the bill, if proved, it would seem that the taxes assessed against the plaintiff are grossly discriminatory and are excessive and that the plaintiff is entitled to some relief.

"But, in order that a federal court of equity may interfere, something more than illegality must be shown. There must be inadequacy of the remedy at law and special circumstances bringing the case under some special head of equity jurisdiction.

"Property Not Threatened."

"The bill in this case simply alleges that the taxes levied and extended are illegal and unconstitutional. The bill does not allege any facts of recognized equitable jurisdiction such as threatened cloud on title or multiplicity of suits. The property of the plaintiff is in no imminent danger. It cannot be attached, levied upon, or sold for taxes without a judgment of the County court.

"On application for judgment the county court has the jurisdiction and the power to adjudicate upon the justice of the tax, including the questions of due process of law and discrimination. The final act, under the law of Illinois, fixing the liability of plaintiff's property to taxation, has not been taken. The plaintiff has still a right to a hearing by the Illinois courts. What the plaintiff actually seeks in this case is that this court enjoin the county collector from taking the very step by which the plaintiff may be heard as to the justice of the tax.

"There is open to the plaintiff the opportunity of reviewing the assessments in the state court. Unless and until such remedy is exhausted, in the absence of some recognized equitable ground, there is no right to seek relief in a federal court of equity."

CUT LAND VALUATIONS

The first land valuations for the 1931 quadrennial assessment, approved yesterday by the board of assessors, were approximatey 25 per cent below the valuations set up during boom times in the 1928 reassessment. The assessors approved valuations for the six country town assessment districts of Arlington Heights, Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumberg, Palatine, and Hanover.

Attorney Silas Strawn, counsel for the Chicago Board of Trade, was asked yesterday by Peter B. Carey, vice president of the board, for an opinion on the legality of the assessors' action in assessing memberships on the board as personal property for a total of $10,850,000.

Joseph P. Griffin, former president of the board, said: "Board of Trade memberships are not personal property and have never been considered as such. They are a privilege, and I believe the courts has so decided."

Short on Pay Roll Funds.

Funds set aside in the 1930-'31 county budget for salaries of employes of the board of assessors have been exhausted and the board will be unable to meet its pay roll during the final month of the fiscal year, members of the board declared yesterday. In an effort to stave off a threatened closing of the office, the Chicago and Cook County Real Estate board yesterday asked the county board finance committee to reconsider its refusal to recommend a $115,000 appropriation for the assessors.

The county treasurer yesterday completed the sale of country town property delinquent on 1929 taxes and began work on parcels in Hyde Park, the first city town.

State Officials Will Be Quizzed on Gas Tax Evasion

Frank V Martinek, vice president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, chairman of Gov. Emmerson's committee investigating gasoline bootlegging in Illinois, announced yesterday that the committee would interrogate among other persons several officers of the state department of finance. Hearings will be held in Springfield on Oct. 13 and in Chicago on Oct. 20.

WOMAN LOSES 37 Pounds of Fat

Well Known Battle Creek Woman Jubilant—Reduced Hips Six Inches, Reduced Bust Four Inches—Feels So Light and Full of Pep!

Suppose you weighed 250 pounds, and every time you looked in a mirror you were so discouraged as you gazed upon a huge double chin, heavy arms and legs, large hips and bust.

And suppose this over-fat condition made you too heavy for your own feet—until you felt constantly all dragged out, stomach upset, gas pains that made you cry out with pain, and tremendous appetite.

And then you tried one thing after another—and you're all ready to give up in despair.

Such was the dilemma of Mrs. Elizabeth Barrett, 23 Barney St., Battle Creek, Mich. Her druggist recommended Bonkora to her, which he knew to be the one safe, natural way to take off excess poundage by cleansing wastes from the intestines and removing moisture from fatty tissues. But let her tell her story:

"Every meal brought acid belching, gas, and heaviness. With all this, my weight increased until I tipped the scales at 250 lbs. Relief seemed impossible until I tried Bonkora. It has corrected severe stomach distress and constipation, and made me feel like a new person—and when I had used five bottles I stepped on the scales and, behold, I had lost 37 pounds, and can now wear dresses four sizes smaller."

You may not want to lose 37 pounds. But if you have excess fat you can lose it in the famous "3 easy stages," as shown in this picture. For the next week, before meals, take a little Bonkora, the new Battle Creek treatment, in half a glass of water. No need to starve. Eat as much as you want. The big secret is selecting for each meal the proper combination of foods that do not clog the system and turn to fat. An almost endless choice of appealing dishes, showing you how to select the correct combination of foods you probably like best, furnished free.

Bonkora, the safe and effective method to reduce—recently perfected by a skilled chemist—contains only the choicest and most efficacious medicaments of Nature. NO thyroid or other drug that may jeopardize your health.

Simply get a bottle of Bonkora, the new Battle Creek treatment, with free list of anti-fat food combinations at Walgreen's today—unhealthy fat will quickly disappear and with it bloat, gas, and other stomach ills. You'll feel younger; yes, you'll look younger, with those bright eyes and that clear skin and stunning, youthful figure which only perfect health can impart.

OWNERS FIGHT COLLECTION OF $54,059,860 TAXES

Protest Levies on 132,018 Parcels of Realty.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The owners of 132,108 parcels of real estate in Cook county, according to the county records, have refused to pay their 1929 taxes, which were due May 15 last. These residents owe $54,059,860.42 for the support of local governments, according to aggregate assessments against their property.

The list of these realty owners does not include an even greater number who have failed to pay their taxes because of lack of cash. In this group are 244,616, but none has sought to obstruct collection by court order.

The owners of 132,018 parcels of realty are actively opposing the collection of their taxes. Technically each has a complaint. In the majority of these cases the property owner has filed an objection in the County court.

Attack Some Levies as Invalid.

These owners asserted that the more taxes for specific purposes are invalid, that there was an error in the tax extensions, the measurement of their buildings, the valuation of their properties, or they have made some other claim which on its face is a sufficient legal reason for a hearing on the contentions made.

In other cases property owners have appealed to the circuit court or other courts for injunctions against the taxes levied. They contend, generally speaking, that the entire tax levy is so inequitable, unfair and unjust as to be a violation of both the state and the state constitution.

To grant an individual hearing in each case, which the county board must assert each complainant has a right to if will take years, especially in the circuit court.

An effort is being made to group the cases, according to the nature of their contentions, and obtain a ruling on each group as to decisions. But certain objections filed three years ago are still pending, and there are thousands of cases filed two years ago which are still unheard. These are in addition to the thousands of objections which were filed in court last July against the 1929 taxes payable May 15 last.

County Collector Joseph B. McDonough has been advised that many of these cases are pending in court and he cannot attempt to force payment of the taxes; so the taxes objected to or enjoined are only being paid in trickling amounts—just as a few cases are decided weekly.

Large Properties Involved.

Some of the largest and most influential property owners of the county are among the objectors.

A glance through one volume of realty tax assessments, No. 417, disclosed a number of large property owners in the North Town—those immediately north of the Chicago river—who have not paid their 1929 taxes and are protected by court proceedings.

One of the largest is the Chicago Furniture Mart corporation on the Lake Shore drive. That property is listed under three items, which show the total tax valuation of the property as $3,416,389. The tax extended against all three items is $[illegible] and to each tax an objection has been filed in court.

Items No. 417 and 418 of the same tax volume show a tax extended against the St. Clair Building corporation of $484,543 and total taxes of $20,477.77. Two formal objections have been filed against these taxes.

Other Properties Listed.

Ben Cohen, 139 North Clark street, has a tax assessment against property valued at $36,437.16 on realty valued for tax purposes at $579,287. This tax is paid and is protected by court actions.

The Chicago Riding club, property of which is appraised for tax purposes at $304,640, has a total tax of $19,161.86. This, too, is protected by an objection filed in court.

The Medinah Athletic club, which Paul C. Loeber & Co. list as owner of tax records as agents, has property valued at $2,182,197, against which is an unpaid tax of $137,323.10. Objections have been filed.

This volume shows four parcels of real estate assessed against the estate of Robert P. Bass. The valuation of these is $895,130 and the unpaid taxes total $56,303.70.

Another item is charged to the Foreman Bros.' Banking corporation with Hedberg & Bistor as agents. Here the unpaid taxes are $[illegible]. An injunction prevents the collection of this assessment.

Shepherd Estate Protests.

The estate of Edward Shepherd, of which William P. Sidley and Howard are trustees, has property valued at $157,336 on which the unpaid taxes are $9,896.44. An objection has been filed in court against the assessment.

Against the name of H. [illegible] in this same volume is property valued at $217,875 on which the unpaid tax is $13,704.34. That has been the tax of record.

Two items, showing a total value of $290,076, are chalked up in the assessors' records against the Tewes Building corporation. The unpaid taxes amount to $18,245.79, protected by objection.

A realty holding in the name of the Chicago Title and Trust company, with Murray Wolbach as the agent, is valued at $151,349 and the unpaid tax as $9,519.48. This is protected by both injunction and objection.

Eastgate Hotel Tax.

The Eastgate Hotel company, which is credited with a property worth $172,804, has an unpaid tax of $10,869.38, protected by objection.

Another property, with an unpaid tax bill of $32,649.19, is valued in the tax books at $519,065, and the owner's name is given as J. V. Farwell.

M. F. Schlovomy, whose address shows in the records as 10 South La Salle street, has one property valued at $167,016 against which the unpaid tax is $10,505.27.

Two items against Murray Wolbach, 105 South Dearborn street, show property valued at $297,149, against which the unpaid taxes are $18,691. These taxes are protected by both injunction and objection.

C. A. and R. C. Cook, 161 East Erie street, have obtained injunctions against the collection of $8,117.75 in taxes against a valuation of $129,058.

Edwin J. Bowes Jr. also has obtained an injunction against $9,979.23 in taxes against a valuation of $158,653.

These relatively few cases were obtained from one volume of tax books. There are more than 500 volumes for the total county assessment.

5 DOOMED MEN IN JAIL SEE HOPE TO ESCAPE CHAIR

Five men in the county jail who are under sentence to die in the electric chair on Oct. 18 for murder all hope to escape death, Warden David Monypenny said yesterday.

One of the condemned men is Frank Jordan, bank robber, who slew police men Anthony Ruthy and Patrick Durkin when they cornered him. His attorney, George Bieber, announced that he would appeal the case today to the Supreme court at Springfield.

The cases of the others already have been appealed by Benjamin Bachrach, public defender. They are Frank Bell and Richard Sullivan, convicted of killing Christ Patras, North Clark street restaurant owner, during a holdup, and Charles Rocco and John Popescue, who pleaded guilty to stabbing and killing Courtney Merrill, banker, during a holdup at the rear of his home.

SHIFT 125 POLICE TO REORGANIZE DETECTIVE FORCE

Expert Arrives to Act as Adviser to Allman.

(Picture on back page.)

In an order issued by Police Commissioner Allman 125 policemen were shifted last night in a reorganization of the detective bureau. The action followed the arrival of Bruce Smith, police expert from New York, who is slated to become civilian adviser to the commissioner. Opposition developed yesterday to Smith's proposed appointment as deputy chief of detectives when Attorney Michael Ryan announced that he would ask an injunction in behalf of the Civil Service Protective association to keep the city from paying Smith's salary as a police official.

Lieutenants Are Transferred.

Lieuts. Maurice Byrne and James O'Brien, the famous team assigned to hunt pickpockets, were transferred from the bureau in last night's order. Four lieutenants credited with good work when formerly at the detective bureau were returned there at the request of Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker. They are John L. Sullivan of Albany Park, Joseph Ronan of Austin, Edward Kelly of Fillmore, and Albert Hoffman of Austin.

Lieut. Walter Storms, who was appointed deputy chief of detectives last week, only to have the order rescinded to leave a place open for Smith, was made a temporary lieutenant of detectives. Chief Schoemaker said that today Storms would be given the place of acting deputy chief. He will replace Lawrence Rafferty, who was reduced to his civil service rank of sergeant. Michael J. Woods, secretary to former Commissioner Russell, was reduced from lieutenant of detectives to sergeant.

Invited by Commission.

Mr. Smith, who made a survey of the Chicago police force several years ago at a cost of $33,000, had been invited here by the mayor's advisory commission. He said he would not accept the position of deputy chief, to which the Civil Service Protective association objected, but that he would help city officials to reorganize the department.

He said Chicago needed 16,000 policemen, but that he would not recommend any additions to the force at this time. He said he would undertake to put the present personnel into better condition to protect the city.

Gang Granted 20th Court Delay On Burglary Charges

Five men, described by Assistant State's Attorney Charles Bellows as "the worst burglary ring in Chicago," won their twentieth continuances yesterday when they appeared in the Criminal court on a burglary charge.

They are Hyman Lieberman of 1833 South Ridgeway avenue, Isadore Ottman of 1831 South Ridgeway avenue, Jack Sopkin of 1862 Komensky avenue, Max Geisler of 324 Willow street, and William Gold. They were captured in the act of looting the plant of the Star Cleaners and Dyers, 2417 North Western avenue.

Go from Court to Court.

Continuances were granted from time to time, and the cases were shunted from court to court. The cases of the defendants have been on the calendars of Judges Joseph B. David, Harry Fisher, Joseph Burke, and Joseph Sabath. Yesterday the cases were on the call of Judge John Prystalski. It was the twentieth time they had appeared on a court call. Their cases were continued for trial to Oct. 13.

On a previous occasion, May 12, when the defendants appeared before Judge Sabath, Assistant State's Attorney Bellows asserted: "This group of defendants comprises the worst burglary ring in Chicago. Every one of them has a record. They have threatened and intimidated the state's witnesses. If they are not tried at once they never will be tried. They have had numerous continuances."

Records Show Law's Delays.

Records of the Chicago crime commission show that the law's delays have applied to some of the defendants in other cases than that of the Star Cleaners and Dyers. Three of the men are under sentence and have kept out of the penitentiary by stays of mittimus. One of the trio has had seven such stays, and two of them have had four each, according to the crime commission. The record briefly of each man follows:

Lieberman—Served two months in the house of correction on a burglary charge. Acquitted of burglary and robbery in 1924 and 1929 and freed also in connection with the blowing of a safe in the office of John Sexton & Co. Suspected in the Wieboldt store robbery.

Ottman. Convicted last April for a loop store robbery. Has obtained seven stays of mittimus, the last of which expired on Tuesday and has not been renewed. No new papers for his committment have been issued.

Sopkin. Convicted in the Sexton case, in which Lieberman was acquitted. Has received four stays, the last on Oct. 2, at which time he was granted 40 more days for appeal. Served four months in the Bridewell for burglary. Once held on a charge of manslaughter. Now awaits trial for robbery.

Geisler. Convicted in Sexton case. Has obtained four stays. Previously indicted five times on charges of burglary or robbery, but acquitted twice, and freed three times for lack of prosecution.

Gold. Acquitted of burglary in 1922. On Dec. 2, 1925, forfeited bonds on a burglary charge.

All five defendants are represented by well known defense attorneys, W. W. Smith, Emanuel Eller, Simon Herr, Frank McDonnell, and Harold Levy.

Argentina Bars Nominee of Radicals for President

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The provisional government published a decree today declaring invalid the radical party's nominees for the presidency and vice presidency at the election on Nov. 8. Former President Alvear, candidate for the presidency, was declared ineligible under an article of the constitution which states that a full term must elapse before a former incumbent may run again. Adolfo Guemes, vice presidential nominee, was ruled out on the grounds he participated in a recent uprising against President Uriburu.

Lord Trenchard, Royal Air Chief, Heads London Police

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Lord Hugh Montague Trenchard, marshal of the royal air force since 1927 and a veteran of the world war, was appointed commissioner of the metropolitan police today. He succeeds Lord Byng of Vimy, who retired recently because of ill health.

MAYOR ASSAILS WARDEN; JAIL IS STRONG, HE SAYS

Brands Escape Stories as "Advertising."

Mayor Cermak asserted yesterday that the new county jail, constructed when he was president of the county board, was escape-proof; that recent attempted jail breaks were "just advertising" for Warden David Moneypenny, and that prisoners had no chance of getting outside the jail walls without connivance by the guards.

His statements brought prompt replies in defense of Warden Moneypenny from officials of the Criminal court and from the head of the citizens' committee, which first hired Moneypenny as assistant to the late Warden Edward Fogarty.

In the replies it was charged that the jail was not proof against escape; that the loophole through which the only men to escape from the new jail got away had never been stopped, in spite of reports to the county board; and that the semi-civil service system of choosing jail employés, set up five years ago by Warden Fogarty, had been wiped out by political appointments by Sheriff William D. Meyering and his predecessor, John E. Traeger.

Jail Escape-proof, Says Mayor.

"Prisoners can't possibly escape from the jail without connivance by the guards," the mayor said. "When a guard releases prisoners from their cells he stands in a locked inclosure and opens the cell doors by electricity. The prisoners enter a corridor and the guard opens a second door, blocking the corridor, by electricity.

"In the last escape the corridor door failed to close automatically, and the guard violated orders by leaving his inclosure to close it. When he left the cage he was a setup for the prisoners, who jumped him and overpowered him. But even then they had to get out of the jail, which has barred windows all around, and scale a fifteen foot wall to go free.

"I have suggested to Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court that, if conditions at the jail are so bad as Moneypenny seems to make out by his jail break stories, the chief justice had better have a grand jury investigate the jail."

Inspected by Grand Jury.

It was pointed out later that a grand jury did inspect the jail only last Saturday. It commended Warden Moneypenny in its report and recommended measures to care for overcrowding in the institution and to segregate condemned murderers and other dangerous prisoners from the rest of the inmates. At present the jail houses 1,406 prisoners in cells built to hold only 1,242.

Judge Fisher refused to comment on the situation, stating that it had not been called to his attention officially. Recently, however, he recommended to the county board that some manner of employment be found for prisoners in the jail, who now have 24 hours a day to plot escapes, if they are so inclined. He based his recommendation on his inspection of European prisons during the summer.

"Every one knows conditions in the jail," said another judge of the Criminal court. "It was through unbarred windows on the first floor that the six men, the only ones to escape from the new jail, made their way shortly after it was opened. The condition of those windows and the fact that some of the steel in the cells was not of the proper grade were reported to the county board, but nothing was ever done about it."

Changes in Personnel.

Pay roll records at the jail showed that since Sheriff Meyering took office 93 changes have been made in a personnel of 134. Aside from the warden only two employés remain of the staff selected by Warden Fogarty's system of examinations, the rest having been replaced by the present sheriff or by Sheriff Traeger.

Told of the mayor's criticism, Warden Moneypenny said:

"What can I do? I put in all my time trying to run this place efficiently, but I'm not a politician."

Judge John P. McGoorty, at whose suggestion a citizens' committee selected Warden Fogarty to run the jail five years ago, after a succession of scandals had occurred under politically appointed wardens, said that he regarded Warden Moneypenny as a competent official. The same was said by Frank D. Loomis, chairman of the citizens' committee. He said that the present warden ranked high in the examination which resulted in the appointment of Warden Fogarty, and received his appointment as Fogarty's assistant in consequence.

"Politics should not enter into the operation of the jail," Mr. Loomis said. "It should be run on a nonpartisan basis. It would be a shame again to go through the scandals of a few years ago."

DISMISS 2 COPS; ONE ACCUSED OF TAKING 50C BRIBE

Two policemen, one of whom was charged with taking a bribe of 50 cents, were dismissed from the police force yesterday by the civil service commission. The policemen were Bernard Waters of the traffic division and Bartholomew Gallagher of the Woodlawn station.

Waters, according to the testimony, asked Fred H. Cluff of Aurora for the price of a package of cigarets in return for not giving him a ticket for parking, on Wacker drive. When Cluff handed over a quarter the policeman said, according to the testimony, "Give me a half dollar anyway," which Cluff did. After Cluff made a complaint the policeman returned the money. Gallagher was charged with intoxication.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

No other car on the highway can give you PERFORMANCE like this

In fairness to himself, no man should attempt to select a fine motor car until he has driven a Cadillac V-16—for multi-cylinder performance has changed every single standard by which automobiles were judged in the past.

To compare the V-16 with any other car on the highway is obviously unfair—for the V-16 is an altogether different kind of automobile.

Yet, most people have never experienced anything beyond conventional fine-car performance, and cannot be expected to understand the V-16 except in terms of comparison.

To every fine-car owner in America, therefore, we say, quite frankly:

—if you have believed that other cars were smooth, you will have no words with which to describe the action of the Cadillac V-16.

—if you have believed that other motor cars were quiet, you will discover that quiet and silent are two completely different terms.

—if you have believed that other cars were responsive to the throttle, you'll wonder what to say about the Cadillac V-16.

—and, if you have believed that other cars were comfortable to ride in and easy to handle, you'll find the V-16 a revelation.

In fact, in all those things that make a car a pleasure to own and drive, you'll grant the Sixteen's leadership—we're absolutely sure.

CADILLAC V·16

There are more than thirty V-16 body types to select from—with special to-order creations to meet any conceivable preference.

All bodies for the V-16 chassis are designed and executed by Fleetwood—the world's foremost producer of custom coachcraft. Thus, no matter which body type you select, you are assured the fine custom craftsmanship and the carefully-chosen materials for which Fleetwood is world-renowned.

PROPOSE UNIFIED GOVERNMENT FOR COUNTY AND CITY

7 Aldermen Urge Plan to Save Millions.

BY HAL FOUST.

The city council received a proposal yesterday for the consolidation and reduction of the main functions of all local governments under a body which might be known as the Chicago Metropolitan council. Its territorial jurisdiction would consist of all of Cook county, all the submerged lands along the Lake Michigan shore between Wisconsin and Indiana, and such additional land within thirty miles of Chicago which might be added from time to time on referendum of the inhabitants.

The proposal was made by a council subcommittee of seven aldermen headed by John A. Massen [48th]. Its purpose is mainly to reduce the cost of local government. The seven are members of a committee on efficiency, organization and economy, and this was their preliminary report to the council.

Would Save $50,000,000.

"Experts whose conclusions are entitled to confidence," reads the report, "have estimated that the unification of all the local governmental agencies operating in Chicago and Cook county would reduce the cost of local government twenty per cent, or $50,000,000 a year."

"Furthermore, the metropolitan area, such as described, has problems which are not confined to the jurisdiction of any of its many political units, problems such as sanitation, traffic and crime prevention.

"Superhighways when built will affect the development of extensive areas and facilitate the movement of traffic tremendous in volume and wide spread in its origins and destinations. The development of a comprehensive system of traffic facilities is exceedingly difficult under conflicting jurisdictions. The situation presented can be adequately met only by a metropolitan treatment under a single authority which is regional in the extent of its jurisdiction."

The subcommittee foresees the expenditure of $750,000,000 on public improvements in this area within the near future, expenditures in which considerable economy could be effected through the coördination of local governments. These major projects are listed in the report: $250,000,000 for superhighways, grade separations and other traffic facilities; $225,000,000 for lake front development, park extensions and so forth; $100,000,000 for water filtration and supply; $80,000,000 to meet the requirements of the United States Supreme court in the Ohio level case; $50,000,000 for schools; and $10,000,000 for street lighting and traffic signals.

This consolidated metropolitan government would be ruled by a commission of five elected members, three of them residents of Chicago. The mayor of Chicago and the president of the Cook county board would be ex officio members.

The subcommittee recommends that the creation of this unified government should be included in Gov. Emerson's call for a special session of legislature this fall.

Urges Colossal Savings.

"Those legislative expedients currently proposed to relieve the fiscal emergency which confronts the local governments will afford no solution for it," reads the subcommittee report. "A reconstruction of the taxing and reviewing machinery will, at best, but expedite the imposition of taxes and insure a fairer distribution. A refunding of the taxes about to be assessed will not avoid their ultimate payment. An imposition of new varieties of taxes will, at most, only serve to enlarge the tax base and to accomplish a more equitable distribution of the tax burden.

"The enactment of measures such as these may be both necessary and desirable, but their enactment will leave this crucial fiscal problem untouched. Its solution can be accomplished only by colossal savings in the operations of local governments."

HOWLING MOB RIOTS IN MANCHESTER; USES PASSIVE RESISTANCE

MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Repulsed while storming the city hall today, a mob of unemployed demonstrators adopted the "passive resistance" tactics of Mahatma Gandhi's followers in India by sitting on their haunches in the street and refusing to budge.

Police changed their minds when they charged into the mob swinging the clubs, and after half an hour of rioting, during which 14 persons were injured and several were arrested, order was restored. Among the injured were five policemen, one of whom suffered a broken leg, a woman and eight demonstrators.

The riot started when police refused the mob permission to enter the city hall, where the council was in session. The jobless, breaking through the police cordon, swarmed toward the building throwing hammers, brickbats and stones at the bobbies. Firemen were called and turned streams of water on the screaming mob.

HUSBAND SAVED FROM SUICIDE BY ALIMONY CLAIM

Anton Kollman, 23 years old, 815 Otto street, was sued for divorce recently by his wife, Emily. Last night he left a note at the home of his cousin, Harry Hesotian, 1415 Otto street.

"I love my wife and can't stand living any longer without her," it read. "I'm going to end it all tonight at the church where we were married."

Shortly after night fall, Anton walked up the steps of St. Clement's Roman Catholic church, at Deming place and Orchard street. At the door two men seized him. One extracted a bottle of poison from Kollman's right pocket. They identified themselves as Deputy Sheriffs Mario Pallestrini and Harry Schulman.

"Who sent you here?" demanded Anton.

"Your wife," he was told. "She wants to see you."

"Did she get my note?"

"That's why we're here."

Kollman accompanied the deputies willingly and was locked in a cell at the Sheffield avenue police station.

"Say, when do I get to see my wife?" he demanded.

"In the morning," Pallestrini told him. "She and Judge Thomas Lynch want to know why you're behind in your temporary alimony payments."

PARLIAMENT IS SHUT; ELECTION CAMPAIGN IS ON

MacDonald Appeals for Sweeping Victory.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Parliament was dissolved today and the election campaign is on. Formal steps were taken this morning, when the king, at a meeting of the privy council, signed an order proroguing parliament until Oct. 27, and later in the evening, when he signed another proclamation dissolving it and setting the election on that date.

The last sitting of parliament was almost a farce. Only about 20 Labor members and 100 or so ministerialists were present when a summons came from the house of lords to hear the king's speech proroguing parliament. The king's speech was short and purely formal. It was read by Lord Sankey, lord chancellor.

MacDonald Opens Campaign.

The first shot in the election campaign was fired tonight by Prime Minister MacDonald in an appeal to the nation to face the crisis, pull together and "see the matter through until we have brought the country out beyond these cloudy days into clearer and more tranquil times."

Mr. MacDonald pointed out the impossibility of setting out detailed pledges of a set program. "The government must, therefore, be free to consider every proposal likely to help, such as tariffs, expansion of exports and the contraction of imports, commercial treaties and mutual economic arrangements with the dominions," he said.

The manifesto recalled the circumstances of the formation of the national government, and explained that world conditions and internal financial weakness had made it impossible to achieve its immediate object.

Later Mr. MacDonald broadcast an appeal to the nation over the radio. He asked the people to return the candidates of the national emergency government and warned that the danger of the economic crisis is not yet over. He said that failure to give the national government a mandate may result in financial panics in other countries, and "perhaps even revolution."

On Monday Mr. MacDonald will open his own campaign at Seaham, his old constituency, in which he is determined to fight and where he has hopes of winning. He denied tonight that he would also run for a safe seat in London to be sure of getting into parliament in case of defeat at Seaham.

Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of the New party, also issued a manifesto tonight on his party's election policy. The first list of the New party's candidates shows that eighteen constituencies will be fought. Whitechapel, in St. George's division, will be contested by Ted "Kid" Lewis, former boxing champion. Lady Cynthia Mosley, who has been a member of parliament for Stoke on Trent since 1929, will not contest the present election owing to ill health.

Lady Astor will contest the Sutton division of Plymouth for the sixth time since she entered British politics in 1919.

Labor Party Gloomy.

The Labor party conference at Scarborough ended today in a cloud of gloom. The party is without money and organization and it is shot to pieces by the desertions of Prime Minister MacDonald and J. H. Thomas, secretary of state for dominions and colonies and their followers.

A new development tonight was the formation of an organization of between 40 and 50 Labor members of parliament and candidates, who will support the prime minister.

It was announced today that Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, who announced some time ago that he would not run again for the house of commons, will take a peerage. He probably will become a viscount, as he has no children and this will be, in effect, a life peerage.

KING GEORGE APPEALS TO SUBJECTS TO HELP RESTORE PROSPERITY

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Following is the text of the speech by King George V. adjourning parliament:

"My lords and members of the house of commons:

"My relations with foreign powers continue friendly.

"In the last few weeks my people have been called upon to face a financial and economic crisis which continues to give cause for anxiety.

"Measures taken by my ministers, with the support of parliament, to meet this emergency involve sacrifices from every member of the community. I am confident that, as on former occasions in the history of the country, every citizen will coöperate to the utmost of his power in restoring prosperity to the nation.

"I have given my assent to measures necessary to balance the national budget.

"An act has been passed to amend the law relating to the gold standard.

"My assent also has been given to a measure to ensure the public against exploitation in regard to the supply or the price of certain articles of general consumption.

"In bidding you farewell I earnestly commend you to the merciful protection and guidance of Almighty God."

FIRESTONE TIRE OFFICE DAMAGED BY BOMB BLAST

Damage of $200 was done early this morning by a bomb explosion at the front door of the offices of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company at 1920 South Michigan avenue. Waldorf Mims, 4755 Calumet avenue, Negro watchman, was inside the building at the time and was shaken. C. F. Webster, 7028 Cregier avenue, office manager of the company, told South State street police he knew of no reasan for the attack, but suggested it might have been inspired because of the building of a new motor service and accessories station by the Firestone concern at 18th street and Wabash avenue.

A small bomb was exploded early this morning in the rear of the Atlas Cleaning and Dyeing plant at 2216-28 Belmont avenue. Damage amounted to $35. The company is owned by David Wolfe and James P. Gorman, president of the Painters' union. Wolfe told police that the concern had no troubles with any organization and said that the bombing was a mystery.

Preston to Die Tonight Unless He Is Reprieved

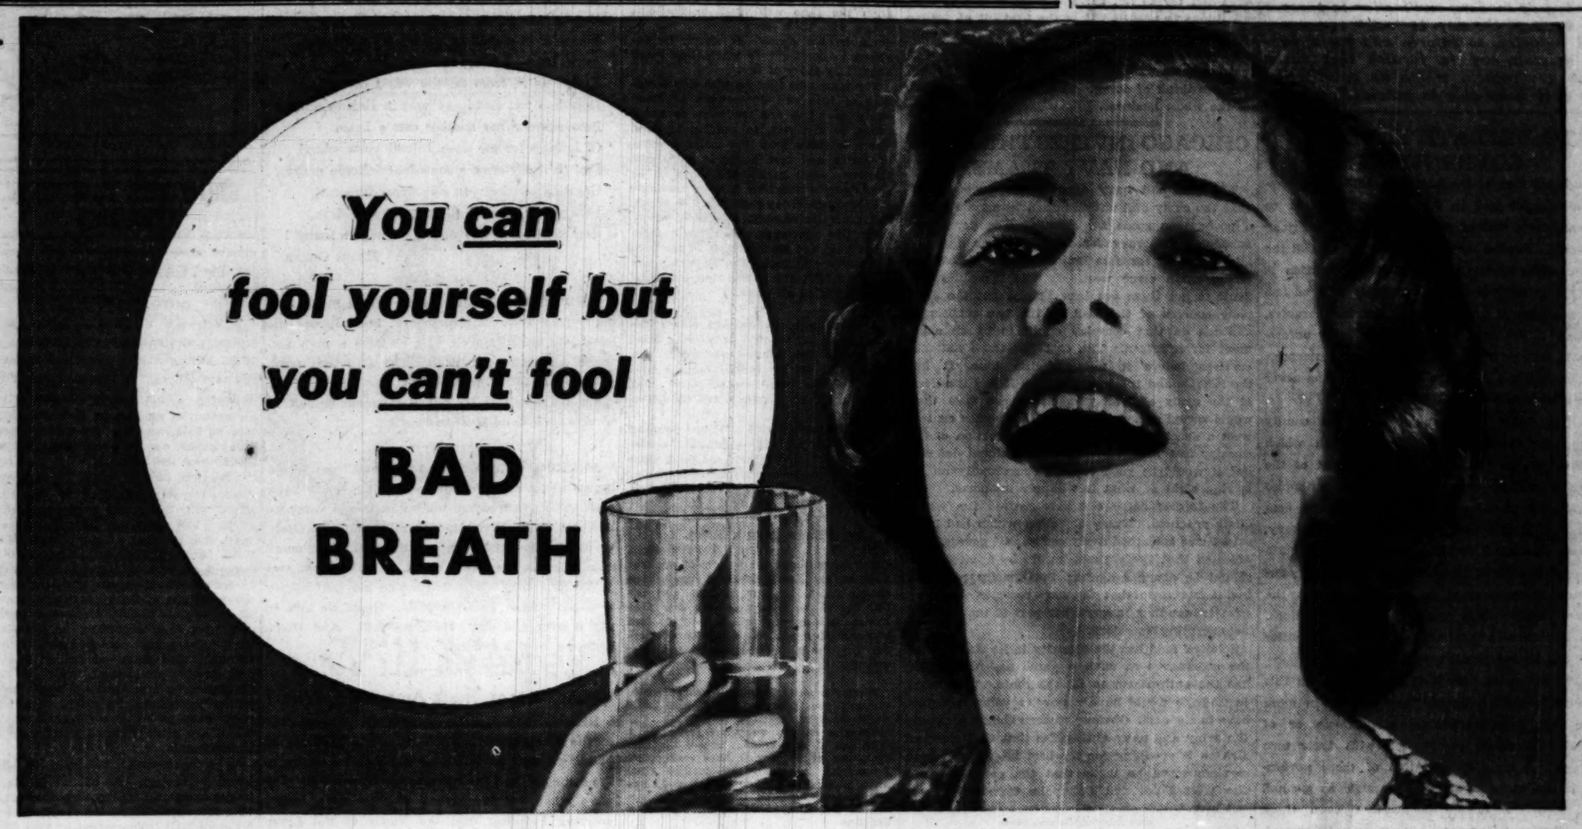
Barring a last minute reprieve by Gov. Emmerson, John Preston, convicted nearly two years ago for the slaying of Miss Agnes Johnston, a Chicago stenographer, will be electrocuted at midnight tonight at the state penitentiary in Joliet. The Illinois Supreme court Tuesday denied a rehearing of the case and approved the order of execution. His last hope is based on an appeal to the governor made by his sister. Preston was three times granted reprieves while the courts acted upon insanity pleas in his behalf.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE



What's the good of gargling if bad breath still stays bad?

We've made a breath taking discovery for taking away bad breath (halitosis*)

Don't waste dollars on antiseptics that must be used full strength. This new discovery, even when diluted with two parts of water, kills germs in 10 seconds

THREE people in four add water to their mouth wash. They don't know that most antiseptics lose germ-killing power unless used full strength. That's why we say: Stop fooling yourself with weak antiseptics.

If you want to check bad breath due to unhygienic mouth conditions, you must destroy the germs that cause it—especially those present in fermenting food particles, ordinary mouth irritations, coated tongue. Do not depend on covering up breath odors with the odor of a mouth wash.

A radical new antiseptic discovery

Modern research laboratories have thrown away the old ideas on killing germs.

Now there's a revolutionary antiseptic on the market—Pepsodent Antiseptic. Its formula is a radical advance. It climaxes the best antiseptic study of 50 years. A germ-killing agent is employed unlike those now in use. It makes Pepsodent Antiseptic from 3 to 11 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics, depending on which one you use.

Kills germs in 10 seconds

That is the startling news in this new discovery. Think! You can mix Pepsodent Antiseptic with one or even two parts of water, to suit your taste, and it still kills germs in less than 10 seconds. That's where most other leading mouth antiseptics fail. Yet in spite of all that power, Pepsodent Antiseptic is utterly safe when used full strength. What a weapon this new antiseptic is in the fight against bad breath.

COLDS, SORE THROATS

Pepsodent Antiseptic does double duty when fighting bad breath. For at the same time it combats colds and throat irritations. Remember P.A. is 3 to 11 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics . . . and it kills germs when diluted.

New security against bad breath (Halitosis*)

Bad breath checked 1 to 2 hours longer! That's Pepsodent Antiseptic's record in fighting this widespread social offense due to unhygienic mouth conditions. Immediately after use—95% of germs on mouth surfaces are destroyed. Two hours later the number of germs remains reduced by 75%. That is far longer acting than other leading mouth antiseptics. And please remember when you use Pepsodent Antiseptic for bad breath you are doing double duty by also fighting colds.

$3 worth for $1

To kill germs—most mouth antiseptics must be used full strength. So to mix them with water is a waste of time.

Pepsodent Antiseptic can be mixed with twice its own volume of water. That means every $1 bottle does what 3 bottles of other mouth antiseptics do. Goes 3 times as far—you get $3 worth for $1 . . . a saving of $2.

Checking bad breath and combating colds are only two uses for this remarkable antiseptic. There are scores of other uses. Some are listed on this page. Learn to rely on Pepsodent Antiseptic whenever a safe, effective germ-killing agent is required. Keep it in the home. Take it with you traveling.

Again we say: Quit being good to germs. They've laughed at you long enough. Play safe. Buy an antiseptic that really kills germs when diluted. Remember: You can fool yourself but you can't fool bad breath.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

TO DEFLATE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

Business men of the Sixteenth Illinois congressional district met in Peoria Tuesday night to organize as a unit of the Federation of American Business. Similar meetings will be held in all the larger cities of the country. The federation is being organized to oppose the extensions of federal government which are changing its character, making it an unforeseen, and virtually unforeseeable, authority over private life and enterprise and producing a state the like of which has never been deliberately consented to.

B. W. Snow, chairman of the Cook county Republican committee, made the speech which revealed to the business men the extent of the changes which have actually revolutionized government purpose and method and the consequences of this undercover revolution. Briefly, Mr. Snow showed that taxes have increased 325 per cent in sixteen years, due to the new undertakings of government in compliance with the various urges which have extended its actions. The bureaucracy necessary for these activities now has 500,000 public servants.

"Federal, state, and local governments in this country," said Mr. Snow, "are engaged in more than eighty separate lines of business or of industry in direct competition with their own citizens. A mere enumeration of these governmental activities is startling because so gradual has been the encroachment that even those visibly affected may not realize what has occurred. The taxpayer pays for the material used, foots the pay roll and furnishes the capital for the government work, and, therefore, the man whose business is being invaded is taxed to pay the cost of the competition that seeks to put him out of business."

The change in the methods and objects of the federal government has been made without an agreement as to the general principles involved. Although the result makes a new pattern, that was not seen in advance; nor was consent obtained that new general doctrines of government should be adopted. Each innovation, apparently, has stood by itself and has been related to some special object or accomplishment held at the time to be desirable.

It is reasonable to believe that if the principles involved had been submitted to a constitutional convention they could not have been adopted. And even if the delegates to the convention by some chance had represented a radical minority in the country it is improbable that a constitution delegating these new powers to the central government would have been accepted by the necessary number of states.

In the constitutional process all the apprehensions of the American people would have been aroused under debate and their regard for their original principles would have held them back from such revolutionary changes and experiments. But what could not have been done deliberately and upon full consideration of all the meanings and portents has been done by gradual approach, by yielding to this expediency or that moral consideration, to this humanitarian idea, that economic device, or some idea of social perfectibility.

Thus an utterly strange form of federal government has been developed with the promise of still more sweeping alterations of principle and procedure if not definitely opposed and checked. It would be one thing if the American people in a constitutional assembly and by the approving votes of their states sought to make a revolutionary change in their federal system. Then if they made mistakes they would do so upon consideration of the whole thing to be done and of its expectable consequences. In the manner in which the makeover has been attempted it has been difficult for citizens to see the form changing before their eyes.

Nearly every departure from standards and intended purpose has had its special organization behind it; a collection of states as in the case of Boulder dam, an aggregation of zealots as in the eighteenth amendment, special interests as in the farm board and the shipping board, semi-communists as in the proposal for the manufacture of electric power, etc. These minorities have had an easy time of it because they have hit weak opposition.

It is about time, if the old form of federal union is to be saved, that the citizens concerned form themselves into such an organization as the Federation of American Business to challenge innovations for their real meaning.

THE UNPAID TEACHERS.

Joseph P. Savage, trustee of the board of education, is trying by meeting the unpaid teachers face to face in a number of assemblages to persuade them that the best of all school boards will do something about their pay. The teachers are derisive, but Mr. Savage is game and possibly he can't be blamed for trying the soft answer in place of hard cash.

The teachers are derisive and it wouldn't be astonishing if they were anarchistic. They haven't been paid since spring. They have gone through the summer and have opened up the schools again on nothing minus, including the cheer checks. The only thing visible is Mr. Savage in person and talking. The teachers can't get many groceries on him and after one of his meetings the rent is just as big as it was before.

The whole rotten structure of what was endured in this city for years as local government has come down on the essential services of the community and none is harder hit than the teaching force. It's going to be something to remember with shame that this city left its school employés penniless and had to ask them to carry on the work of the schools without enabling them to get the necessities of life.

The old board members are shameless or they would do the only thing which could commend them. They would resign. They were a part of the rotten structure of government. Their conduct before the big collapse was notorious and scandalous. They made the educational system of Chicago a byword for official absurdities and administrative indecencies. The first thing which common sense would ask in this situation is clearance of the old crowd. No one can have any confidence in it. It deserves none.

It would be a most thankless task for responsible new members to take over this mess of broken eggs and try to get salvage from it, but that of all things is needed. It is the first bit of justice which could be done the teachers. It is the only reparation the old board could make to the city now. Apparently it is the last thing the old trustees think of doing. That is the darkest part of the whole business.

CHICAGO INVITES THE ARMY AND NAVY TEAMS.

The war and navy departments have agreed that the army and navy football teams shall play a post-season game for charity. The game was scheduled yesterday for New York on Dec. 12. However, Congressman Britten has asked that the teams again come west. It was incredibly difficult to get them out here before, but the complete success of the visit of the two schools to Chicago on that occasion ought to be an argument for a return. The east has these national services before it most of the time. It has the schools and much of the time it has the fleet. If the army and navy officials were wise they would accept every opportunity to give the central west a spectacle. The core of this section of the country is thoroughly sound on national defense, but it would be good to give occasionally an inspiring sight of what it willingly supports.

The former game out here proved the whole affair practical. Every objection which had been raised was smoothed away easily. Of course, it is objected that the expense would be greater than should be charged against the charity proceeds, but it is certain that the gate receipts would be greater here than in any other part of the country, not excepting New York.

Soldiers' field has the capacity in its stadium for the attendance at such a game and the region has the enthusiasm to fill the seats. The game in Chicago would have a novelty value it cannot have in the east. Obvious reasons should persuade the army and navy authorities that Congressman Britten is speaking for the best interests of both services when he urges that the game between the West Point and Annapolis teams be played out here.

THE CORRUPTING DOLE.

Liberal opinion seems to hold that any budgetary reform which touches the British dole is self-evident as a piece of Tory wickedness impairing sound public policy. The dole may be a desperate expedient, but instead of being good public policy based on desirable principles it is in essence a public immorality, ruinous alike to every one concerned, to the person who lives on taxation without work and the person who pays taxes without the expectation of a return in public service. The dole is dishonest. It represents a grafted subsistence, a policy of pauperization and sturdy irresponsibility encouraged by the state to the detriment of public welfare.

Something of the sort may be forced upon a state by a public disaster or a temporary necessity, but when a dole has been accepted into the government structure as a durable part of it the state which suffers it has written ruin into its future. Almost any other remedy which the state could apply to the care of the needy, the unemployed and the helpless would be more honest and of better consequence than the fixing of the idea that an equivalent of wages may be obtained without service from the public funds. That is an insufferable fraud which a nation cannot survive.

Editorial of the Day

THE DEMOCRACY OF GOLF.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

If the the Harvard professor who told the Williamstown Institute of Politics last summer that public opinion is a myth is by any chance a golfer, he is now intoning "Peccavi" or "Mea culpa," or whatever it is a Harvard professor intones when he splashes into the error column. For golf has just given a striking demonstration of the power of public opinion when autocracy attempts to jam one of its pet whims down the throat of the multitude. That new golf ball arbitrarily chosen by the governing board of the United States Golf association as the official missile has been repudiated by the grand army of duffers, and the verdict has prevailed. On April 15, 1932, the balloon ball, as it was called, will forever cease its erratic, malicious, soul searing trajectories. The ball that will be teed up on that liberating date will bring back to our well cursed courses the joy and satisfaction and occasional glints of triumph of happy yesterday. The ball to be may even do more. Its specifications at least warrant that hope. If correctly informed it will retain the circumference of the balloon ball while toting the weight of the old ball which no gale that ever blew could divert from its path. Fairer days along the fairways may confidently be predicted, and that, we submit, is a pleasing prospect. But the point is that the lowly mob is the final arbiter. In golf the majority rules when it asserts itself, even as it might in weightier affairs, assuming, of course, that there are weightier affairs than golf. Vox populi vox Dei goes unchallenged and vox dufferorum carries the same authority. We felt all along that events would sooner or later take that Harvard professor for a ride, and they have.

ANOTHER SOMEWHAT NEW DISEASE.

ANEMIA is a well known disorder. In fact, most people know that there are several kinds of anemia such as pernicious anemia, treated by liver and tripe; chlorosis, caused by wearing tight corsets, and secondary anemia, cured by iron, eggs and spinach. A great many people know that we can have too little blood or blood that is poor in quality. Few people know that there is a rather definite disease that is characterized by too much blood. This disease is called polycythemia vera, or Vaquez-Osler disease. Vaquez described it forty years ago, and Osler gave it his stamp of approval ten years later.

The outstanding symptom is floridness of face of the people who have it. We say "they look like the blood will pop out of the face." When they exert themselves their lips turn blue. In fact, that blue tendency can be noted in the skin generally. This feature has caused some one to say that they had a color which readily changed from "cherry to plum" —from bright red to bluish red.

It runs in families. As a rule, the general family type will be florid and full blooded and, occasionally, a member for some unknown reason will pass over from the near well level to the sick plane, and from then onward will go down to his doom. It generally develops in florid people when they reach about fifty years of age.

The symptoms that go with this floridness of face and appearance of blood ready to burst are tendency to headaches, to dizziness, to roaring in ears. There is more than the usual amount of hands and feet going to sleep and tingling. Such people are likely to be poor sleepers and they tend to manifest emotionalism. They are subject to minor, and generally passing, attacks of something like apoplexy, which result from small clots and hemorrhages in the central nervous system. The physician has no great difficulty in knowing the trouble if he is at all alert.

A laboratory examination shows the blood to be far too rich in coloring matter, and in both red and white cells. An examination of the retina shows a condition of the blood vessels there that cannot easily be mistaken, and the spleen may be enlarged.

Given a person with a "blood popping out" face, if a blood examination shows much more than 5 million red cells, 8,000 white cells and 100 per cent hemoglobin, nothing more is needed to establish what is wrong.

YEAST AND CORNS.

Mrs. G. H. P. writes: I have about cured the corns on the bottom of my feet with eating yeast cakes. I have been eating yeast for four months and my feet are 75 per cent well. Another four months and my feet will be entirely free of corns, I feel sure. Yeast is wonderful for the skin and has helped me greatly.

REPLY.

What you write is likely to make people discredit you, and I think I had better hasten to your rescue.

Yeast is rich in vitamin B complex. A deficiency of this vitamin causes the skin symptoms of pellagra. I have seen people rejuvenated temporarily by ductless gland preparations on whom all calluses and corns disappeared. For the time the skin was smooth like that of an infant. This is a life line.

BITTER ALOES AND WHISKY.

Mrs. D. E. P. writes: In my experience, a dose of aloes taken twice daily for about a week will cure pin worms. I put five cents' worth of bitter aloes in one half pint of whisky. Of this, I take one teaspoonful night and morning.

REPLY.

You are using an irregular dose of tincture of aloes. "Five cents' worth" is not a standard amount. And then, whisky is illegal, irregular, expensive, and dangerous. Why not buy the standard tincture which all druggists sell?

CAN TAKE JUDGMENT.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I have a piece of property under contract of $50 per month, also have a mortgage on same which holder of mortgage refuses to renew. I have a steady position with a railway company. We are not in a position to borrow funds to go on with the transaction. Can my position be interfered with in any way? 2. How long have we the right to live in premises after foreclosure? L. H. G.

1. Yes. They can take judgment or a deficiency decree against you and follow it up with garnishment.

2. Some judges would permit you to stay in during the 15 months allowed for redemption and others might put in a receiver at once.

NAME NOT YET REACHED.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—[Friend of the People.]—In January I filed an application for the position of patrolman. I have heard nothing from it since. Can you please inform me how far the examinations have progressed and what does the examination consist of? H. J. R.

Applicants for the examination for patrolman are being called for the physical examination in alphabetical order. We are at present working on the letter "M," and if the writer is within the age limits for this examination, viz., 21 to 28 years, he will be notified when his name is reached.

SALE OF PROPERTY.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Some years ago I inherited a fourth interest in some property outside of the United States [Canada]. I have been married since, but have not been living with my wife for some time. 1. Can said property be sold without my wife's signature? 2. If property is sold can she claim any part of my share? 3. Would she have to sue me for her share which she claims is half of mine? A. B.

1. Her signature will probably be necessary. You do not state in what Canadian province the property lies.

2. See No. 1.

3. If she has a share, presumably you could not put through the sale without her joining in the deed.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

COLUMN CONDUCTING and funny paragraphing went to a new low yesterday, just as they so often do on the stock exchange. That wasn't because of profit taking or short selling, either. It's because they seem to be able to get along down in Washington without calling congress together at all. Which may be all for the best or it may not, but what we're talking about is how the column conducting business goes into a slump when it doesn't get a chance to take a crack at congress. About all the goods on the col. con.'s shelf have gone down like everything in this depression. Take peewee golf, for instance. There was one of the best sellers the col. con. and the newspaper paragrapher had. It could be used every day or so, and as long as anybody played the thing it could be dished up every morning and the customers would yell for more. But jumping on peewee golf now is like taking stick candy away from a small child. But there was always congress to fall back on. If everything else ran dry the paragrapher could just mention something congress had or hadn't done the day before and the customers would just die laffin. Congress was reckoned on as a sure fire joke like mothers-in-law, goats, the prince of Wales falling off his horse, and Jim Ham Lewis' whiskers. But now if they're going to do things down at Washington without congress and let those fellows stay back in the woods and prairies where they come from it's going to be hard on column conductors and paragraphers. They're certainly headed right for the front ranks of the bread line.

ACROSTIC.

Excuse me, dear, but here I am again,
Depending on you for my central theme;
Whene'er in stumbling verse I try a dream,
Awry I go—unless you move my pen,
Rather as if, from all the world of men,
Detached you stand—at least in Helen's scheme;
Beloved—nor has another cast a beam
Of interest for me since I don't know when!
Lest this may seem a somewhat fulsome praise,
Granting you feel you may depend upon it,
Ease your ego—and, through all your days,
Remember you're two short to make a sonnet!

ANYHOW we love to read the news from Washington about the five hundred million dollar bank pool. The five hundred million dollars is what we like best of all. Five hundred million dollars! Gosh, we didn't know there was anything like that much money left in the whole world. And with the two dollars and fifty cents that we've got that makes a world total of $500,000,002.50. Gosh! we love to say it over and over, $500,000,002.50. And that's counting what we've got.

Queer Persons, These Americans, What?

RHL: A group of English architects were over in the states studying the American methods of building construction. They expressed a desire to see some of the modernistic type homes. So they were taken out to a group of them, and, before entering the first one, the leader of the group announced that this was a house "without a single flaw." The Englishmen held a hurried consultation and finally one of them came over to the American architect and asked, "My word, what do the inhabitants walk upon?" J. D. N.

THE TAMMANY SHERIFF in New York explains that his club was packing toys for the little children's May party when the rude police broke in, and raided 'em for gambling. Well, anyhow, the fact that the sheriff gives an explanation at all is a sign of progress in New York. Usually, if a Tammany club is raided, which hardly ever happens, they tell the police to go and wash their dirty faces and keep theil outten there. And the police fall over backwards in their haste to get away. Yessir, New York is certainly getting on.

YOU DON'T NEED STATISTICS to tell you how the American tourist trade has fallen off in Paris. France reports a falling off of wine consumption of forty million gallons of wine this year compared with last. Counting ten gallons to the tourist, you can figure out how many tourists France lost this year. Oh, no, some tourists drink a lot more than that.

A CREED FOR CRITICS.

A photograph is accurate;
The camera cannot lie.
It cannot even soften down
The features we decry.

But in a painting we may use
Discretion that is kind;
Lines can be blurred, and beauty drawn
That casual eyes can't find.

A brush can picture us the way
That we would like to be.
How pleasant if our friends would all
Employ such artistry.

ONE MORAL of the Al Capone trial seems to be that the wages of sin is a stretch in a federal jail unless the government gets its share of the said w. of s. in the shape of income taxes.

—:—

AT LAST WE THE PEOPLE are taking more interest in our government. The five hundred million dollar prosperity plan got four or five columns in the newspapers yesterday, while the Al Capone trial got as many pages, but, anyhow, the prosperity plan got almost as much space on the front page as the Athletics-Cardinal baseball game got.

WE CAN'T DEPEND MUCH ON THE REST OF THE TEAM—LET'S GET HIM AT THE HOME PLATE

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 8, 1915.

NISH.—An airplane coming from Bulgaria dropped numerous bombs on Nish, killing five persons and wounding two others. It returned safely to Bulgaria. [This report of Bulgarian air activities against its neighbor, Serbia, is, if authentic, the first aggressive move as between the Balkan states and the south.]

LONDON.—The long threatened Austro-German offensive in the Balkans, with the added menace of Bulgaria, has begun. Simultaneously with the rupture of diplomatic relations between Sofia and the entente powers an Austro-German army estimated at 400,000 men, with an enormous weight of heavy artillery, started to attack Serbia from the north and west and, according to the Berlin official report, crossed the Drina, Danube, and Save at many points and firmly established itself on the Serbian side. The Anglo-French troops which landed at Saloniki, with the tacit consent of the Greek government, are being hurried northward to assist Serbia.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson hurried through his official business today to attend to matters connected with his approaching marriage to Mrs. Norman Galt. Tomorrow he and Mrs. Galt will go to New York for a dinner and theater party to be given by Col. and Mrs. E. M. House. No disclosure was made as to the date of the marriage.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 8, 1901.

CHICAGO.—Free passes will go out of fashion on all the railroads in the United States on and after Jan. 1, 1902. The complete abolition of the time honored custom of giving transportation for nothing was decided upon by a subcommittee representing all of the railroads in the Trunk-Line association, the Central Traffic association and the Western Passenger association. No exceptions are to be made.

CHICAGO.—Robert E. Burke resigned as city oil inspector. The resignation was accepted at once by Mayor Harrison. An agreement was reached between the mayor and Burke that the latter at once should pay the city as much more money, in addition to the $30,000 already paid, as may be found necessary to make up his full shortage. The amount is estimated at $67,000. The agreement further provides that if the courts decide the ordinance making Burke's office a salaried one is valid the money shall remain with the city, but if the ordinance is invalid Burke gets the money. Burke gave a $25,000 bond in the Criminal court on the two indictments charging him with embezzlement.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 8, 1881.

SYCAMORE, Ill.—The charges preferred before the Methodist conference by the Rev. Dr. Thomas against the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst of willful and malicious lying and slander were referred to a committee composed of Brothers W. F. Stewart, H. M. Springer, D. C. Clark, James Baume, and J. M. Caldwell and the committee has decided to investigate the charges fully. Dr. Thomas' case has caused general excitement in the conference. The ecclesiastical court resumed its labors of sifting the heresy charges against Dr. Thomas and Dr. Thomas' testimony before the court of inquiry was read.

CHICAGO. — (Advertisement.) — Grommes & Ullrich, wholesale dealers in wines, liquors, and cigars, offer bargains from their latest importations, including Ramsay Scotch whisky, Lorne Highland Scotch, London Dock Jamaica rum, John De Kuyper gin, Hennessey & Co. brandies, and Manuel Misa sherries. On their whisky list are the following offerings: Bond & Lillard, E. H. Taylor Jr., W. H. McBrayer, T. J. Van Dyke, H. C. Elliot, Rock Spring, T. B. Ripy, Old Style G. & U., R. B. Hayden, Hermitage, and Horsey's Maryland rye.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

A NEW USE FOR THE ELEVATED.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—As everybody is submitting plans to end the depression, here is mine:

Build a subway exactly under the elevated structure. Convert the elevated structure into a highway for automobiles only—no trucks. Fill in the structure like from Wilson avenue to Evanston. Garages may be built under, where the structure does not interfere, for renting to nearby property owners.

This would do away with the shamefully filthy dumping ground now existing under the structure almost throughout its system.

Knock down the loop structure and three or four blocks away from the loop and picture the beauty of the city. The highway slopes may begin there, a little way from the loop, extending to all our neighborhoods and suburbs, as far as the L now reaches.

This goes for New York, too, and every other unfortunate city on which these nerve wrecking, filth gathering, unsightly, awful nightmares of L structures have been wished. J. C.

THE WAGE REDUCTION.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The confidence of the American people in the integrity and sincerity of our industrial leaders has been soundly shaken by this last flurry of wage cuts. On what basis can this action be justified? During the period from 1927 to 1930, inclusive, U. S. Steel earned $12.90 per share on the common stock. The excuse was given that capital must assume the risks of business as a reason for not increasing dividends. Hence, a huge surplus was built up. The risk has come, but is capital willing to assume it? No, labor must pay through the meanest, most unjustified wage reduction.

How on earth are we going to use up our surplus goods, products of overproduction, by constantly decreasing the purchasing power of consumers? Every wage reduction brings us one step nearer socialism. Near sighted capitalism is fostering its own downfall. Why not have a display of courage and sincerity on the part of our leaders instead of this cowardly retreat?

A CHURCH WHICH WELCOMES CHILDREN.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—I was intrigued by the letter appearing today in the Voice of the People telling of a young couple's experience in an aristocratic church when they tried to take their child with them to church. That may be true of some churches, but certainly not all.

On behalf of New England Congregational church, one of the oldest in the city, occupying the same site at North Dearborn street and West Delaware place since 1865, in a building that still shows the marks of the Chicago fire, I want to say that any family in the city is welcome to any services. Children are no bugaboo in this church, and the minister is not disturbed if a youngster rattles a paper or makes a cry.

Let me add that in this church is the baptismal font which the Pilgrims used in England before they came to America in 1620—the font dates back before Columbus discovered America—and any mother in the city is welcome to have her baby baptized from this font.

EDWARD P. STORRS,
Clerk of New England Church.

THE STATE OF MR. PEGLER'S HEALTH.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—I read in the Voice of the People in yesterday's Tribune a letter which condemned Westbrook Pegler for so severely criticising the White Sox. During all the years that I have read articles by Pegler, and I can assure you that I have read him for many years, I have seen only one article that gave praise to anybody. The one I refer to appeared recently in regard to Connie Mack.

Why a progressive paper such as The Tribune continues to publish articles by so hard-bitten a cynic as Pegler is not quite understandable. Does this man Pegler have diabetes or indigestion or piles, or is it simply a misguided sense of superiority that makes him belittle every worthwhile effort in the world of sport? He has attempted to pooh-pooh every athlete of note from Willie Hoppe's time until the present day.

FRED M. FROEHR.

SOLDIERS' FIELD.

Waukegan, Ill., Sept. 26.—I am surprised to see in Voice of the People a criticism of The Tribune for saying "Soldiers' field." Of course, The Tribune is right. It is always right. It would be right if it said "Navy's pier," "Grant's park," "Washington's park," "Tribune's tower," etc. And, of course, it is right when such expressions as "whom was," "whom did," "different than," "in contrast to," "buses," "if I was," "more as," "twice as many days," and many other barbarisms appear daily in its columns. That is, they would be considered barbarisms anywhere else, but The Tribune is always right and the dictionaries, grammars, and teachers of English are all wrong. E. M. G.

THE UNITED STATES OF THE FUTURE.

Pelham, N. Y., Oct. 3.—I have read with greatest interest your splendid editorial, "The United States of the Future." I think that your word of warning should be followed up by you. If we all are aware of where we are headed, we should be able to paddle our canoe away from the brink.

Incidentally, would it not be well to steer The Tribune program in the direction suggested by your editorial, dropping the idea of finishing the waterway to the gulf and cut out the great waste of money in building highways to compete with the public waterways and the railroads?

The more competition there is for carriage of freight and passengers, the greater will be the aggregate bill for the carriers' upkeep and operation.

SHE KNOWS HER BOY.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—There are plenty who laugh when they read in the papers how much money is saved the taxpayers now that so many children pass. My boy has never amounted to much as a brilliant student, but he came home one day and said, "Gee, ma, I skipped a whole grade." I thought he was joking and that he had been put down. But no. Not only my boy but every nine pupil in his class had been promoted a whole grade. Of course, so many double promotions make a fine report for the public. But we aren't all fooled. MRS. B.

INDIA FACTIONS CAN'T AGREE; MAY END CONFERENCE

Gandhi Admits Failure After Long Session.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 8 [Thursday].—Hindus, Moslems, and Sikhs at last agreed at 12:30 o'clock this morning that they could not agree. After sitting at St. James' palace all day, conversations between the quarreling groups broke up without any agreement on the question of how the various religious groups might coöperate to govern an independent India.

"We failed to arrive at any agreement," Mahatma Gandhi announced officially as he made his way out into the drizzling night to be driven out of sight to the east end. "I will report to the prime minister today our inability to come to any conclusion."

"Does that mean the round table conference breaks up?" he was asked.

"The future is in the hands of God," the mahatma replied and hurried home to his spinning. He said he would make a statement later.

Breakup Unexpected.

The breakup of the Hindu-Moslem-Sikh negotiations, which may spell the end of the round table conference, came unexpectedly. Gandhi had devised a formula referring the whole communal question to an arbitration board of Indians the findings of which would be accepted by all sides.

The Moslems, who were holding out against arbitration, finally agreed to accept this formula, and the meeting reassumed shortly before midnight to find all the rest of the night if necessary.

Hindus and Sikhs Balk.

Then the extremist Hindus and Sikhs balked. They wanted to change Gandhi's formula. After fruitless arguments Gandhi called a halt, and the warring factions then agreed to agree that agreemnt was impossible.

Gandhi said he would make no decision about participation in or withdrawal from the round table conference until he has conferred with Prime Minister MacDonald today.

Wife Seeks to Divorce Attorney; Charges Cruelty

Clifford R. Edmister, a member of the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin, yesterday was charged with cruelty in a bill for divorce filed in the Superior court by his wife, Mrs. Anna Matsen Edmister, 311 North Humphrey avenue, Oak Park. The bill, drawn by Attorney Robert Cantwell Jr., charges that Edmister struck his wife on several occasions. On April 16, it recites, he left his wife declaring, "I am through," after a quarrel at their home. Mrs. Edmister asserts that her husband's income amounts to $15,000 a year. They were married, according to the bill, in May, 1924.

DIVORCES GOLFER, THEN FINDS SHE'S WED TO ANOTHER

Mrs. Ida Truppo, 5149 South Kedzie avenue, divorced one golf addict, only to discover that she had married another, she told Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday in the Superior court. Furthermore, she charged, when her second husband met her first, they discovered their mutual hobby, and husband No. 2 invited husband No. 1 to come and live with them, which he did.

She appeared to ask temporary allimony following the filing of a bill for divorce by her second husband, James Truppo, who charges her with living under the same roof with her former mate, Joseph McNellis. Despite the statement in the bill, she charged, since Truppo left home Sept. 14 and filed his suit, he and McNellis have met for their golf game every Friday and Saturday.

"But whether he was at home or whether he wasn't," she said of Truppo, "it didn't make any difference to me. When he was around the house, he and Joe ignored me and spent their time talking about golf."

Judge Sabath granted the motion of her attorney, Victor Frohlich, for $35 a week temporary alimony.

AIMEE AND NEW SPOUSE GREETED AT DEPOT HERE

Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton and her husband David [What-a-Baritone] Hutton, passed through Chicago yesterday morning en route to Boston, where they will preach and sing at an eleven day revival meeting. The couple chorused, "We've been married three weeks and four days."

Sister Aimee was greeted by a large delegation of the faithful at their arrival on the Golden State limited, and she held an impromptu revival meeting from the stairs of the Pullman, speaking on "As a Bride Attired." She wore an ermine coat with a fox collar, an Empress Eugenie bonnet and a black satin dress and pumps. They left an hour later on the Fifth Avenue Special.

"David was the voice of God in our Biblical play, Moses, and when I heard him handing down the ten commandments it simply knocked me for a row," she said in describing their sudden courtship and elopment by plane to be married. Hutton remarked he used to know a couple of girls in Chicago and she replied, "You don't mean to tell me!"

TWO GANGSTERS BOUND, SLAIN AND SEWED IN SACKS

Underworld Vengeance Is Thought Motive.

New York, Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Murdered after they had been bound and manacled so tightly as to render them helpless, the bodies of two men, believed to have offended rivals in the underworld, were found today sewed in sacks in a parked sedan in Sixty-sixth street, Brooklyn.

The victims were William Price, former associate of Vannie Higgins, Brooklyn rum runner, and Philip Flanagan, known otherwise as "Skip" or "Boob," listed in the police records as an automobile thief.

Just what inspired their murder cannot be determined until after further investigation, detectives said. There were indications, however, that Price, believed to own a rum boat or two of his own, had recently embarked on a lone wolf career in territory claimed by tightly organized rival gangster alliances.

Found by Laundry Worker.

Peering into a park automobile, a laundry worker, discovered two bulky burlap bags in the rear of the car. From one of them protruded a pair of feet encased in tan shoes and blue socks. The police were summoned.

After the two bodies had been taken from the sacks, into which they had been thrust, Price was identified by Patrolman Watterson as his brother-in-law. Subsequently the identification, as well as that of Flanagan, was made certain by the arrival of fingerprints and record slips from Manhattan headquarters.

Inspecting the bodies to determine the cause of death, Dr. M. E. Martin, medical examiner, found that both men had been bound tightly, Flanagan with ropes, and Price with ropes and manacles. Both were gagged, Price with a rope, adhesive tape, and rags, Flanagan with rags and picture wire.

Both Stabbed in Breast.

Both had been stabbed several times in the breast with some wirelike instrument, apparently an ice pick. Their deaths had resulted from strangulation, however, Dr. Martin decided.

The territory is a former stamping ground of the late Frankie Uale, murdered gangster leader. Because of this fact and because it was thought before the sacks were opened that one body was that of a woman, due to its small size, a concentration of detectives began an exhaustive investigation.

Later it was announced that a clew had been obtained and that an arrest might be made shortly.

FIRST SWEDISH SHIP DUE AT SOUTH HAVEN WITH CARGO TODAY

South Haven, Mich., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—The first ship from Sweden, bringing a cargo of wood pulp to the Watervliet Paper Mill company at Watervliet, Berrien county, is expected to reach here tomorrow. A dozen foreign boats are scheduled to arrive here before Christmas, bringing wood pulp shipments in cargoes of between 1,400 and 2,000 tons each.

The cargoes will give South Haven its greatest harbor tonnage in history. The South Haven Terminal company warehouse has been expanded to store them. Then they will be trucked to Michigan plants as needed.

The Swedish ship is coming by way of the St. Lawrence river and great lakes.

3 TAMMANY MEN BANK MILLION IN 6 YEARS; QUIZZED

New York, Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Three Democratic district leaders deposited more than $1,000,000 in their personal bank accounts since 1925.

Counsel Samuel Seabury reached that total this afternoon in a public hearing before the Hofstadter legislative committee when he showed that Register James A. McQuade of Kings county, leader of the Fifth Assembly District Democratic club there, deposited $510,000 between 1925 and the present. His salary in all that time was just $47,000. McQuade explained the $463,000 additional deposits by saying that he borrowed every cent of it and had paid every cent of it back.

Earlier in the day Mr. Seabury had shown that City Clerk Michael J. Cruise, Tammany leader of the twelfth assembly district in Manhattan, had deposited $142,000 in the same six-year period. His salary was $63,000 and the additional deposits $80,000. He attempted vaguely to explain $20,000 of that sum, and left $60,000 which he could not explain.

Yesterday Sheriff Thomas M. Farley [Tinbox Tom], as he was called around the Hofstadter headquarters after his brief explanation of extracting almost unlimited sums of cash from two "goo boxes" at home and in a bank, admitted deposits of $363,000 in the last six years, his salary had been $82,500.

The sheriff was characterized by Samuel Seabury, counsel to the committee, in so many words today as a grafter. Mr. Seabury used the term without any sort of qualification or apology.

BRITAIN DICKERS WITH TURKEY FOR ANTI-SOVIET PACT

Ankara Fears Weakening of Indian Army.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 7. — The Indian round table conference has now assumed the bulky proportions of a grave military problem in the near east. A tangle of political and strategical problems, always existent in the eastern Mediterranean, has been brought about by renewed negotiations between the British and Turks to establish a friendly pact, with an eye across the Black sea on communist Russia.

Three high Turkish staff officers have arrived in London to confer with the Turkish military attaché accredited to the court of St. James's. Their arrival was simultaneous with the departure for Budapest of all military staff officers of the British imperial committee. They will confer with Ismet Pasha, Turkish prime minister, and Dr. Tevfik Rustu Bey, Turkish minister of foreign affairs.

Hold Military Parleys.

The Turkish officials recently visited Athens. It is learned that in view of the general financial and political crisis in Great Britain, and partly to possible military implications growing out of the India round table conference, British and Turkish military and naval authorities held secret negotiations in Athens. In response to a British invitation, the Turks sent representatives to watch the Indian round table conference from a military point of view.

Eleutherios Venizelos, prime minister of Greece, on his visit to London last month reminded Arthur Henderson, who was then Great Britain's foreign secretary, of the forthcoming visit to Athens of the Turkish ministers to sign a Turko-Grecian pact, and he offered his services with a view to patching up the Anglo-Turkish relations, which was accepted.

British Prestige Falls.

Since then British prestige in the near east has fallen and the Turks have become deeply concerned over the military implications at the Indian round table conference in event of the Indian army being weakened through the withdrawal of British officers and troops. Weakening of the Indian army implies a strengthening of the Russian army.

The Turks have been able to reduce their military budget 7 per cent by means of Balkan pacts, but even if the British gave way in India this economy by Turkey would be wiped out by the necessity for an increase to build up its defense again.

IDENTIFY YOUTH AS ON DEATH RIDE WITH SALESMAN

Hearing of testimony was begun yesterday in the trial of Everett Kappmeyer, 22 years old, charged with the murder of Edward J. Wolf, 10120 South State street, an auto salesman, before Judge John Prystalski in the Criminal court. The jury has been qualified for the death penalty.

Adolph Schellhase and his wife, Cornelia, living at 10941 South State street, who were the last to see Wolf before he left the garage on the fatal ride, identified Kappmeyer as the man who accompanied the salesman.

Schellhase said that he and his wife entered the automobile agency where Wolf was employed at 10855 South Michigan avenue on the night of the murder, April 11, 1930. They talked with Wolf about buying a car, the witness said. Kappmeyer was standing a few feet away.

During the conversation the three men pulled out cigarets. All three cigarets were lighted from the same match, Schellhase said. As he held the match up to Kappmeyer, he, Schellhase, had a good look at the youth's face in the light of the flame, Schellhase testified.

After this episode, Wolf excused himself to talk to the other customer. Then he and Kappmeyer left the garage and walked toward the maroon car parked outside. Mrs. Schellhase corroborated this part of her husband's testimony. It was in this car that Wolf was found dying several hours later, with a bullet in his chest, at 95th street and Normal avenue. The car was wrecked against a tree.

Kappmeyer, who is the son of a filling station owner of 182 North 10th avenue, Chicago Heights, was found guilty by a jury last week of robbing a Western Union telegraph office. Yesterday the charge was changed to grand larceny and the youth pleaded guilty. Judge Prystalski sentenced him to serve from one to ten years in the Joliet penitentiary.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

HIGH COURT WILL REVIEW LIFE FOR PINT CASE AGAIN

Effort Made to Free Palm Entirely.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—The Michigan Supreme court it was decided today, will again review phases of the conviction of Fred Palm, former Lansing man who was the state's first "life for a pint" law victim, but who is now nearing completion of a commuted 7½ to 15 year sentence in Jackson prison.

A writ of habeas corpus directing a review in Palm's case was issued as the result of the filing recently by A. Stanley Copeland, Buffalo, N. Y., of a petition for such a writ which was denied by Judge Benjamin Williams in Jackson county circuit court. Copeland is not an attorney but has interested himself in the case of the prohibition law victim merely because he believes he is unjustly imprisoned.

His application for a writ to free Palm is of an unusual nature in that it attacks the Michigan prohibition law for its alleged conflict with "divine law." Copeland holds Michigan recognizes the existence of divine law in the preamble to the state constitution but disregards it in the prohibition law because it is declared illegal to manufacture or sell a beverage containing any amount of alcohol.

Palm will not be freed at this time unless an application for his release under bond is filed, it was indicated.

Palm was sentenced to life imprisonment in the fall of 1927 after he had pleaded guilty to ownership of a pint of gin found at his home. He had previously been convicted of at least three felonies so the fourth conviction made a life sentence mandatory. When the 1929 legislature removed prohibition offenses from the list of felonies for which a fourth offense life sentence could be given, Palm's sentence was commuted.

SEEKS DIVORCE; SAYS HUSBAND IS 'MEAN AND UGLY'

Mrs. Bessie Thresher, 2130 Lincoln Park West, filed suit for divorce yesterday in the Superior court against Charles J. Thresher of the Lake Shore Athletic club, charging cruelty. Her husband resigned an executive position with Marshall Field & Co. last January and is living on an income of $20,000 a year, she charged in her bill, filed by Attorney George L. Schein.

Mrs. Thresher was divorced once before from Charles Weeghman, owner of a restaurant chain and former proprietor of the Chicago Cubs baseball club.

She charges Thresher was constantly "mean and ugly" to her, beat her on several occasions, and on Sept. 10 twisted her hand so violently that he broke one of her fingers.

REPORT MONGOL PRINCES LAUNCH WAR FOR LIBERTY

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 7.—Princes of inner Mongolia have launched an independence movement with Japanese support, Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, Manchurian war lord, declared in Peiping today after receiving reports from Tungliao and Chanchiatun.

Chang declared the Japanese sent two trainloads of arms and munitions, confiscated at the Mukden arsenal, including two airplanes and artillery, which were unloaded at stations in Ikusu and Glasshili, where the Mongols received them. An autonomous Mongol army created and led by 30 Mongol students from Japan is expected to capture Chanchiatun shortly.

Evidencing fear that it will be a long time before he returns to Mukden, Marshal Chang has sent an envoy to Mukden to arrange to move his private property, including curios and personal valuables, to Peiping.

VETERAN'S STORY OF PLOT BY WIFE, DOCTOR PROBED

Circuit Judge Philip Sullivan yesterday began an investigation into an alleged conspiracy through which a world war veteran was committed to an institution for insanity while his wife and a family physician carried on an illicit relationship.

The victim of the alleged plot was Earl W. Hibbard, who receives $50 a month from the government as a half disability case. He charged that his wife, Frances Louise, the mother of his 5 year old daughter, had engineered his detention with the aid of Dr. A. W. Wermuth, 3631 Janssen avenue, who is her suitor.

Hibbard was freed yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by his brother, Charles, 9342 St. Lawrence street. After hearing Hibbard's allegations Judge Sullivan retained jurisdiction of the case and continued the hearing until Friday morning in the criminal courts where he now is sitting.

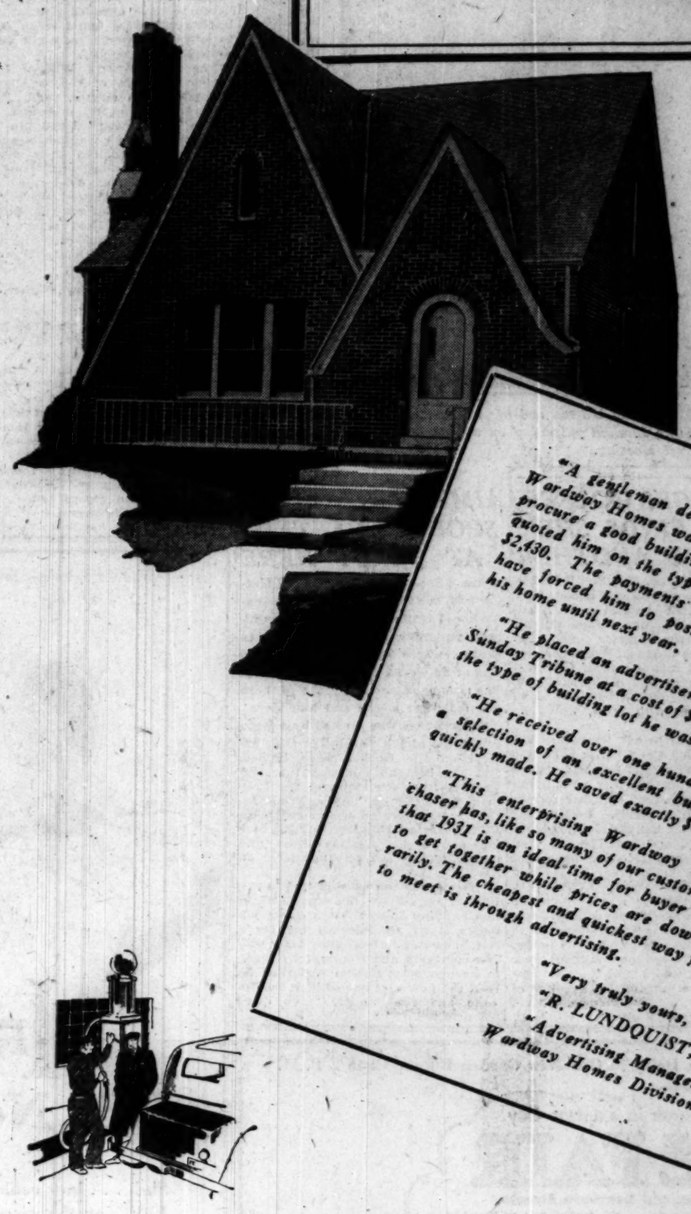
The House That An $8.40 Tribune Ad Made Possible!



How a Tribune Want Ad helped a man to get the home he wanted and saved him $630 is told in this interesting letter from Montgomery Ward & Company:

"A gentleman desiring to build one of our Wardway Homes was told that he should first procure a good building lot. The lowest price quoted him on the type of lot he wanted was $2,430. The payments of this amount would have forced him to postpone the building of his home until next year.

"He placed an advertisement in the Chicago Sunday Tribune at a cost of $8.40, stating clearly the type of building lot he was in need of.

"He received over one hundred replies and a selection of an excellent building lot was quickly made. He saved exactly $630 on this lot.

"This enterprising Wardway Home purchaser has, like so many of our customers, found that 1931 is an ideal time for buyer and seller to get together while prices are down temporarily. The cheapest and quickest way for them to meet is through advertising.

"Very truly yours,
"R. LUNDQUIST,
"Advertising Manager
Wardway Homes Division."

LIPTON'S ESTATE $3,910,000; ALL GOES TO CHARITY

Creates Home for Nurses in Memory of Mother

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Nearly the whole estate of Sir Thomas Lipton, famous sportsman and merchant prince, aside from a few detailed bequests to friends, employés, and servants, is left to charity. The estate is estimated to exceed £1,000,000 ($3,910,000 at present exchange rates). These facts were revealed by Sir Thomas' executors after the funeral today at Glasgow.

Sir Thomas' will, with two codicils, was dated Oct. 10, 1927. Another codicil was dated Aug. 8, 1930. Sir Thomas appointed Willard Taylor, Wall street attorney, and Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Oil company, Chicago, as trustees for his American properties. They are to dispose of these properties in accordance with instructions from the British trustees.

N. Y. Yacht Club Gets Cup.

The gold loving cup presented to Sir Thomas by the people of the United States in 1930 in recognition of his being the "best loser in the world" is left to the New York Yacht club. In making this bequest the knight said:

"I would like to add a personal note that they are the very best of sportsmen, and I appreciate very much the many kindnesses shown me by them."

The trustees are given power to hand over all Sir Thomas' collection of yachting cups and trophies to a suitable museum or institution.

Sir Thomas' Osidge estate at Southgate, London, he directs to be preserved as a home for nurses in memory of his mother, and $78,200 is left to keep it going.

$312,800 for Poor Mothers.

Among the legacies $312,800 is given the city of Glasgow for the benefit of poor mothers and their children. During his lifetime Sir Thomas gave $78,200 for this purpose, which makes the total of $391,000 mentioned in the will.

Specific legacies of $3,910 each are left to four Glasgow hospitals and the London hospital, and also $11,730 to the Lipton Memorial Nurses' home at Cambuslang, Glasgow.

The residue of the estate will be divided among hospitals and institutions of London, Middlesex, Glasgow and Cambuslang.

Sir Thomas never married and has no relatives to remember.

His attorney said today they will use all available means to break Sir Thomas' will.

HASTY GETAWAY LEADS TO ARREST OF BANDIT T

The haste with which three bandits left the scene of a holdup led to their capture late yesterday. They are Louis Sorsky, 35 years old, 3523 Evergreen avenue; Joseph Goldman, 27, of 2948 North Meade avenue, and Stephen Griester, also 27, of Evergreen avenue.

They held up Adolph Amberg, owner, and two employés in the office of the Humboldt Produce company, 3639 Armitage avenue, and escaped with $609.

Leaving the scene, the bandits ran to their parked automobile. Policeman Andrew Schoffen, on special duty, and Policeman Harry Hanson, both of the Shakespeare avenue station, were passing at the time. Suspicious of the haste of the bandits, followed them. In an alley near Evergreen and North St. Louis avenue Hanson and Schoffen stopped the car. Sorsky was disarmed.

KARL S. DAY, FORMER MARINE PILOT, HEADS CURTISS FIELD HERE

KARL S. DAY.

Karl S. Day, one of the original members of the marine corps aviation unit, who trained at Mineola, L. I., and Lake Charles, Miami, and who served six months in France in 1918, has been appointed manager of Curtiss-Reynolds airport, local base of the Curtiss - Wright Flying service at Glenview.

Dr. Irene Behnke, only woman member of the Chicago aero commission and president of the Women's Pioneer Aircraft club, yesterday told members of the Independent German American Women's club meeting at the Hotel La Salle that women will be flying their own planes in five years as commonly as they now drive automobiles. Dr. Behnke recently returned from a tour of Europe, where she found that many women owned their own planes.

National Air Transport, Inc., operating unit of United Air Lines, yesterday was granted permission by the Illinois commerce commission to continue its passenger service between Chicago and Moline, Ill., under supervision of that body.

FIND WRECKAGE OF BREMEN SHIP TO SHORE PLANE

PARRSBORO, N. S., Oct. 7.—(AP)—The wreckage of the liner Bremen's ship to shore mail plane was picked up this afternoon by the tug Alamac in the ocean off Economy Point and is being brought here. The plane, which apparently carried Fritz Simon and Rudolph Wucknecht to their deaths when it dived into Cobequid bay Tuesday morning, was located by a seaplane from Sydney, N. S.

Lieut. Louis Leigh, aviator, who sighted the wreckage, could not alight on the water because of a broken pontoon. He said he saw what he thought was a body in the craft and a mail bag floating nearby.

The mail plane was catapulted from the Bremen 650 miles at sea Monday. The flyers sought to break a record for carrying mail to New York. In a previous flight they had reached New York nearly 30 hours before the ship.

EDISON SINKING; END INEVITABLE WITHIN FEW DAYS

Inventor Too Weak to Sit Up in Armchair.

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Thomas A. Edison grew steadily weaker today in his home here in Llewellyn park, where he has been ill for several months of a complication of diseases. Although no immediate danger was foreseen for tonight, his attending physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, said that death was inevitable within a few days.

President Hoover, through Lawrence Richey, one of his secretaries, telephoned the Edison home this morning and requested that he be kept informed of the condition of the 84 year old inventor. Henry Ford also inquired by long distance telephone. Both were assured by the Edison family that they would be immediately notified of any change in Mr. Edison's condition.

After his morning visit to his distinguished patient, whom he has been treating for diabetes, Bright's disease, uremic poisoning, and a stomach ailment believed to be gastric ulcers, Dr. Howe issued the following bulletin:

"This morning Mr. Edison is much weaker. It is impossible for him to sit up without support. He finds it increasingly difficult to take fluids."

Amplifying this in conversation with reporters, Dr. Howe characterized Mr. Edison's inability to take liquids as "alarming." He said that this morning he and a nurse had lifted Mr. Edison into an arm chair, after the sick man had indicated his desire to sit up, but that Mr. Edison's weakness forced his return to his bed almost immediately.

RADIO CURTAILED; PRISONERS RIOT AT LEAVENWORTH

Leavenworth, Kas., Oct. 8 [Thursday].—(AP)—Prisoners in Leavenworth prison, declared by Warden T. B. White to be rebellious because of curtailment of radio privileges, rioted in their cells early today. All were reported safely locked up.

The warden, declining to comment at length on the situation, said the disturbance was not serious and that prisoners were contenting themselves with jeers and catcalls. It was not learned just what radio restrictions were invoked or why the action was taken.

SHIPPERS VIEW VAN FOR TRUCK AND RAIL SERVICE

New Vehicle Co-ordinates Transportation.

A vehicle designed for the coördination of rail and truck shipments was demonstrated before 150 railroad executives and shippers yesterday in the yards of the International Harvester company on South Western avenue near Blue Island avenue.

The experimental model consists of a container, with a capacity of 493 cubic feet or five tons, which can be carried on a special truck or on an ordinary railroad flat car. The equipment includes devices for convenient and easy shifting of the container between the highway and the rail carrier.

"This gives promise of considerable value to the shipper," said C. T. Bradford, traffic manager of the International Harvester company. "The vehicle meets a demand that has developed with the growth of highway freight transportation. The railroads, the trucking industry, the shippers, and the public generally should benefit from a more efficient coördination between rail and highway transportation."

The container, like the box of a moving van, is mounted on a platform of the truck which can be raised, lowered, or tilted from the diver's seat to meet convenience. On each of the four corners of the box are rollers, which disappear when not in use like the landing wheels of an amphibian airplane. These rollers are raised and lowered with compressed air developed by the truck engine.

The truck also has a powered capstan to facilitate the transfer of the load from flatcar to truck or from platform to truck. On the flatcar the container sits flat on its bottom, the wheels pulled up into the body and clamps are adjusted to make it secure.

In the development of this vehicle the International Harvester company coöperated with the Mount Vernon Car Manufacturing company and the Haskelite Manufacturing company.

The capital was $200,000, surplus $500,000, undivided profits $67,883, and reserve fund $50,000. The bank also had individual trust funds of $937,402.

TRACTOR CONTROLLED WITH RADIO PLOWS A FIELD IN INDIANA

Noblesville, Ind., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—J. J. Lynch of Miles City, Mont., who has been experimenting in this city for several months, at a trial on a farm near here this afternoon, plowed around a thirty acre field with a tractor operated by a radio.

The machine carried three fourteen inch plows with a keyboard operated in an automobile thirty feet behind the tractor. Lynch started the tractor with one key, adjusted the clutch with another key, guided it with another and regulated the speed of the engine in the tractor with still another key.

It is said to the be the first time in history that a tractor operated by a radio has actually plowed ground. Two hundred expert electricians, radio operators and business men from most of the central states came here to watch the experiment, which they pronounced a success.

Motorists, will you help me?

"I am a member of the school boys' patrol. I help your children to cross streets safely. You have seen me at my post on blistering hot days, in the biting cold, and in downpours of rain. But I love my work. I am helping to cut down injuries and deaths to children. You know me by my white Sam Browne belt and my badge.

"It may not mean much to you that I saved the life of a little boy yesterday. It did mean a lot to his mother. You can help me by driving carefully. I ask your help."

That is the message any of the 18,000 members of the school boys' patrol in the territory of the Chicago Motor Club would give you. The club has a vital interest in these boys. In the sixty-two counties in Illinois and Indiana in which we operate we supply these boys of the public, parochial and Lutheran schools with belts and badges and help to organize and to instruct the patrol units in some 9,000 schools.

The New General Electric Heat Regulator

GENERAL ELECTRIC has developed a scientific heat regulator that will maintain an even temperature in your home this winter, regardless of outside weather conditions.

Fluctuation in house-temperature is unhealthful and expensive. It contributes to colds and other sickness. Wastes fuel. Makes you uncomfortably warm at one time and unpleasantly cold at another.

The General Electric Heat Regulator reduces fluctuation to a minimum by its exclusive, patented features.

For example: instead of having furnace-drafts (or fuel-valves) completely open or completely closed, the G-E Heat Regulator gives graduated control, with the drafts always in the exact position required.

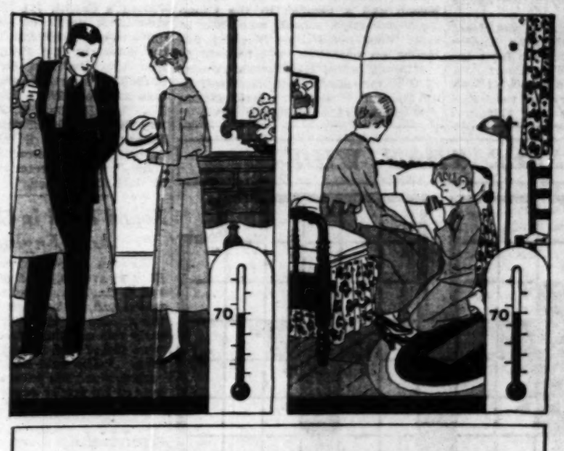
It has a special coil in the thermostat which anticipates rises in room-temperature and slows down the heat as the selected degree is approached.

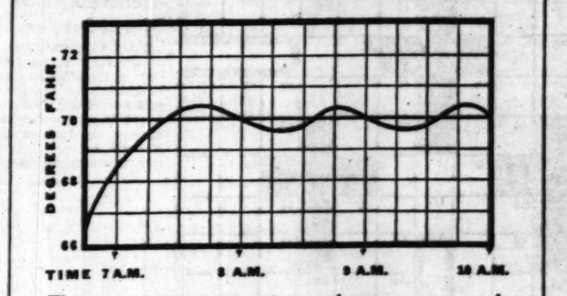
It has a safeguard which works automatically in case the electric house-current is interrupted, preventing excess formation of heat and at the same time keeping the fire from going out.

Prices are very moderate. A single-range model (illustrated) sells for $85, and a double-range model, with electric timing for making day and night temperature-changes automatically, sells for $125. These prices include installation. Convenient time-payments may be arranged.

The G-E Heat Regulator can be easily installed on your present heating system. By conserving fuel, it should bring marked savings on your heating bill.

Stop in today. Let us show you this latest General Electric device for your comfort and convenience. Or telephone—and a representative will gladly call at your home.





The temperature you want . . . as long as you want it

Note the accuracy of the General Electric Heat Regulator in arriving—and staying—at the desired temperature. It varies less than ½ of 1 degree either way. This accuracy is made possible solely by its exclusive features. Without them a fluctuation of several degrees is unavoidable.

MORROW RESTS IN GRAVE NEAR HIS OWN ESTATE

Funeral Austerely Simple —Notables Attend.

New York, Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Senator Dwight W. Morrow was buried today in Brookside cemetery, almost within sight of the lower edge of his estate at Englewood, N. J. His body was borne to its grave in a simple coffin covered by a blanket of lilies of the valley on which rested a single laurel wreath, the gift of President Hoover, who was unable to attend the funeral of New Jersey's junior senator and one of the nation's outstanding statesmen.

Many of those most prominent in the affairs of this country, including former President Calvin Coolidge, Vice President Charles Curtis, two cabinet officers, and delegations from the two houses of congress, attended the services in the First Presbyterian church of Englewood, where the senator-diplomat and his family have worshiped for 26 years.

The presence of these notables in the church, its chancel banked high with floral offerings, was the only departure from austere simplicity that the family permitted. The body did not lie in state; there was no formal funeral procession, no honorary pallbearers, and no eulogy.

Favorite Prayer Read.

The only departure from the ordinary Presbyterian funeral service, as it was conducted by the Rev. Carl Hopkins Elmore, minister of the church, was in the reading of a pagan prayer that was a favorite of Senator Morrow—the prayer of Socrates from the "Phaedrus" of Plato. The prayer, read at the request of a member of the family, follows:

"Give me beauty in the inward soul; and may the outward and inward man be at one. May I reckon the wise to be the wealthy, and may I have such a quantity of gold as a temperate man and he only can bear and carry. Anything more? The prayer, I think, is enough for me."

When the time came for the last farewell, the family wanted to be alone. The Rev. Mr. Elmore announced that the interment would be private, and while the coffin was being carried from the church to the waiting hearse Mrs. Morrow received Mr. Coolidge, Vice President Curtis, Secretary of State Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Adams, and F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aviation, in an anteroom.

Departure from Church.

Then, leaning on the arm of Gen. Jay J. Morrow, a brother of her late husband, Mrs. Morrow, with three of her children—Elizabeth, Constance, and Dwight Jr.—left the church for the cemetery. Mrs. Morrow was dressed in a black suit with a pointed fox collar. Her daughters wore plain black dresses. None wore veils.

There were only twelve automobiles in the procession that followed the hearse to the cemetery. They contained only members of the immediate family and their closest friends. A screen of tall cedars had been planted fanwise about the grave and against this were banked many of the nearly 300 floral offerings.

The service at the grave was closed with a prayer. The Rev. Mr. Elmore read the twenty-third verse from the twenty-fifth chapter of Matthew:

"His Lord saith unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter into the joy of thy Lord."

Small Group at Grave.

As the coffin was being lowered Mrs. Morrow reached down and picked up a handful of the freshly turned earth, letting it slide through her fingers upon the coffin in a gesture of farewell. By her side were Gen. Morrow and her children.

The only members of the immediate family who were not present were the Morrows' daughter Anne and the latter's husband, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who learned of Senator Morrow's death in China. They are starting homeward tomorrow by ship and rail. The Lindbergh family was represented at the church, however, by the colonel's mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh. Mrs. Lindbergh did not attend the simple services at the cemetery.

Lindberghs Start Homeward.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 8.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh began a hasty return trip to the United States today, sailing on the steamer Shanghai Maru for Nagasaki, Japan. Only half a dozen persons were at the pier to bid them good-by, including American Consul General and Mrs. Cunningham.

From Nagasaki the Lindberghs will proceed to Yokohama, Japan, by train. They sail from Yokohoma on the liner President Jefferson, arriving at Seattle ten days later.

The entire journey from Shanghai to New York is expected to require not more than two weeks, as compared to the four weeks they needed to make the 7,000 mile flight from New York to Shanghai, via northern Canada, Alaska, Kamchatka peninsula, and Japan.

SOUTH SEA ISLE SPURNS CLOTHES IN ECONOMY PLAN

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Seriously affected by the world economic depression, the South Sea islands appear to be on the verge of renouncing the ways of civilization.

In a resolution adopted by the agricultural union of Tahiti and forwarded to France, the islanders of the French South sea colony are urged to resume their ancestral modes of life and abandon the attempt to maintain modern methods of living and trading. These are called unsuited to the native temperament and economic ability.

This appeal recommends that the natives discard European clothing, return to the simple outdoor life and eschew the artificial, commercial life in the towns, which is held responsible for the degeneration of island civilization.

JEWS WILL BAN MEATS IF MAXIE EISEN HOLDS JOB

The possibility that thousands of orthodox Jews may be placed under a ban forbidding the eating of all meats was seen yesterday as a result of the election of Maxie Eisen, one of the public enemies and notorious in union circles, as business agent of the Associated Hebrew Butchers.

A statement from the Kehillah, ruling body of the orthodox Jewish church in Chicago, forecasting the ban was issued yesterday. Coincident with the meeting of the butchers on Tuesday night at which time Eisen was unanimously elected, 300 representatives of all Chicago congregations met with the rabbinate at the Hebrew Theological college, Douglas boulevard and St. Louis avenue.

A committee of 25 members was appointed to confer with the butchers. The committee said that it would refuse to talk to the butchers' representatives if Eisen were present. Unless Eisen is dismissed and if prices are increased the ban will follow, according to spokesmen for the Kehillah.

'Judith Paris' Second Novel of Walpole Four

Tells Fiery Passions of "Rogue Herries."

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Judith Paris," by Hugh Walpole. [Doubleday-Doran.] Published today.

"ROGUE HERRIES," as you remember, was the first of a tetralogy promised by Hugh Walpole as a record of the Herries history from the seventeenth century to the present. "Judith Paris," the story of the child that was born as Rogue Herries lay dying in another room and whose gypsy mother breathed her last as the baby gave its first cry, is offered today as the second volume of the four. In a prefatory note Mr. Walpole explains a bit about the book, the entire four volumes [illegible] of which are as yet unwritten] as well as the volume published today. He says:

"I must explain then that, firstly, the story of Judith Paris may be followed without any knowledge of her father or curiosity as to her descendants. . . . I must here confess that I have more than twenty years ago, the idea of writing the history of an English family that should cover two hundred years and that should have, throughout, the same English scene for its theme. This was, I think [although Mr. Galsworthy may correct me], before the later Forsytes were thought of, any suspicion of Sagas hung in the literary air. . . ."

With the five hundred and sixty-six pages of "Judith Paris" finished I venture a skeptical public that Mr. Walpole does not overstate the case when he says that one need not have "Rogue Herries" to read "Judith Paris" and to get the most of it. I would go farther and warn that same public that "Judith Paris" will be a much more alluring book to them if they have NOT read "Rogue Herries," for this second volume of Walpole's promised four has a certain boisterousness, a certain fair for life, a certain grandeur of gesture that punctuated the vast areas of dullness in "Rogue Herries." There is no question of the fact that both of the books are excellent pictures of another day in the [illegible] district in England. They are records of manners and morals of the period set down by a skilled historical novelist. There is in both of them the skilled fictionist's unwaveringly certain touch. As records of life of another day they have weight and importance. But as that kind of novel which makes a period so vivid to a reader that you breathe the air of its time, that you are yourself rooted as deeply in the soil as its characters, that you, with them, bloom and fade and bloom again in the seasons of their years and their emotion, "Judith Paris" falls where "Rogue Herries" succeeded. "Rogue Herries" was, as it was, the very century plant's bloom of its period. He was of his time and of no other. His daughter "Judith Paris" is not inevitably a woman of her time. Place these novels are words of time and place rather than words of individual character, "Judith Paris" by that very fact does not succeed.

There were scenes of "Rogue Herries" which made up for all of the pages and pages of meticulous setting down of customs and events which somehow Mr. Walpole has achieved the knack of making dull instead of enthralling historical material. Every so often the novel burst into flame, as it were, like skyrockets that give off bulbs of scattering stars time after time before they fall to the ground as dead, used sticks. There are sputters in "Judith Paris" now and again. There are bright moments of light occasionally, but no brilliant splatters of incandescence.

"Judith Paris" is a story of Georgian England, with the stage settings meticulously correct, with the characters swayed by strange hatreds and strange loves. It has every characteristic of Mr. Walpole's popularity in it. It undoubtedly will be popular. But to me it lacks fire, it lacks that sudden spurt of flame that made "Rogue Herries" memorable, despite its long sweeps of excellent but uninspired narrative and description.

By its very heroic conception the tetralogy will be an important work of English fiction, and each of its component parts has a dignity and an impressiveness that its subject matter makes obvious. In the entire pattern "Judith Paris" will be one with that dignity and impressiveness. As a separate novel it seems—to me, at least—a little too much like a monument commemorating a great historical occasion and too little a vibrant human document.

GASOLINE ALLEY—EASY TO TAKE

MARY GARDEN BACK WITH GOLDEN LOCKS; HER WEIGHT IS 125

New York, Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Miss Mary Garden, operatic and concert soprano, who has worn her luxurious locks henna colored and smoothly clustered around her brow, returned today in the Bremen with 18 bright golden curls on which was perched what is called a semi-Empress Eugenie hat.

She has spent this summer on the island of Corsica instead of at Monte Carlo. The surroundings are more quaint and romantic, she said. She is staying at the Ritz Tower.

After singing here in a concert and for the radio until December, Miss Garden will return to Corsica and then go to the Opera Comique in Paris to sing in "Sappho" and "Camille" after an absence of four years from that company.

A portion of her concert tours here will be made with the Boston and Minneapolis symphony orchestras. She weighs 125 pounds, Miss Garden said. That was due chiefly to eating one meal a day of fruit, milk, eggs, and wheat bread, as well as to spending her time in light attire riding on a mule up and down the mountains.

Lutherans Call Banquet an Aid Toward Prosperity

About 300 members of the Luther league attended a prosperity banquet last night at the Morrison hotel. The principal speaker of the occasion was Dr. Ross Stover of Philadelphia. The name given to the occasion arose when it was decided to carry on earlier plans for the event. It was argued by members of the league that a banquet of this kind means that food has to be purchased, extra help hired, and new dresses bought. This view overruled the opinion that money should not be spent on banquets in hard times.

Serious Fifties Full of Church for Chicagoans

Methodists Hear of Old Business Customs.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

There was lots of religion in Chicago in the good old days. Rules for clerks employed in mercantile establishments proved it.

Prof. Murray H. Leiffer of Garrett Biblical institute indicated that last night before the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in the Chicago Temple. The first Methodist church here was built in 1831.

Prof. Leiffer said store rules forbade clerks smoking while waiting on women customers; allowed them two nights off each week, provided one night was used to go to church and the other to go courting if their intentions were serious. The clerks also were compelled to save their money. All this, Prof. Leiffer said, prevailed in the fifties when most of Chicago's business was done on Lake street.

It also was revealed that Chicago then was sportsman's paradise. Duck hunting was good, said Prof. Leiffer, from the steps of the old Tremont house. Guests, he declared, carried their shotguns instead of golf clubs with them to Chicago. They could shoot ducks as the birds flew up the river.

The First Methodist Episcopal church, Clark and Washington streets, it was revealed, was perhaps the first congregation in the country to build a combined office building and church. The first edifice of this sort was built in 1855. Commercial income from the building aided other churches in the youthful city. That building of 1855 was destroyed in the fire of 1871. Inside of two years another but finer building of the same sort was put up and remained until the construction of the present skyscraper church, the Chicago Temple.

Unemployment and its cure and relief leaped into the discussion of the members of the conference on the opening day. A committee of ministers was appointed to confer with Wilfred S. Reynolds, chairman of the council of social agencies, to learn from him the churches' place in the present campaign for relief funds. The Rev. Carl Gage of Wicker Park is chairman of the ministers' committee.

An echo of the old time power of Methodist preachers to arouse religious emotions and to convert multitudes was heard at a special noonday service.

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of Chicago declared the church has suffered a great loss by stifling the emotional element in religion during the last decades. He urged that the repression of such emotions brings about as serious consequences as the repression of intelligence. The Chicago bishop's subject was "Augustine of Hippo," who was converted to Christianity in middle life after a loose moral career. Augustine, said Bishop Hughes, was the greatest theological genius since St. Paul.

Basing his appeal on the conversion of Augustine, Bishop Hughes asked the church to pay greater attention to adult conversion. While he commended the work of religious education among the children, he asked if the church is forgetting the adults.

Expects Civilization's Fall.

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Delegates to the international convention of the Disciples of Christ today were told they were living in a "deliberately faithless age."

The Rev. Lee Sadler, Indianapolis, who made the charge, called attention to the "present growth of Atheism," explaining it always has flourished prior to the breakup of great civilizations.

Furniture Style Show Is Opened at Several Stores

The Chicago Home Furnishings Style show opened in furniture houses and furnishings departments of the larger stores yesterday with a large selection of styles on display at price levels that attracted considerably more people to the stores than have visited them in recent weeks, according to officials of many of the stores.

"The show influenced many people who have not been downtown to look at furniture for many years to drop in and see new trends," was the way the manager of a large department store described the opening. "We had innumerable society women who have not been into the furnishings department for some while drop in to inspect our new stock, and they were quite interested as a rule."

Two hundred manufacturers will meet today to open a two day session of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers at the Congress hotel. They will be asked to appoint a committee to coöperate with the President's unemployment relief suggestions, a move that will affect the continued employment of 150,000 furniture workers. Production in the furniture factories is about 40 per cent of the 1929 scale, according to Dr. Alfred Haake, managing director.

Children Get Fire Lessons as Good Show

Chicago '71 Blaze Is Recalled at Luncheon.

Commemorating the 60th anniversary of the fire which destroyed Chicago in 1871, more than two hundred grammar school students yesterday were the guests of the Chicago board of underwriters at the first of the weekly series of Association of Commerce luncheons. The luncheon, at which a program of fire prevention was presented, was held in the Hotel La Salle.

The feature attraction was the act of "smoky" the fire clown, created and acted by Harry K. Rogers, engineer of the fire prevention department of the Western actuarial bureau. With a thorough knowledge of fire information as related to its dangers and methods of prevention, a knowledge of child psychology permitted the presentation of an entertaining act and the bringing home of the necessity of fire prevention training.

Demonstrations of the best methods of fighting fire both in the home, the school, and blazing clothing were graphically given. The major point stressed by Mr. Rogers was the danger presented to every child by playing with matches. J. P. Wahlman, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Association of Commerce, presided.

One of the major points of interest in Chicago during this week is the frame cottage at 2121 Hudson avenue, the only wooden structure to escape the blaze in a section of the city that was fire swept. At the present time it is occupied by Joseph L. Kirschten and his family who have lived there for twenty years. At the time of the fire it was owned by a policeman named Bellinger.

When the fire approached that section of the city and all of his neighbors were running away, leaving most of their household goods behind, Bellinger refused to leave. He fought the fire by hand, using blankets, cinders and all the water available. When the water was gone he assailed his cider barrels and little by little emptied the contents on the roof. He burned his blankets and severly scorched his hands and body but saved his home.

In conjunction with the series of lectures given throughout the city as part of the national fire prevention week, called by gubernatorial and presidential proclamation, Frank J. Prindiville, fire prevention engineer of the city fire department, yesterday issued a series of instructions for fire prevention and listed data showing the loss entailed.

"Fire, like crime and disease, will always be with us, but can be held in check by a constant battle," he said. "A careful survey of statistics shows that at least 75 per cent of the fires can be avoided."

Among the cautions listed were the destroying of all rubbish, care in the handling of matches and inflammable liquids, a constant check on electrical wiring, the careful cleaning of flues, and a constant watch by smokers.

In 1930, the data shows, 12,000 people died in fires in the United States, which was about an average of one an hour. The fire loss was five hundred million dollars, or a contribution of $5 for each person. This loss compares with that of various European countries, ranging from 30 to 60 cents per person. The fire loss is more than all the money collected by the customs department of the government.

THE STAGE

"PRIVATE LIVES."

A comedy by Noel Coward; given at the Erlanger theater Oct. 7, 1931, with Donald Brian and Edith Taliaferro as stars, under the management of Arch Selwyn.

THE CAST.

Sybil Chase ..... Lelia Frost
Elyot Chase ..... Donald Brian
Victor Prynne ..... House Jameson
Amanda Prynne ..... Edith Taliaferro
Louise [a maid] ..... Mildred Merkel

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

A COMEDY of quarrels and kisses for two by Noel Coward, reigning wit of the British stage, now invites your inspection at the Erlanger theater. You should not fail, I believe, to discover how Mr. Coward, a bold young man in spite of his name, makes two characters talk like forty. This "Private Lives" is really an amazing trick of literary technique, and you will marvel at and enjoy its verbal sleight of hand.

The play comes out of the gallery of recent New York hits, and although its cast has been changed twice since Mr. Coward and Gertrude Lawrence turned over their rôles to Americans, it fully justifies its reputation. Donald Brian is now the temperamental lover-husband of its story, and Edith Taliaferro is the erratic lady of the frequent tantrums who jumps through wedding rings with diverting dexterity. They enter into the spirit of Mr. Coward's merry game like first string players.

Mr. Brian deserves to be observed with particular attention. You may not believe it, but this is the "jeune premier" who entranced your mother as Prince Danilo in "The Merry Widow," all of twenty years ago. I believe it, because I saw him then, and I find that this is the same young Mr. Brian, without an extra pound on his gallant figure or a trace of time upon his boyish face. The difference is that then he was merely a waltzing tenor, and now he is an expert in the difficult art of light comedy.

The only practice that Mr. Brian has had in the trick of handling feather-edged dialogue to make it sound twice as witty as written was in "Candle Light," here in Chicago, in the spring of 1930. But he acts as if he had been doing this sort of thing for decades. It's apparently a gift. The same thing might be said of Mr. Coward. He writes the tenuous, fluttering stuff out of which "Private Lives" is spun as easily and successfully as plainer and simpler men, gifted in another way, waggle their ears.

Miss Taliaferro, however, is not the same little girl your parents saw in "Polly of the Circus." No matter; the rôle does not require an angelic ingénue. The other half of the quarrels and kisses is a woman of the world, the flesh, and the devil, and Miss Taliaferro fulfills these specifications vividly enough. When she smashes a phonograph record over Mr. Brian's head, and then goes to the mat with him, no holds or punches barred, in the most complete lovers' battle in the history of comedy, you will discover that the ingénues of a generation ago can keep in pace with the times.

The story deals with the rearrangement of a quadrangle. Mr. Brian, as Elyot, and Miss Taliaferro, as Amanda, having been wedded and divorced, are off on new honeymoons; but they have the misfortune or good luck to choose the same French hotel and adjoining suites for their honeymoons. They meet again—and mate again, leaving their bride and bridegroom to console one another, if possible. They spend the second act in a Paris apartment in a rapid alternation of amorous ecstasies and spasms of nagging.

After the great brawl, there is a happy ending, for Mr. Coward was a fake cynic when he wrote this fantasy. At heart, this ironic young modern is probably a Victorian sentimentalist, for "Private Lives" contains long passages that gush freely about moonlight and true love. I regret to note that Mr. Coward goes in copiously for Michael Arlen's melting vocabulary. Whenever I hear a pair of tough British playmates calling one another "My sweet," I begin to feel faint and have dizzy spells.

Lelia Frost and House Jameson represent the other pair in the formula of this artificial story. They fit into the picture; but the Brian-Taliaferro combination is the only thing that matters. Especially Mr. Brian, the new born light comedian. He is a "wunderkind," aged fifty.

Anne C. Ferris Is Crowned by St. Louis' Veiled Prophet

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 7.—(AP)—The elite of St. Louis society, as well as thousands who filled the balcony and gallery, tonight watched his mysterious majesty, the veiled prophet, crown Miss Anne Chittenden Ferriss as queen of love and beauty at the prophet's court, to rule for the 1931-'32 social season. The veiled prophet's ball annually marks the formal opening of the fall social season in St. Louis. The new queen is the daughter of Henry T. 63 Singers for Chicago Opera; New Record Set

Added Artists Include Kansas City Woman.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

With the engagement of two new sopranos, the roster of the Chicago Civic Opera company would seem to be nearly complete. The new engagements were announced yesterday in the persons of Noël Eadie of Paisley, Scotland, who has been with the British National Opera company for three seasons, and Rose Barrons of Kansas City, the daughter of John J. Barrons of the Kansas City Star, and last summer a member of the opera company at Salzburg.

Miss Eadie's engagement is the result of a search for a coloratura soprano capable of singing the part of the Queen of the Night in Mozart's opera, "The Magic Flute." The work will be done for the first time by the resident company during the coming season.

Sixty-three principals are now on the list of the Chicago Civic Opera company, the largest number in its history. Twenty sopranos are listed, of whom ten are new. There are nine contraltos with three new, fifteen tenors with two new, fifteen baritones with two new, and six basses with one new.

Twenty-two of the principals, more than one-third, are American. In addition, there are nine foreign born artists who have become American citizens. Of the others, fifteen are Italians, six Germans, six Belgians, four Poles, four Spaniards, two French, and one each of Scotch, Canadian, Swedish, and Russian birth. Two of the conductors are naturalized Americans, but by birth they classify as one each of American, Italian, Belgian, British, German, and Russian.

The complete artistic roster of the company includes the following names:

Pre-bolshevik Russian revolutionary tracts, pamphlets and books, nearly a thousand in number, which the late Jacob J. Cohan, a Chicago pharmacist, collected after he fled to the United States following the Russian revolution in 1905 were presented yesterday to the University of Chicago by his widow. She resides at 4539 North Central Park avenue.

The Marriage Racket

By VINA DELMAR

SYNOPSIS.

Irma Corbin and Don Philippe de Rodriquez, hoofers, with their pianist, Tom Libby, arrive in Thrace for a week's vaudeville engagement. A convention is being held in the town and the hotels are overflowing. Philippe grabs the first vacancy. Tom and Irma inquire at the town's leading hostelry, where Tom runs into an old friend, Bill Fitzroy. Tom finds a cot and Bill turns over his room to Irma. Bill invites Irma to a dinner party in the hotel, where she meets Wallace Graham, a widower. Wallace has a young daughter, Mildred, who has grown up under the supervision of her Aunt Tessie. Bill and Wallace shower invitations on the pretty dancer. Wallace asks Irma to be his wife. Bill's proposal to her is of a different nature. Irma quarrels with Philippe and quits the act. She marries Wallace and settles down to a dull existence with him. A baby son arrives to compensate her for any flaws in the marriage system. The baby becomes the center of her universe.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

THE ENDOWMENT POLICY.

Aunt Tessie was cordial enough, but she did not speak to Irma unless first addressed, and she stopped no more in Irma's doorway to ask if she could help with the mending. Wallace was kind and considerate, but he was more silent than before and far less respectful of Irma's wishes. Ofttimes Irma lay awake at night wondering what she ought to do. Should she leave Wallace? Was that the kindest thing to do? She was anxious to do the thing that would make him happiest. She knew that aside from the profitless delight of possessing her fresh youth she had brought him nothing. O, yes, the baby, but the thrill of parenthood had not been new to him. He loved the baby only from a sense of duty and not with the unreasoning passion which she felt for the child. He could not even understand the feeling which made her care so little how much other people were hurt if it gained the baby anything.

Leaving him, however, was simple in theory. In practice it would become difficult. She had no money and no one to whom she could turn. Besides a runaway wife might cause Wallace painful embarrassment and he had done nothing to deserve that. She wished life were not so frighteningly complicated. It would be such a relief to say, "Look, here, Wallace, I know I've been a dreadful disappointment to you. What do you want to do about it?"

But life was not so simple. To satisfy his sense of duty Wallace would dissemble. Nothing could be learned from asking him such a question. Time would answer it, not Wallace.

Irma's faith in time's ability to clarify all doubts was not misplaced. Around the time that holly wreaths were beginning to sound a cheerful note in front windows Wallace melted. One might say that the beautiful story of the Yuletide exercises a strange power over the most skeptic soul, but Irma knew Wallace too well to believe that he forgave her her trespasses because a baby was born in a manger. She felt certain that Wallace had forgiven her only because his resentment had died from natural causes and could not be resuscitated. At any rate, by Christmas bygones were bygones. The Grahams gave each other gifts and laughed a lot and exchanged kisses, and because Irma had given Aunt Tessie a nice, roomy handbag Aunt Tessie paused in Irma's doorway on the morning of Dec. 26 and asked if Irma needed any help with her mending.

Wallace had bought perfume for Irma, silk stockings for Mildred, and a scarf for Aunt Tessie. He regretted deeply that these things were the best he could manage and apologized to his family for their simplicity. Mildred was perplexed. Her father's contributions had never been noticeable for their extravagance or elegance. Ever since she had outgrown her toy Christmases his gift had sat beneath the tree completely outshone by the brilliance and originality of Jane Malcolm's.

This year Jane had presented her dearest friend with a pair of scarlet birds neatly housed in a gilt and scarlet cage. The silk stockings compared no more unfavorably with the already beloved birds than on the preceding year a box of handkerchiefs had compared with Jane's gift of coral colored pajamas cutely monogrammed above the pocket. Mildred looked wonderingly from the silk stockings to the gorgeous bright feathers behind the gilt bars. Why did he pick this year to apologize?

Irma knew. . . . It was because of the endowment policy. Wallace had taken it from some glib salesman during his engagement to Anne. Religiously he had paid on it and in March it was going to show its gratitude. Irma admired Wallace's constancy. She was the sort who permits insurance to lapse and diaries to become address books after the third entry. It staggered her to think of the patience with which he had waited all these years for the moment when the company would reverse the order and pay him.

Twenty-five hundred dollars they were going to pay him. It was more money than either Irma or Wallace had ever possessed all at one time. Wallace had plans. Irma knew that he intended to buy Mildred some desperately desired object and to give Aunt Tessie fifty dollars with the strict proviso that not a cent was to be spent on Mildred. That was why his Christmas gifts were presented with apologies this year. In the light of coming surprises they were very paltry indeed.

Irma knew also what Wallace intended to do with approximately fifteen hundred dollars of his endowment money. He intended to take Irma on a deferred honeymoon to Europe. Ever since their marriage he had been telling her about it. She had dismissed it from her mind as harmless prattle, as in fact she had dismissed the idea that there would be an endowment at all. Nobody in Irma's world had ever collected money on his own policy. But now it looked as though twenty-five hundred dollars was actually going to materialize. Then perhaps Europe would become a dreadful probability. She realized that she had made a mistake. When Wallace first mentioned the trip she should have told him at once that she would not go. Now it would be harder to convince him that the whole idea was absurd. Well, it might be difficult, but it had to be done if he was really serious. As though she would go thirty-five hundred miles away from the baby. The idiocy of the idea made Irma smile to herself and dismiss it once again.

"Nice to be a far sighted person," Wallace said. He and Irma were in their living room on a January evening waiting for the Gardners to arrive. There would be bridge and then a little before eleven Irma would disappear. From the kitchen the promising sounds of tinkling dishes and percolating coffee would assure Wallace and the Gardners that Irma was not far away. Their conversation would flow steadily on till Irma called them to the dining room. It was part of the game that the Gardners should say, "O, you shouldn't have bothered, Irma," and that the Grahams should say, "O, it's only a bite."

Irma was wondering if by any chance they were out of coffee. It was several seconds before she realized that Wallace had spoken to her.

"What do you mean?"

"I'm talking about the twenty-five hundred again," he said. "I'm congratulating myself on having taken that policy out."

"Yes, that was nice."

"And that isn't all. It took will power, I can tell you, to keep working through two years without a vacation so that this summer there's six weeks coming to me."

"Yeah." The dryness of her tone invited comment, but he was silent. She turned to look at him. He was lying on the divan staring dreamily up at the ceiling. He was in his shirt sleeves. His coat hung over the back of a nearby chair. She knew that it would be grasped hurriedly when the Gardners' car stopped before the door.

"Do you know, Wallace, that a trip to Europe would be very silly?" His eyes turned from the ceiling to Irma without losing a fraction of their lazy dreaminess. "Everybody's most ardent wish is more or less silly," he said.

"Yes, but don't you see, Wallace, we're not in a position to throw money away. We're people with responsibilities."

"I know. I've always had responsibilities." He sat upright on the divan and faced her. His eyes were grave now and rather sad, as though Wallace had scattered their dreams by his swift, sudden gesture.

"I was thinking," she said, "that you've never really explored New York. We could have a week there for about two hundred and fifty dollars that you'd never forget."

"A week!" he said scornfully. "I'm having six weeks' vacation."

"Exactly. If you go to Europe you'll be on the go for six solid weeks. You'll go back to the office dead tired and broke. If you do things my way you'll have a marvelous time and plenty of rest and a nice nest egg besides."

He shook his head. "I'll have plenty of rest when I'm dead."

"I was thinking," Irma added artfully, "that if we weren't going to Europe you could get Mildred a coat like Jane Malcolm's. She'd love to have one."

"What kind of a coat?"

"Raccoon."

"Well, they're not very high. We could manage."

"O, but there's raccoon and raccoon. Mildred wouldn't want a cheap one."

"Wouldn't she? Then she's out of luck. I don't believe in dressing a girl beyond her father's means. I think that's why the Malcolms have always liked Mildred. Because she's not the type to try and ape Jane. She wears clothes that are compatible with my salary."

"Sometimes," breathed Irma, but Wallace didn't hear her, for the Gardners' car had arrived and he was busily slipping into his coat and trying to look hospitable and dignified.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Invalid Desires Wheel Chair.

"I am the mother of a 3½ months old baby. Her arrival has left me practically an invalid, and I find it hard to take care of her without a wheel chair. My husband has been out of work for months and we find it impossible to purchase one. If you can secure this for me through your column, preferably one with the foot rest split in the center, I would deeply appreciate it. H. B."

Can you make this woman's burden lighter by giving the wheel chair you have been able, happily, to discard? Taking care of the baby would be greatly simplified with one.

October Is Ideal Time to Walk in the Country with Your Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"In the spring," runs the worn out quotation, "a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." Also to poems. With spring we always get a flood of poetry. And no one thinks hard of the poets. But when we, editorially, begin again to talk about the delights of October and the things you can do in that month, we feel a little repetitious. But we, again editorially, are going to do it, just the same.

This last summer was the hottest continually of any experienced by this country in many years. It meant that many people didn't do the things they normally would. As for walking, real walking, it wasn't possible.

But now October is here and it is the ideal month for long, brisk walks, or real walking jaunts. It is the time to start your children with the walking habit, which too few children have.

Many have been brought up in a car, as you might say. If yours have been, emancipate them this fall. Go walking with them and let them learn what a jolly thing it is to do. If you always use an automobile for your outings, now let it take you only part way. Drive to some place where you can safely leave your car and with that as a starting point walk across country, or in woods, or up hilly roads.

Or, if your children are old enough, take a train or surface car to a nearby station out of town. Then, using a road map, or the advice of a walking friend, walk on, coming back from any station you choose or find yourself near.

If this sort of walking seems too ambitious, walk in the parks near where you live. Children usually like an objective, but not necessarily. Some times at first you can work up some other kind of interest to give the walk a fillip.

1,000 Dairy Farmers Meet on the Farm of Ruth H. McCormick

More than 1,000 Illinois dairymen gathered yesterday at the Rock River farms of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick near Byron, Ill., to indulge in a day's program of the state Holstein-Friesian association, which included participation by Dr. L. M. Thompson, Melrose, Pa., president of the national association of the breed.

Four classes of calves and cows were judged in the morning as the farmers gained sufficient appetite to do justice to the barbecue lunch served at noon. Four-H club boys also participated in the judging, which was scored by W. F. Moscrip, Lake Elmo, Minn., and Prof. C. S. Rhode, University of Illinois.

The latter presided over the afternoon session, which included addresses by Mr. Moscrip, Stuart Pierson of the Illinois state department of agriculture, Dr. Thompson, Dr. Robert Graham of the University of Illinois, and H. W. Allyn, host for the day as manager of the Rock River farms.

Food Talk.

We have spoken before of the high price of meat being due to housewives buying only the popular cuts for their tables. It was brought to our attention again by a neighhood butcher—one of the many who is trying to cut the cost of his meats for retail consumption.

Recently, several requests have come to our department for a stuffed veal heart and beef tongue—two delicious meats which are not costly for the average family. In the future, as you shop, ask for them if you want something a little different, and don't forget that as winter approaches you have a great excuse to serve your families nourishing, well-seasoned stews. There is a palatability to a stew with which few other entrées can compete—and, certainly, not outshine. If you need a recipe for any of them—lamb, veal, or whatever you wish—let me know.

But to return to the stuffed heart and tongue, clip these recipes for future reference. I don't know of a cook book on sale today which has a similar recipe for the heart.

CALF OR VEAL HEART.

1 heart.
1 cup of bread crumbs.
¼ cup of butter or substitute.
¾ teaspoon of salt.
⅛ teaspoon of pepper.
½ teaspoon of sage.
½ teaspoon of onion juice, or grated onion.
¼ cup of cold water.

Wash the heart and take out the tough membranes. Let stand in cold salt water fifteen or twenty minutes. Take care that the heart is not cut to pieces or mutilated as you fix it. Mix the other ingredients well for a dressing. Stuff the heart with the dressing, fasten with toothpicks, or tie with a string. Place in a casserole or baking dish with NO water. Lay strips of salt pork over it. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees Fahrenheit] for about two hours. Be careful not to let the heart become dry or hard from too hot an oven. See that the dish is covered tightly, and the pork should keep it moist and soft. Serve in a border of cooked rice and garnish with diced parsley, sliced tomatoes, etc. Beef or lamb hearts may be prepared in the same way.

BRAISED BEEF TONGUE.

Wash a four pound tongue. Cover with water and add the salt, one sliced onion, one carrot, and a little chopped celery. Simmer slowly for two hours. Remove the tongue and take off the skin. Brown one tablespoon of butter; add two tablespoons of flour, and pour on slowly one quart of soup stock. [You may use that in which the tongue was cooked.] Add the carrot, chopped onion, celery, a sprig of parsley, three bay leaves, and one cup of tomatoes. Put the tongue in a covered baking dish or casserole, pour the above over it, and bake in a moderate oven [325 degrees Fahrenheit] for two hours. Strain the sauce at the conclusion of the baking—only about half of it will remain—and serve over the tongue, hot. It may also be served sliced cold, if you wish.

Don't these dishes sound good? They taste even better than they sound!

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' JACKET DRESS.

The jacket dress is an indispensable item in every woman's fall wardrobe, and this is a particularly pretty one. The upper part of the bodice and the jacket facing are of a color contrasting to the dress. The skirt with its curved outline, that starts either side of the front panel, gives that modish flat appearance over the hips.

The pattern, 2968, comes in sizes 14, 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material with 1½ yards of 39 inch contrasting.

Frank G. Logan, vice president of the Art institute, last night celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary at the family home at 1150 Lake Shore drive. Gathered around the birthday cake with its 80 candles with Mr. and Mrs. Logan were their children and grandchildren. And in Mr. Logan's words, the "cake was cut by the prettiest bride of '82."

Mr. Logan, founder of the brokerage firm of Logan & Bryan, came to Chicago in 1870, a year before the great fire. In 1882 he married Mrs. Logan, a daughter of John L. Hancock, twice president of the board of trade during the civil war and a friend of Lincoln. Since his retirement from business in 1901 Mr. Logan has devoted himself to art and science.

Social Season Grows Readily in the Autumn

BY THALIA

We talk about "the season" as though it were some quite definite time, bounded by specific dates on which it starts and ends abruptly, like a convention. Actually, a season doesn't have any definite beginning. It just happens. One after another, the numerous social activities that occupy the fashionable world in the winter time get under way in the autumn. Presently, when they're all going full tilt, we say the season is on. The opening of opera is tacitly considered the opening of the season, but there are so many things happening before that—this year particularly—that this autumnal season will have a good running start by Nov. 2.

The Woman's Athletic club's fresh-air morning programs are popular features of the winter social routine. There's always well attended, sometimes too well when the subject or the speaker, singer, or dancer, as the case may be, is extraordinarily popular and well propagandized. The first of this year's "mornings" at the W. A. C. will be next Thursday, and Mr. Robert Wilberspoon, the new director of the opera's artistic affairs, is to speak on "Music as an Influence in Modern Conditions."

After the lecture at 11 o'clock, the visitor, the members and their guests informally lunch in the club's pleasant dining rooms.

Libby Chase Finds Her Travel Pictures Are Popular.

Mrs. Laflin is having a group of the young marrieds, many of whom didn't feel that they could quite afford the $10 for tickets to see the pictures the last time. Miss Chase made the pictures while traveling, largely by air, with Alicia Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patterson.

Helen Rend Studies Nature for Musical Inspiration.

Don't be surprised to see Helen Rend in the small animal house of the Lincoln park zoo one of these days, watching the anthropoids' antics in fascinated absorption. She plans to get inspiration that way for the music she's writing for the monkey ballet in the Junior league's presentation of "The Strange Adventures of Dr. Doolittle."

She's also writing a flute solo for Dr. Doolittle to play, and the accompaniment for a warriors' dance, as well as several other incidental tunes. The Boston and Kansas City Junior leagues are using her "Pinocchio" music for their presentations this winter and the New York league and about eight other eastern ones are to use the music that she wrote for "Treasure Island" in their children's theater performances.

One reason the large charity affairs are managed so smoothly and successfully is the careful organization of the feminine forces that do the preliminary work. For the cradle dance at the Drake on Oct. 31 there is a general chairman, Mrs. Howard Fenton, assisted by two co-chairmen, Mrs. Augustus Eddy and Mrs. Frederick H. Scott, and no less than eleven committees. Mrs. K. V. R. Nicol, Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, Mrs. Warren A. Lamson, and Mrs. Frank Payne are to arrange for the entertainment features; Mrs. Eddy and Mrs. M. FRITZ VON STEUBEN TO VISIT YORKTOWN FOR U. S. CELEBRATION

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

BREMEN, Oct. 7.—Maj. Fritz von Steuben, great-great-grandnephew of Baron von Steuben, who fought in the revolutionary war, accompanied by his wife, sailed today on the Europa as the guest of the United States government for the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Yorktown surrender.

In response to the invitation of President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, Dr. Carl von Siemens, head of the Siemens works; Wilhelm Cuno, president of the Hapag; Fritz Thyssen, Ruhr industrialist, and Dr. Hugo Eckener will sail for New York tomorrow. There they will lecture and participate in round table conferences.

CHICAGOANS ASKING MELLON FOR CASH TO CLEAN POSTOFFICE

The Municipal Art league of Chicago yesterday renewed its campaign to have the exterior of the post office building cleaned for the World's Fair year. Paul Schulze, president, wrote a letter to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, referring to a letter sent almost two years ago

"We wish to again call your attention to the fact that when the post office building was completed in 1904 it was a delight to look at and every Chicagoan was proud of it," he wrote. "The stone is a light granite and the dome was finished in gold. The stone today is black and the gold covered dome is coated with slime.

"Efforts have been made by Congressman Fred A. Britten to have an appropriation made to have the building cleaned but without success. If some one in your department would take an interest, the richest government in the world could surely find money enough to give Chicago a clean federal building while the thousands of people from all over the world will be its visitors."

16 Deaf Preachers Given Bishop's Talk by Sign Language

Sixteen deaf ministers of the Episcopal church from throughout the country gathered yesterday for a three day triennial conference of church workers among the deaf in St. Simon's Episcopal church, 1151 Leland avenue.

Bishop George Craig Stewart addressed the conference at its opening meeting last night through an interpreter, Mrs. G. S. Hyman, superintendent of the Illinois Home for Aged Deaf. She relayed the address to members of the conference by the sign language.

A résumé of the happenings of the recent Episcopal convention in Denver was made by Bishop Stewart. In closing, he said that faith, love and hope will serve as instruments to lead the present civilization out of the current world-wide depression.

The Rev. George F. Flick, pastor of All Angels' mission, led the meeting in prayer, using the sign language. The Rev. O. J. Whildin of Baltimore, president of the conference, made a report of the year's activities.

How Do Nurses Manage?

The strenuous duties of the trained nurse permit little thought of her own physical condition or feelings. There can be no giving-in to menstrual pains! That is the reason why so many nurses use Midol. They know it blocks all possibility of such pain for hours—and nurses know that it is not a narcotic and so is quite safe to take at this critical time.

Midol is not merely a measure of relief—it lets women menstruate in absolute comfort. All pain subsides in seven minutes! All dread of your monthly sickness ends with the happy discovery. Any drug store. Ask simply for Midol.

Lady Caroline Paton After a portrait by Reynolds

The American Woman's only missing charm

MEN of every nation find the American woman fascinating. For she combines the allurements of all women in one.

Clever as she has been, however, there is still one charm she has not acquired—the famous English complexion. The women of England have unrivaled beauty of skin. For fourteen decades they have used Pears' Soap. Get a cake and notice how Pears' generous lather makes your skin glow with delicate color and renewed loveliness. At all drug and department stores—wherever toilet goods are sold, Pears' Soap—unscented 15¢. Scented, a trifle more.

Would Your Hips Be Classified as Slim, Regular, or Large

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You may be able to tell the world that you are a 34 size, still you may have a hip secret that you're not broadcasting. To have a 34 bust doesn't mean you're a perfect 34, it's plain from a chart before me, based on statistics regarding the American figure as compiled by the United States bureau of standards.

Three photographic illustrations grace the page. All size 34. But one proves to be a slim hipped 35, another a 37 hipped lass, and another a full hipped 39. Proving that a 34 girl may come in different sizes—slim, regular, or quite full bloom hip size.

In fact, it is noted by experts that finding the perfectly proportioned silhouette in any girls size—34, 36, 38, 40—is pretty much like finding the cherished pearl in the plate of oysters. It happens once in a long, long time.

Just to give you an idea of how figures, as based upon the aforesaid government bureau findings:

Bust 32—If you're slim hipped you are 32-34 inches there; if hips are regular, they'll measure 35; if full, between 36 and 37.

If bust size is 33—Slim hips, 34-35 inches; regular hips, 36; full, 37-38.

If bust size is 34—Slim hips, 35-36 inches; regular, 37; full, 38-39.

If bust size 35—Slim hips, 36-37 inches; regular, 38; full hips, 39-40.

Bust 36—Slim hips, 37-38; regular, 39; full, 40-41.

Bust 37—Slim hips, 38-39 inches; regular, 40; full hips, 41-42.

Bust 38—Slim hips, 39-40 inches; regular, 41; full, 42-43.

Bust 39—Slim hips, 40-41 inches; regular, 42; full, 43-44.

Size 40—Slim hips, 41-42 inches; regular, 43; full, 44-45.

Size 42—Slim hips, 43-44 inches; regular, 45; full, 46-47.

Some of these hip sizes cannot have anything done about them, if they're bone formation. Many of the full ones can be put to work on a good rolling exercise [which you may have from me for the asking and and the usual stamped, addressed envelope], and be whittled down agreeably.

Women Voters' League Will Meet Saturday; Discuss Unemployment

When members of the League of Women Voters hold their opening meeting for the autumn season Saturday afternoon at the Congress hotel, "Third Winter of Unemployment" will be the discussion topic. The forums will be held on the second Saturday of each month from October through April.

Jacob Billikopf, sociologist and economist, executive director of the Federation of Jewish charities of Philadelphia, and Miss Mollie Ray Carroll, associate professor of social economy at the University of Chicago, will be the speakers at the opening meeting. Miss Carroll has just returned from studying unemployment conditions in Germany.

Mrs. H. N. Tolles is president of the forum group. Current questions of major interest and importance will be discussed at the meetings.

Silk Suit for Wear Under the Fur Coat

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—There are a lot of different periods in costume history mixed up in the new French fashions, and among the best is the suit that takes its inspiration from the Zouave uniform. Suits that have bolero jackets like those of the romantic African soldier are being created to wear under winter coats of wool and fur.

One of these suits is shown in our sketch, and comes from Chantal. It has the Zouave bolero, altered to suit fashion's whim. The jacket and skirt of this suit are made of a new rough basket weave silk in darkest brown, and the jacket is collarless and buttoned right up to the neck in front under silk covered buttons. The sleeves are three-quarters length and flared slightly from the elbows, as shown.

The skirt is cut into six gores that are flared markedly from below the hipline.

The blouse is made of nile green crêpe georgette, and it is embroidered in brown soutache braid, a trimming that has been neglected for long years and now returns to fashion again. This soutache embroidery, which is done by machine, is used to cover the peplum of the blouse, which shows below the short jacket, and it covers the lower part of the full bishop sleeve, which shows below the shorter sleeves of the jacket. Bands of soutache braid embroidery are applied to the top of the sleeve just below the armholes and just above the elbows.

The body of the blouse is perfectly straight, and there is a green leather belt with a jade buckle at the waistline, above the peplum. At the round neck there is a draped bias fold of the georgette, which gives a soft finish.

Forbearance Needed When Dealing with Young Unemployed

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A girl of nineteen reports a constant heckling on her mother's part because of the former's current state of unemployment.

"When I had a job," the girl relates, "I gave my mother three-fourths of what I earned. And I held a job since I was sixteen. Then I lost it. I have tried every way to get another but no luck. I come home to see and live with a face blacker than gloom. You'd think I was responsible for things. Yet I know dozens of girls in my own plight. They can't get jobs any more than I can. Don't mothers understand that if there isn't work, you can't get it? ELSIE."

The other evening on the way home a boy of 18 or 19 held us up to ask if we'd let him hitch-hike as far as we were going. His destination, an uncle's home, was 300 miles beyond. We got into conversation. The boy said that his father had kicked him out because "he wouldn't have any loafer hanging around home." The boy said there wasn't a chance of getting a job in his home town.

"And there wasn't anything to do around home," he added, indicating that his preference would have been some kind of occupation. Possibly there was some romancing in his tale, but he named off town after town and state after state through which he'd tramped and hitch-hiked looking for work. With some bravado, he told how he'd got in with fellows here and there along the road who'd treat him to a roof at nights when they had the money.

Inquiry about how these others would have money, the youth volunteered that one he met with was a gangster, because he saw his picture in the paper later and the caption identified him as one of a bad gang.

"He was a good sort at that," the youth testified. "He put me up at (naming a hotel) where I got the first good sleep I'd had since I left home." But this was what came out of the mouth of the young fellow that arrested my attention: "You know a lot of boys are going crooked because they're kicked out of home without a cent and you've got to eat, and there isn't any work."

Surely, it's a time for parents to realize that the young unemployed are innocent victims of the current situation. That the very restlessness of youth, its easy disposition to waywardness when denied proper channels of activity—calls for an understanding sympathy and whole-hearted concern.

Babies GAIN when bowels are strong, regular!

BABY isn't gaining his six or eight ounces a week? Constipation may be the reason. It is behind most of a baby's troubles. Colic. Fretfulness. Gas. It keeps Baby from accepting or retaining the proper amount of food.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. It is a prescription for the bowels written by a famous doctor—one who attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby—a record believed unique in American medical history.

Half a teaspoonful of this simple prescription often relieves occasional troubles like that in a few hours. If Baby is bottle-fed or for any other reason is regularly constipated, give half a teaspoonful daily until the little fellow is happy; gaining as he should.

The pleasant, syrupy flavor of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin commends it to children. Its gentle action makes it ideal for women. It doesn't sicken. It cannot gripe. So it is a blessing to elderly people. And it is thoroughly effective for the most robust man. All druggists.

N. U. SEEKS FULL BACK TO REPLACE REB RUSSELL

HANLEY TRIES OUT OLSON AND MOORE AT POST

Lack of a Plunger Worries Purple.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

Northwestern's Wildcats still have four hands up for the game against Notre Dame at Soldiers' field Saturday despite the irreparable loss of Jo Russell, chief ground gaining ace against the Irish last fall. Russell is definitely out of this game and probably, rather than possibly, out for the remainder of the season. Physicians called his rib injury a greater deterrent to future play than the vertebra dislocation.

In this attitude of the Purple, which a soldier might choose to call brave, which it is not, there is determination rather than overconfidence. Every man on the squad knows what the loss of Russell means in a back field which already contains two sophomores, and now will contain one, with a junior as the fourth back.

Same Psychology as in 1930.

Perhaps in justice to Hanley's men we should say their psychology is much the same as one year ago, when Rentner, with his passing, was unable to play against the South Bend-ers, yet the squad as a whole gave one of its greatest games of the year only for two costly fumbles.

Coach Hanley, asked the effect of Russell's absence, replied: "It is the toughest sock we could get. Every man on the squad feels that way. But we're not going to moan. The boys are game to the core. It's that kind of a team. That's why I expect them to take handicaps as they have faced them before. Whether or not they win, I think no Purple alumnus will complain of their efforts."

Northwestern's first string indulged in a scrimmage yesterday in the two hour practice session at Dyche stadium, which lasted until the arc lights were necessary. There were weaknesses shown against Nebraska which signified scrimmage, but Coach Hanley need take no more chance of injuries with his available candidates. Instead, it was defense drill against ground passes, which are expected Saturday, although not used much by the Irish against Indiana.

Olson Takes Russell's Place.

While this drill was in progress Hanley himself was trying to fashion a new back field in which Olson took the place of Russell. This big sophomore, best punter of the squad, has not the drive of Russell as a plunger. He has been regarded more as a runner. He can throw passes, but he lacks the experience of conference competition. Even if he had that experience, moreover, he was a substitute for Russell and Northwestern's attack power is weakened just that much.

In case the probable back field combination is Potter at quarter, Rentner at right half, and Meenan at left half or fullback, with Olson in the full back role. So desperate is the need of a plunger, however, if Olson should be injured, that Hanley was trying to

N. U. PASS PLAYS BAFFLE DEFENSE AT NOTRE DAME

Scrubs Gain with Purple Offensive.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 7.—Although Reb Russell, Northwestern's battering full back, will not play against Notre Dame Saturday afternoon at Soldiers' field, the absence of the Wildcat veteran has not changed Hunk Anderson's battle plans. Nor has Russell's injury caused the varsity to become overconfident.

"Northwestern has replacement strength," Anderson told the Notre Dame players at noon practice today. "It's a well coached squad. You may be certain that Dick Hanley has prepared a substitute for every position who can carry on."

With this word of caution Anderson continued the lecture on defensive assignments for Northwestern's attack.

Harper Regrets Loss.

Jesse Harper, athletic director, voiced regret that Russell would not be able to play against Notre Dame.

"Whether Notre Dame wins or not," Harper said, "I would have been more satisfied if Northwestern had been able to send its greatest strength against us. I know that Dick Hanley and Tug Wilson felt the same way when Lukats was lost to Notre Dame by injury.

"The game Saturday will be one of the best of the year. The victor may go on to an unbeaten record. It is unfortunate that each team has lost a star player."

Russell's loss now has placed Northwestern in the same position as Notre Dame. Each back field will have one veteran. Marchmont Schwartz will carry the responsibility of steadying the Irish ball carriers, while Pug Rentner probably will be the only experienced player for the Purple.

Lines Are Equal, Hunk Says.

It is Anderson's opinion that the two lines are about equal in strength, which just about makes this football game a toss-up. Errors may hand the decision to the other fellow, and the chances of error are multiplied by the predominance of inexperienced sophomores in both back fields.

Notre Dame's varsity scrimmaged this afternoon against the reserves, which used Northwestern's plays. It was the final hard drill of the week, although tomorrow and Friday there will be full practice schedules of an hour and a half.

The varsity's defense against forward and lateral passes was not particularly effective. Banas and Sheeketski, who back up the line in a box defense, were a bit slow in picking out the pass receivers. Of course, the reserves' line plunging did not gain appreciably. No one expected that such plays would gain against the varsity forwards, which, however, doesn't mean that Northwestern won't have fair success with the same attack. The difference will be that Marvil Riley, Dilley and Weldin are in front of Northwestern's ball carriers.

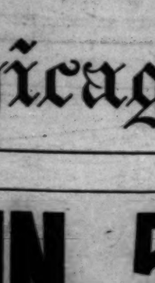
May Start Shock Troops.

Emmett Murphy and Charlie Jaskwich continue their fight for the varsity quarter back position. The rivalry will be settled in the Northwestern game. Both are certain to play.

Notre Dame's shock troops, which did not act in that capacity against Indiana last week for the first time in a decade, may serve again as replacements against Northwestern or they may be shock troops. Anderson hasn't indicated and he probably doesn't want to reveal his plan. At Indiana Anderson did not designate which team would start until after the captains had tossed the coin. But in the Indiana game the varsity was given a bit more work, 40 minutes in all, because they had failed to show the team cooperation so essential to Notre Dame's attack.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.



ROBERT ZUPPKE.

While Notre Dame and Northwestern are sending out football tales that hang blue as the tongue of a baby who has just eaten a fountain pen, you hear little or nothing from Champaign or Lafayette, where preparations are under way for one of the important early season conference games.

Purdue, one of the three Big Ten teams generally picked to have a chance to complete its schedule undefeated, takes on Illinois, seldom weak and always interesting, at Lafayette Saturday.

Coach Zuppke of Illinois gave his team no consideration as a title contender in his forecasts a month ago. He rated the Illini in the last group with Chicago, Iowa and Indiana.

Illinois this year has a team made up largely of sophomores. Ordinarily first year material doesn't make for a championship team. But Zuppke has demonstrated that Illinois is most dangerous when it is represented by boys getting their baptism in big time competition. It was only four years ago that Illinois breezed its way to the Big Ten title with a green squad.

Zuppke always has been the mystery man of Big Ten football. When you think he has a good team, he sometimes disappoints. But when you begin to pass him up in discussions of a possible champion, he is apt to smack you squarely betwen the eyes with startling victories.

If Illinois with its sophomore material can flash back to the heights this season it will deserve a lot of credit. It faces the toughest conference schedule that could be arranged. It will take a team of champions to survive the wear and tear of competition that includes conflicts with Michigan, Northwestern, Purdue, Ohio State, Wisconsin and Chicago.

If there is any truth in the saying that history repeats itself, Northwestern will whip Notre Dame in Saturday's charity game at Soldiers' field.

Notre Dame has won 20 straight football games. It equaled that record once before by going through the seasons of 1919 and 1920 undefeated. Those were the days when George Gipp, Johnny Mohardt, Norm Barry, Dutch Bergman and Joe Brandy were in the newspaper headlines.

It was another great conference team, Iowa, with Aubrey Devine and Duke Slater, that broke Notre Dame's victory skein in 1921. The score was 10 to 7.

And now comes Northwestern, with Rentner and Marvil, to show that what has been done before can be done again.

Notre Dame's record in that 1919-'20 span follows:

1919.		1920.
N. D.	Opponent.	N. D.	Opponent.
14..	Kalamazoo .. 0	39..	Kalamazoo .. 0
60..	Mount Union . 7	42..	Western State.. 0
14..	Nebraska ... 9	16..	Nebraska ... 7
53.	Western Normal. 0	28..	Valparaiso ... 3
26..	Indiana 3	27..	Army 17
12..	Army 9	28..	Purdue 0
13.	Michigan Aggies. 3	13..	Indiana 10
33..	Purdue 13	33.	Northwestern . 7
14..	Marquette .. 6	25.	Michigan Aggies. 0

This victory chain was stretched to twenty in a row with scores of 56 to 0 over Kalamazoo and 57 to 10 over De Pauw in the first two games in 1921.

The present string of twenty straight, which Northwestern has a chance to snap, was compiled like this:

1929.		1930.
N. D.	Oppdnent.	N. D.	Opponent.
14..	Indiana 0	20.	St'n Methodists. 14
14..	Navy 7	26..	Navy 2
19..	Wisconsin .. 0	21.	Carnegie Tech.. 6
7..	Carnegie Tech.. 0	35..	Pittsburgh ..19
20.	Georgia Tech . 6	27..	Indiana 0
19..	Drake 7	60.	Pennsylvania .20
13..	So. California .12	28..	Drake 7
26.	Northwestern . 6	14.	Northwestern.. 0
7..	Army 0	7..	Army 6
		27.	So. California.. 0

Add to that record a 25 to 0 victory over Indiana, which the Irish scored last Saturday, and you again have a chain of 20 consecutive triumphs.

Undefeated seasons are no novelty at Notre Dame. The first was in 1889. There have been 13 since then. The years in which they occurred were 1892, 1893, 1903, 1907, 1909, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1919, 1920, 1924, 1929, and 1930.

WATCH THESE PLAYS SATURDAY

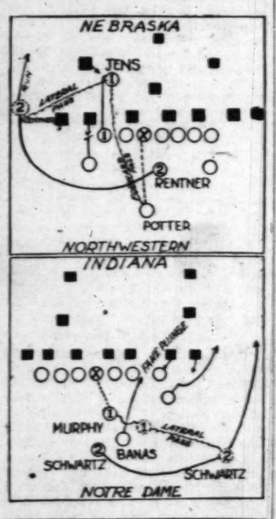
Will one of these football plays win the Northwestern-Notre Dame game Saturday at Soldiers' field?

Northwestern has used this forward pass-lateral pass play to score three touchdowns. This play scored against Illinois and Minnesota last year. It was good for a touchdown by Pug Rentner last Saturday against Nebraska.

In the upper diagram Potter received the ball from center. Jens, left end, went straight down the field a few yards and turned to catch Potter's forward pass. Without hesitation Jens then threw a lateral pass to Rentner. The original forward pass attracted the defensive back's attention and Rentner caught the ball in the open.

Below is the play Notre Dame used to score its third touchdown of the game with Indiana last Saturday. It was a fake plunge into the line, followed by a lateral pass from Murphy to Schwartz, who ran 12 yards for the score.

After the shift, Yarr snapped the ball to Murphy. Banas faked a plunge and then Murphy took a couple of steps to the right and tossed the ball laterally to Schwartz. Indiana's end and tackle were drawn in by the fake plunge and Schwartz outran the secondary defense.



SPARTANS WHIP CLEVELAND, 6-0, FOR 4TH IN ROW

Portsmouth, O., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Portsmouth's Spartans won their fourth consecutive National Football league victory here tonight, defeating the Cleveland Indians, 6 to 0.

Cleveland showed unexpected strength with spinner plays, passes, and deceptive criss-cross plunges to play the home team on even terms for the last three quarters.

Alford led Portsmouth from the 20 yard line late in the first quarter to Cleveland's one yard line as the period ended. Lumpkin scored after three tries in the opening minutes of the second quarter. Presnell's attempted place kick went wide.

30,000 TO WATCH MATE, SUN BEAU BATTLE FOR CUP

Stars of Turf Clash at Hawthorne Today.

Gold Cup Field

THE field for the renewal of the $25,000 added Hawthorne Gold Cup at a mile and a quarter to be run this afternoon arranged in the order of post positions is as follows:

Horse.	Weight.	Jockey.	Odds.
Mate	120	A. Robertson	6-5
Sun Beau	126	J. Malben	8-5
My Dandy	126	M. Knight	20-1
Plucky Play	126	B. Hanford	15-1
Brown Wisdom	126	C. Corbett	20-1
Jim Dandy	126	E. James	15-1

My Dandy and Brown Wisdom coupled as Reichert Brothers' entry.

Previous winners of the Hawthorne Gold Cup were:

Year.	Winner.	Time.	Value.
1928	Display	2:03	$20,200
1929	Sun Beau	2:01 3-5	21,900
1930	Sun Beau	2:04 3-5	23,800

BY FRENCH LANE.

Old Hawthorne puts on its most fashionable front of the year today and will entertain a great throng of racegoers at the renewal of its most famous stake event, the $25,000 added Hawthorne Gold Cup. It is expected that 30,000 will watch the race.

Overnight six were named to fight for the rich prize, which in other years has determined turf championships. A careful handicapping system shows that the race today may be strictly a two horse affair between old Sun Beau, the world's money winning champion, and Mate, mighty 3 year old, which for the first time in his spectacular racing career is to go against older horses.

Mate Is Slight Favorite.

Last night Mate, the youngest horse in the race, ruled as the favorite at 6 to 5. Sun Beau was at 8 to 5. You could write your own ticket on the others, which included the noted mud horse, Jim Dandy, Plucky Play, the winner of two $25,000 stakes in Chicago this season, and Brown Wisdom and My Dandy, which will race as an entry.

Unless there is more rain, the track will be lightning fast. So there will be no excuses for any of the overnight eligibles. Even Jim Dandy, which beat Gallant Fox once upon a time, ran a smashing race over a lightning fast Hawthorne course a few days ago.

The Gold cup is at a mile and a quarter.

Scale Weight Rules.

The race is at scale weight, which means that the older horses were in at 126 pounds and the 3 year olds at 120. Mate is the only youngster in the field, hence Sun Beau was meeting some of his former rivals for the first time this season at even poundage.

While six were named overnight, it seemed probable that only five would go. The Reichert brothers named both My Dandy and Brown Wisdom, and were expected to scratch one. This would leave Mate, Sun Beau, Plucky Play, Jim Dandy, and a Reichert color bearer to go. The nomination fee was $100, with an additional $500 to start. Thirteen were named originally, so, with a field of five, the stake will have a total value of $28,400. Second place is worth $4,000, third $2,000 and fourth $1,000.

All the Same to Mate.

The weather and track conditions should not affect Mate, for the Bostwick star can fly in any going. A heavy track, however, is not to Sun Beau's liking, but it would play right into all four hoofs of Jim Dandy. It was on a gooey track that Jim upset Gallant Fox and earned the title of "giant killer." Jim looked anything but that in a short race here last week, but on last Saturday was chasing Uncommon Gold across the finish line in the $5,000 Midwest purse.

This was the race in which Sun

Some Day They'll Get a Bar of Soap and Unveil Pep Martin

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 7.—Johnny Martin, the Great Unwashed, with the dirtiest face, the dirtiest hands and the dirtiest uniform in baseball, personally attended to the winning of the fifth game of the world series by the Cardinals this afternoon. The score was 5 to 1, and the score in games now stands at three to two.

WAITE HOYT.

After the ball game the athletes all, with the probable exception of Dirty Face Martin, who always looks the least bit unsanitary, galloped away to the showers to wet down and hop into their clothes for the return trip to St. Louis, where the world series will now continue on time borrowed from the football season. Mr. Martin presumably just powdered himself with coal dust and was ready for the train.

Smacks Homer Off Hoyt.

Dirty Face Martin hit a home run into the left field bleachers in the sixth inning this afternoon, scoring Frank Frisch, who had hit a double. Old Waite Hoyt, the boy prodigy of 1921, who is stumbling to the end of a long career full of years, honors and one thing and another, he being somewhat fond of one thing and another, was pitching for the Athletics at the time.

As the ball sailed into a group of scrambling customers in the upper deck and the young man on his way up to a career swaggered past Hoyt on his way down, Mr. Hoyt gave him a look which was as much as saying, "Have a good time, kid, because you'll come down after a while."

Mr. Hoyt was a rising young man, himself, and just as prodigious in the papers as Martin is today, when he pitched a world series against the Giants at the tender age of 20 in 1921. He has had a lot of cheers and more luck and more fun in his time than most people do. In a dumb way, ball players accept their decline with more grace and philosophy than any other class you might name. They often find themselves all through in their early thirties and bow themselves out smiling.

Martin Ties Hit Record.

Altogether Martin got three hits to bring his total for the series to an even dozen and equal the record of hits by one player in a world series. But when he gets through the only trade he will have to fall back on will be the trucking and odd job trade. Mr. Hoyt is a respectable mortician, with a very fine forty hack trade, and of neat appearance and socially graceful.

He served his time with the Yankees when the boys who didn't pour martinis on their oatmeal were hazed off the club as sissies, and the fact that he strung along to pitch in his seventh world series long after the 9 o'clock lads of his class were dispersed may be some comfort to those who wish to live by the way as they gambol through life. Old Connie Mack does not approve the social habits of such as Hoyt, but when he found himself down to his No. 3 pitcher for today's game he chose the happy embalmer.

At that, Waite pitched a fair journeyman job for the old man. It was subchampionship ball, not good enough to win a world series game from a keyed up club with a wild man hitting fourth in the batting order, but sufficient to have given most teams a wrestle during a league season.

Walberg, Rommel Finish Up.

He was taken for one run in the first inning on hits by Adams and Frisch, and the other two in the sixth when Martin slugged that one into the crowd. Rube Walberg relieved him in the seventh and gave a run in the eighth when Martin hit again to tie the record. Ed Rommel pitched the final inning.

Meanwhile Wild Will Hallahan was pitching along for the Cardinals for six good innings in which Al Simmons touched him for two hits, but nobody else broke through his service. However, he never had such

Martin Admits Babe Ruth's a Pretty Good Batter, Too

Crystal Springs, Miss., Oct. 7.—(AP)—He was born in Temple, Okla., but Pepper Martin, dominating figure of the present world series, served his baseball apprenticeship on the sandlots of Crystal Springs back in the days of the old Tomato league.

He moved to Copiah county with his father and mother while in his early teens. Crystal Springs had baseball fever. Players such Buddy Myers, Joe Edwards, Watson Clark, Jim Lindsey, Horace Lisenbee, and Jim Moore, now with the Athletics; Joe Brennan, and a score of other equally famous names composed the rosters at McComb, Brookhaven, Hazlehurst, and Crystal Springs, the four towns in the league of the tomato belt.

Tells Boss What He Can Do.

Barefoot, hatless and with a wide grin on his face, Martin sat in the office of Roscoe Miles, manager of the Crystal Springs club, wiggled his big toe and told Miles he knew he could play outfield because he could "catch 'em like Tris Speaker," and had an "arm as great as Hornsby's" and could "run sacks as well as Cobb."

Miles, slightly bewildered, looked the lanky lad over and said rather caustically, "And I guess you hit 'em like Ruth." Not in the least abashed, Martin replied: "Ruth hits 'em pretty far," and with a shake of his head added, "but I hit 'em pretty far myself, Mr. Miles." Martin got the job.

In his first appearance in a Crystal Springs uniform, Martin came to bat amid jeers from the stands. He socked the first pitch into center field. He broke for first, rounded the bag and continued for second. Midway he stumbled and fell, and before he recovered, the ball had been retrieved and he was tagged out.

Hey, Where's Pepper?

Two innings later the local dugout was in an uproar. It was Pepper's time at bat again and he was missing. From around the grandstand he appeared, running with a bat in one hand and his shoes in the other, yelling at Manager Miles, "I couldn't run with them durn spikes on my feet." He rattled the boxers with a hit a minute later and by a great run and a marvelous slide stretched the hit into a triple.

Thus from the beginning Pepper Martin was doing spectacular things on a baseball diamond.

His confidence, or rather his appreciation of his ability, is expressed in a bit of repartee credited to Dizzy Dean in New Orleans recently, but which had its origin here. Manager Miles told Martin he would probably get an offer from New York for him, to which Pepper replied, "Well, if they offer you money and a player, it better be Babe Ruth."

FRONK HAS ONLY BROKEN CHEEK BONE; IMPROVES

Willie Fronk, widely known jockey of Lexington, Ky., severely injured on Tuesday night when he attempted to ride a wild steer at the rodeo in the Chicago Stadium, was reported greatly improved last night at the West Side hospital.

Fronk suffered a splintered cheek bone when the wild steer threw him. He will be released shortly from the hospital and will be able to resume riding in races at the Hawthorne track within a few days, physicians predicted.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 7.—John Pepper Martin still is carrying on as the untamed hero of the 1931 world series and the St. Louis Cardinals are only one victory away from the world's baseball championship.

John the Pepper rose to new heights today and as he ascended, the titleholding Athletics, cream of the American league, descended. Martin almost single handed cut them down with his bat and made it easy for Wild Bill Hallahan to lead the Cardinals to their third victory in the fifth game of the post-season event, 5 to 1.

Martin Hits Homer, Two Singles.

It wasn't merely a defeat for the American leaguers. It was a brutal whipping, mainly because Martin singled twice and once exploded a homer. The homer tore the heart out of the Athletics and some 32,000 spectators could see them wilt. Wily Old Connie Mack will have to talk long and earnestly to his men to restore their morale before the struggle is resumed Friday at St. Louis.

Martin wasn't long in setting out for a goal which was to carry him into a tie with the few men who have attained 12 hits in a world series. Right in the first inning he began to melt down the seemingly lazy, indifferent 32 year old Waite Hoyt. He hit a wicked liner which sent the Cardinals off to a one run lead. That was nothing. John Pepper and his blacksmith arms hadn't even started.

Knocks Hoyt Out of Game.

The youth who doesn't know enough to stop trying was back again in the fourth. He showed up the Athletics infield by beating out a bunt that wasn't even close. Then in the sixth, with a mate on base, he hit his homer, a ringing drive into the left field second deck. That was the end of everything so far as the Macks were concerned. It also brought on the finish of Hoyt.

When he uncorked that decisive homer Martin rang up his eleventh hit of the series. He needed another to reach a mark previously touched only by Joe Jackson, Buck Herzog, and Sam Rice. He got it. He singled in the eighth to drive in a run against Rube Walberg, who was one of two pitchers dragged into the fight by Mack after Hoyt had been dragged out. Thus the only run John Pepper Martin didn't pound over the plate was one his mates scored against old Eddie Rommel in the ninth.

Hallahan Gets Comfortable Lead.

Hallahan wasn't quite the pitcher he was when he toyed with the Macks by yielding three hits in the second battle of the series last Friday. But he was just about that good until after Martin's homer gave him an imposing 3 to 0 lead.

For the first six innings, when serious work was necessary, Hallahan was so masterful that only two hits

Cards Narrowly Escape Wreck as Car Crashes

Paradise, Pa., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Possible accident or delay to the special train bearing the Cardinals to St. Louis to resume the world's series was averted by quick action tonight after an automobile smashed through a guard rail to the railroad tracks, killing two occupants of the machine.

P. E. Beane, who lives near the scene of the accident, telephoned a towerman eastward, who routed the Cardinals' train to another track. The automobile crashed to the tracks after a blowout sent it careening into another machine. The victims were Lou Goldstein and M. M. Beck.

New York, Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Frank E. Brown, who did so well a year ago with Starpatic, now appears to have another highly useful thoroughbred in Condescend, winner today at Jamaica of the Belgrade claiming stakes. Condescend is a castoff from the string of George D. Widener, but Mr. Brown has patiently brought the son of Snob II. and Yankee Princess along until he is a formidable sprinter in the second flight.

Last Monday Condescend won in smart fashion after interference, so that the score yesterday was his second in succession. The purse to the winner was $2,145. There were not a great many who backed the colt today because he was stepping up into better company, and as a result he went to the post at 5 to 1.

The entry of E. F. Hanford's Polygamous and Joe Edward's Hibala was made the favorite at 11 to 5, and George L. Arvin's Sonnelli went to the post the second choice at 16 to 5. Under steady support for those competitors, Condescend was not deemed to have any the best of things, yet he got home six lengths the best of Sonnelli. Half a length back of Sonnelli, Gildelia crossed the line and the order after that was Pennate, Hibala, Jamison, Polygamous and Squeaky.

30,000 to See Hawthorne Cup Today

Beau failed to turn on the power, a race that his stable connections say he needed to put him on edge for today's test. Jim Dandy had a big pull in the weights in that race. He is even up with Sun Beau today.

May Be Sun Beau's Last.

The Cup may be Sun Beau's farewell to racing. It was announced earlier in the year when he clinched the money winning title that this would be his last year of racing. Now it is understood that owner Klimer wants him to go out with a smashing victory to close his record, and that if recovery is not forthcoming in the Gold cup he will be sent on, perhaps in a late fall stake in Maryland.

Mowris, a Gold cup eligible which declined the issue, won the Coldstream purse which featured the program at Hawthorne yesterday. He came up in the stretch with a mighty drive at the end of a mile and a sixteenth battle and passed Ululniu in the late stages to win going away by two lengths. Listo finished third.

Failed as Favorite.

A few days ago Mowris was a prohibitive favorite in an overnight handicap, but failed to accomplish anything. That race put Mowris on edge and J. H. Manheimer, who bought the 3 year old son of Luculiite at the recent Rancocas dispersal sale, probably regrets that he didn't name Mowris overnight for the Gold cup.

In the mutuels Mowris paid $10.04 to win. His time was 1:47 1-5.

DERRINGER WILL BEAT A'S FRIDAY, SAYS MR. STREET

Of Course, Martin May Help Some.

Aboard the Cardinals' special train en route to St. Louis, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, rolling homeward to Sportsman's park for the fifth game of the world series Friday, were early to bed tonight.

Gabby Street, dusting the fire from a battered black pipe after dinner, led the way after announcing that Paul Derringer, right hand rookie beaten by Lefty Grove in the first game, would pitch the sixth game.

"One Game," Says Gabby.

Gabby had turned in by 8 p. m. and shortly afterward Burleigh Grimes, who will pitch the seventh game Saturday if the series goes that far, tucked himself away.

"Derringer will beat them, too," Gabby said when he named the rookie. "They're on the run now. It will only be one more and the world championship is ours."

Derringer, although he was forced to have an abcess in his nose lanced two days ago, is ready to work. He pitched an inning in relief against Sloppy Earnshaw yesterday.

The Cardinals were elated, but not boisterously so over their 5 to 1 defeat of the A's today.

"It was that Pepper Martin again. Wasn't he great?" Gabby demanded. "Watch that kid. A couple of years from now he'll be filling your stadiums the way Babe Ruth does. He's a natural ball playing marvel."

Pepper, Oklahoma drawl and all, was shed by 10 p. m.

Pepper Is Calm.

"I'm just lucky," he said. "I've been hitting them where they didn't happen to be. It's just my luck."

Martin, lolling about in an open shirt, was quite content and calm about all this fame and glory suddenly descending upon him. He didn't know that he had equaled the world series record for most hits, 12, until a newspaperman told him.

"Golly," he said, "ain't that great? And me I hitting for an average, anyway."

And Pepper, red as a school boy, nervously stuck up before a class to speak, twisted grinning in his seat. Then he finally stumbled off to bed like one so excited he almost stowed himself away in the wrong berth.

Remove Grime and You'll Find Pepper Martin

command as Grimes had Monday or Earnshaw Tuesday, and there were a couple of spells in the last three innings when the Athletics just barely didn't turn the ball game upside down as they did when they were playing the Cubs two years ago.

The world series caravan dropped a great many stragglers in Philadelphia this evening. The novelty is off the show now, and with football coming on the two days' delay in starting the show last week seems more and more unnecessary and mercenary. It was a good party, though, with some of the best pitching ever seen and the gay abandon of Dirty Face Martin, a tough country kid from Oklahoma who said he could hit the best pitchers in the world and did, will be something to remember when the impression of Earnshaw's superb throwing has faded.

Hilbs Stick to Tin Record.

The Hilbs boys, proprietors of the Philadelphia ball club, haven't put themselves out on either of President Hoover's two visits to dignify the occasion. With most professional musicians out of work and with the customers tossing in a daily toll of $10,000 at greatly advanced prices, the Hilbs boys continued to sound the national anthem in cheap and tinny speakers from a phonograph record, apparently the same record that cost them 75 cents three years ago.

Incidentally, at all these ball games when the "Star Spangled Banner" has been played, Sergt. Gabby Street, the manager of the Cardinals, who has soldiered in two wars, is the only man on the field who has known how to stand at attention. His back stiffened, his heels came together and he stood soldierly while the rest of them, players and umpires, fell into a variety of easy attitudes which must have been very offensive to the sergeant's military sense.

The attendance seemed to be off a few hundred head on the last day, but there was rain in the morning and, anyway, it is a strain on the endurance and the emotions to keep from gibbering over a world series when it runs into its second week, as this one now is certain to do.

But for the dashing enthusiasm of Dirty Face Martin, who is young enough and rural enough to regard the world series as the greatest show on earth and himself as a great man, the whole proceedings might have been pretty dull. He saved the party.

DE PAUL TAKES AERIAL DRILL FOR WESLEYAN

If yesterday's intensive drill on passing has any significance, De Paul university's eleven will attack Illinois Wesleyan from the air tomorrow night at Mills stadium in the opening home game of the season for the Blue Demons.

Nat Staffen and Eddie O'Brien were the best passers. It was O'Brien's pass to Harry Condon which scored the only Blue Demon touchdown against North Dakota. The bulk of the passing was done by Vin Flood, Vern Molat, Eddie Lyons, and Condon.

Johnny O'Brien, tackle, still is on the sick lines with an injury. Johnny Nelson, another sophomore, may get the position due to his play during the last two days' practice.

There may be another shift in the backfield by starting Art McGivern at left back. Art is a veteran and a worker of more than average ability.

MOON MULLINS—"EXCUSE MY SMOKE"

Cards Defeat A's, 5-1; Need One More Win

were encountered. It was Al Simmons who delivered both. It was Simmons who delivered again in the seventh when the Macks scored a run which could have been stopped at the plate if Andy High had wanted to play it that way, and it was the same Simmons who, with two on in the eighth, paid for his previous fun. He failed when a hit might have started the crestfallen Macks back into the ball game.

Sparky Adams was in there only for a moment, but it was long enough to get the Cardinals started on their one run in the first inning. The tiny veteran crashed a single between Dykes and third. Dykes dove, trying to halt its flight, but didn't even come close. Adams raced down to first, started for second and changed his mind. The halt was so sudden that he gave his weak ankle a twist and he had to retire in favor of High.

Martin's Fly Brings in Run.

Watkins failed in an attempt to bunt and then sent an easy fly to Miller. Frisch flied low and short to left center. Both Haas and Simmons staged desperate dashes, but were short of their goal. Haas picked up the ball and whipped it to third, but not soon enough to catch High. Dykes shot it back to Williams at second, but Frisch was already there.

The nonstopping Pepper Martin then made good use of his new post in the batting attack. He hit one, but not safely. Simmons had to back up to the left field wall to get it, and there was no chance to prevent High from scoring after the catch. Simmons was content to hold Frisch at second. Hafey's grounder to Williams relieved Hoyt of further worry for a few minutes.

Cards Threaten in Second.

Hoyt had something on his hands again in the second. Bottomley proved that he still is in the series and still a threat, by hitting a single between Foxx and Bishop. Wilson fled to Miller and Gelbert forced Sunny Jim. A double play was missed by inches. Then Williams gave the Philadelphia partisans an attack of heart failure. He picked up Hallahan's grounder, juggled it, and then started slapping at it like a man swatting a mosquito. He did this so long that he lost Bottomley at second, but Hallahan, not expecting any such delay, had moved leisurely to first and Williams, after recovering, still had time to throw him out.

It wasn't the fault of Simmons that the Macks didn't get back on even terms with their foes in the second. The batter who made Milwaukee famous led off by looking at one pitch and then pounding the ball on a line to right center for two bases. Foxx was the next batter, but this didn't disturb Hallahan. He stopped the home run artist with a grounder to High, who made the throw to first after driving Simmons back to second.

Simmons Tries Martin's Stuff.

Simmons then followed with a bit of aggressiveness patterned after the dashing work of the now famous Pepper Martin. Miller bounced high to short and for a moment it seemed as if the ball wouldn't come down in time to keep Miller from turning it into a lucky hit, but Gelbert reached it, pegged to first, and got his man. Meanwhile Simmons, thinking he might catch the Cards napping, went tearing into the plate, but Bottomley relayed perfectly to Wilson and Simmons was out.

Pepper Martin was back in action with one of his outstanding contributions in the fourth. He led off with a bunt toward first and like a rifle shot was on his way. Foxx picked up the bunt and stabbed blindly toward the base line, but the fleeting figure was gone. It was his tenth hit of the series. Hafey flied out, but Bottomley got another single to right. Martin tearing to third ahead of Miller's throw in. It wasn't Hoyt's fault that he escaped in this instance. Wilson banged one squarely, but it whistled straight to Bishop, who whipped the ball to first for a double play before Bottomley could get back to the bag.

Simmons had another of his devastating swings in the fifth, and for the second time the Macks thought they had Hallahan tottering. Simmons let go with his second hit. It was a drive straight at Hallahan's shins and it caromed into left for a single. When Wild Bill, who until this point hadn't been living up to his name, handed a pass to Foxx there was some fear that the bump against the southpaw's shin had taken effect.

Hallahan Fans Williams.

Hallahan got a break an instant later when Miller, in attempting to sacrifice, bunted a line foul to Bottomly. Sunny Jim also caught a tall foul, which was the best Dykes could produce. Then Hallahan got himself back into a fix by another lapse of control. He ran the count 3 and 2 on Williams and then showed that he was only kidding. The next pitch was right through the heart of the plate and Williams swung powerfully, but not in the right place.

Before Go Get 'Em Martin could furnish his crowning achievement in the sixth there had been a little action on the part of Frisch. With Watkins out of the way, Frisch poked a low bounder past the diving Dykes, close to third. Frisch was on second by the time Simmons, after digging the ball out of the bull pen, threw it back.

Hoyt threw one strike to Martin. It didn't disturb Martin's confidence. The next pitch was the one he sent away. It wasn't a fly. It was a drive. It was still rising when it bumped against a hastily vacated seat upstairs in left field. Simmons, playing under it, knew what it was when it started. He didn't take the trouble to turn around for a free look. There were congratulations at the plate, when Pepper arrived in the wake of Frisch, but from the crowd there was mostly silence. Martin isn't appreciated here.

Simmons Allowed to Score.

Simmons came up with one out in the seventh, swung with a 3 and 1 count, and singled over short for his third hit. Foxx's drive bounced off Hallahan's shoulder and rolled past Frisch, who tried to turn back after starting to cover second. Simmons went to third on the hit. Miller bounced to third and High could easily have tossed out Simmons, but he let him score and took a long chance by throwing to second for a possible double play. Foxx was forced, but Miller wasn't doubled. Then Dykes singled, but Williams popped to Frisch.

The Cards' eighth, like several previous innings, belonged to Pepper. Walberg fanned High and walked Watkins, who lost no time adding another stolen base to the Cards' series total. Frisch was put out of the way on a long foul fly to Moore, but Martin, needing one to tie the all time series records for hits, singled through short to score Watkins. Then Martin tried to carry on by stealing second, and the crowd actually booed him because he failed.

Simmons' biggest chance of all came in the A's eighth and in the pinch Hallahan mastered him for the first time. After two were out Moore beat out a high bounder and Cochrane singled off Bottomley's glove. This was no easy spot for the Cardinal southpaw, but Simmons grounded gently to High, who touched third to close the inning.

Cards Add One in Ninth.

By the time the Cardinals got around to their final run in the ninth the whole show was conceded to be pretty much of a rout. Hafey led off with a single which eluded Dykes and was forced on Foxx's neat pickup of Bottomley's drive. Then Wilson added to Rommel's distress by singling to right and Gelbert singled to left to drive in Bottomley. In the Macks' last stand Foxx beat out a bunt and with two out Williams' short fly fell in center for a single. But Hallahan concluded his work impressively. He fanned Boley, a pinch batter.

SAINTS PROLONG SERIES; DEFEAT RED WINGS, 9-3

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—The St. Paul Saints came to life here today, after the Rochester Red Wings had taken a 4 to 1 lead in games won in the little world series, to triumph, 9 to 3. Rochester, International league champion, needs only one more victory to clinch the league title.

Leaders in Randolph Loop in Easy Matches Tonight

The leaders in the Randolph Bowling league, the Mineralites, S. & L. Motors, and the Walter Birk Candy, have comparatively easy matches tonight. The Mineralites meet the Ace Arcades, who seem to be fairly strong. S. & L. Motors bowl Wagner Hanson, who have lost nine straight, and the Birks tackle the Al Wagners. Adolph Carlson still leads in the individual averages with 216.

4 Trains Shift Series Scene to St. Louis

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 7.—Four special trains pulled the baseball people toward St. Louis, where the world series will be resumed with the sixth game Friday. The Cards and Macks, each in their own train, departed immediately after the game. The caravan restricted to writers moved out at 5 o'clock and the baseball officials followed them in another section.

President Tom Shibe of the Athletics is reported to have exploded with a number of words because the newspaper men informed him that the press room had been taken over by outsiders who had been given entrance buttons by the club. But the newspaper men won their point.

Connie Mack tried everything in the way of pinch hitters. He was desperate enough to use one for Bishop when there was nobody on and one out in the sixth. He picked McNair, who fouled to Wilson. McNair went to second. At the same time Simmons moved to center to supplant Haas and Moore went in at left.

Bottomley put on a circus play in the fourth. He charged down the right field line, pulled in Bishop's pop foul, rolled over a few times and came up with the ball.

Martin is an accommodating person. He held up play in the second half of the seventh by going to the center field pavilion to autograph a half dozen programs for ardent bugs.

Hoyt's appearance today probably was his last in an Athletic uniform. Mack is said to be peeved at the veteran because of his inclination not to take his job seriously.

The Cards have stolen bases with such ease that even the slow fellers aren't afraid to put Cochrane's arm to the test. Wilson singled off Walberg to start the seventh and immediately made a dash for second. Cochrane's throw nailed him, but by such a slim margin that Wilson thought the umpire had erred.

Rebholz Gets 3 Touchdowns in Scrimmage

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—An hour of scrimmage showed the Wisconsin football squad in the best form of the year today. Working against freshmen opposition, the varsity smothered Auburn plays with few exceptions and tore through the line for long gains.

Rebholz went off tackle for three touchdowns, while Schneller hit the line for big gains. Kabat and Smith were conspicuous on defense.

BUCKEYE FRONT CHANGED

Columbus, O., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Changes were made in the Ohio State varsity lineup today following a hard scrimmage with the freshmen against Vanderbilt plays. Coach Sam Willaman moved Delich, promising sophomore center, to tackle to replace the injured Baumgarten, while Tansky, a second string guard, went to the other tackle.

Nasman was shifted from end to center.

During the workout today, Fuggitt, one of the best punters, received a sprained ankle.

INJURIES HIT GOPHERS

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Old injuries to Minnesota football players cropped up today to weaken the Gopher team, training here for its intersectional game with Stanford at Palo Alto, Saturday.

With Quentin Burdick, half back, definitely out of the starting lineup, Coach Fritz Crisler's worries were increased today when Jim Dennerly, guard, went on the shelf with a wrist injury.

Canny Nuthatch Stores Food for Its Winter Needs

BY BOB BECKER.

"A peanut vendor," emulating the snappy dance number of that name, has appeared among the birds in our neighborhood and he, apparently, is as busy as the original Cuban dispenser of peanuts.

A few mornings ago we sat on the lawn with a pair of binoculars in order to check the migrating birds, which were having a great time among the trees and shrubs. There were lots of migrating sparrows on hand and, occasionally, we could hear the high, shrill, and somewhat plaintive whistle of the white throats.

In a big yard next door a number of whitethroats and a few grackles were fighting over what looked to be a lot of broken acorns. Suddenly a nuthatch swooped down from a hickory tree among the feeding birds, picked up something and flew away. Then we strolled over to see what all the fuss was about. On the ground was a general sprinkling of shelled peanuts. As we turned away the nuthatch appeared again, snatched a peanut and flew to an oak.

Then we watched his operations. He was "vending" peanuts all right, but the ultimate consumer is going to be himself [unless the squirrels find them]. This bird, who stays with us all through the winter season, was hiding the nuts in crevices in the bark of trees, which will be his hunting ground this fall and winter.

When this nuthatch figured that he had stowed the nut away in a perfect hiding place, back he came to the supply and repeated the stunt.

Cripples Return at Lindblom for Hyde Park Game

With the only two players who were injured, Wilbur Uhrig and Bill Beilfuss, back on the squad, Coach Moore of Lindblom sent it through a lively workout yesterday afternoon for the opening of its title defense Saturday afternoon against Hyde Park.

Red Grange of the Chicago Bears and Edward Steeve, former Golden Gloves champion, will appear this afternoon and tonight in a benefit performance at Tilden Tech. Steeve will referee a bout between two Tilden boxers, while Grange will deliver a speech on sportsmanship.

"For a small private school Chicago Latin has a promising football team this season," writes Manager Leonard S. Florsheim Jr. "The squad will make its debut against Parker on Chicago Latin's field, California avenue and Addison street, Friday afternoon."

One of the most interesting battles of the Catholic league this season is expected when De Paul academy meets St. Mel in a charity game at Loyola field the night of Oct. 16. Proceeds will be donated to the Convent of the Cenacle, 513 Fullerton parkway.

Two games will be played in the South Suburban league Saturday. Bloom will meet Thornton at Harvey, while Kankakee and Thornton Fractional will play at Calumet City.

Students Hold Rally Tonight for Maroons

Coach A. A. Stagg sent the Chicago squad through the heaviest scrimmage of the season yesterday in preparation for the 20th Michigan-Chicago game at Ann Arbor Saturday.

After today's final practice the team will dine together and assemble for a send-off pep session on Stagg field. Coaches Stagg and Page and Capt. Sam Horwitz will address the squad and the student body around a bonfire and at 9:30 the crowd will move across the street to the new field house for the corner stone ceremony. President Hutchins will officiate at the stone celebration and the speakers will be Stagg and Lawrence Whiting, former "C" man.

Since the first Michigan-Chicago game in 1892 the Wolverines have won 13 and the Maroons six, the S. A. T. C. game in 1918 not having been played under conference rules. The Chicago squad will entrain for Ann Arbor tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Stagg will learn today whether two of his best backs will be available this season. Pat Page Jr. took his final German examination yesterday and will know today whether he earned the grade which will make him eligible. Lou Kanne will get his final grade in public hygiene. Paul Stagg's condition is still so dubious that Kanne or Wallace may start against Michigan, with Sahlin calling signals.

MICHIGAN BACKS STAR

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Michigan's regular quartet of backs, plus De Baker and Schmidt, crashed through a team of freshmen almost at will tonight after Coach Harry Kipke had threatened them with demotion to the second squad.

Today's workout found all three quarter backs, Newman, Tessmer, and Westover, doing only light work, Westover having been added to the casualty list by an infection. Harold Lindsay, fourth string quarter back ran the team most of the afternoon. Schmidt was the plunging star, however, and gave promise of stepping into Cox's place as reserve full back.

ILLINI USE PURDUE PLAYS

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—For the second consecutive afternoon, Coach Bob Zuppke today ordered scrimmage between the freshmen and varsity, with the yearlings using Purdue formations the Illini expect to meet Saturday at Lafayette.

Art Schultz and Ed Snavely, with Casey Straw, another possibility, are being groomed for full back. Ed Schalk, who was injured in the St. Louis game, is still favoring his leg and is not expected to see much service in the conference opener.

Dave Cook, the sensational sophomore half back, rejoined the squad this afternoon after resting since Saturday. Gil Berry rested today, but is expected to be with the squad tomorrow. Trainer Matt Bullock said.

Bill Charle, reserve half back, received a fractured left shoulder during scrimmage today while playing with the first team. Charle was kept out of action last year because of a broken ankle.

PURDUE PERFECTS DEFENSE

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Purdue is expecting Illinois to use a running offense here Saturday in the opening Big Ten game, and, as a result, this afternoon's workout consisted largely of a defensive scrimmage, with the freshmen impersonating Berry and Cook, the Illini stars.

It was the last scrimmage for the Boilermakers before the game that will determine whether Purdue can retain its title hopes. Coach Noble Kizer announced that only light workouts would be held tomorrow and Friday.

MILLS PLAY FLORALS.

The Mills baseball team will invade Shewbridge field for a double header with the Duffy Florals, Chicago Semi-pro league champions, Sunday.

ARMY, NAVY PLAY CHARITY GAME IN NEW YORK DEC. 12

Weather, Expense Rob Chicago of Contest.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Chicago lost its fight to take the Army-Navy football game for charity to the middle west today when it was definitely decided to play the game in New York on Dec. 12.

The decision in favor of New York was prompted, according to Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, superintendent of the naval academy, by the fact that the weather in New York on Dec. 12 probably will be more adaptable for football than in Chicago.

Schools to Distribute Funds.

Another reason, Rear Admiral Hart said, was that it would cost about $200,000 to transport the student bodies of the two academies to Chicago, thereby taking a considerable slice out of the funds which are to go to charity.

Under the agreement reached today, the proceeds of the game, which are expected to exceed a half million dollars, will be distributed by the heads of the naval and military academies. Each institution is to get half the net proceeds. Last year the Salvation Army was given the money derived from the game.

Britten Pleads for Chicago Poor.

Representative Fred A. Britten of Illinois, who conferred today with Rear Admiral Hart, said that he had presented the need of Chicago for a portion of the gate receipts. According to Mr. Britten, Rear Admiral Hart promised to give due consideration to Chicago in allotting the funds he will distribute, although he expects to make no decisions for more than two months.

YANKEE STADIUM DONATED.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Use of the Yankee stadium for the December charity football game between the Army and Navy has been donated by Jacob Ruppert, president of the New York Yankees, Maj. P. B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at West Point, announced today.

Fleming at the same time announced that Army athletic officials would confer with Navy representatives early next week and that after that conference full arrangements for the game would be made public.

Giants Add 2 Forwards for Bears Game

The New York Giants new football team yesterday added strength to its line for the game with the Chicago Bears Sunday by signing Caywood and Bucklin.

Caywood, former St. John's player, is a National pro league veteran. He weighs 230 pounds. Bucklin, a graduate of Idaho university, weighs 210 pounds. Both are guards.

With the return of Pearson and Carlson to practice, the Bears' line will be intact for the game.

Joe Lintzenich is expected to do most of the punting this season because of his excellent work in the two league games played. Joe has been called upon for nine punts and his average is well over the 50 yard mark.

CARDS FACE PACKERS

The Chicago Cardinals professional football team will go to Green Bay Wis., Sunday and try to stop the rush of the Packers toward a second consecutive National league pennant. The Packers already have triumphed in four straight league games and are again showing the power that carried them to the top during the 1930 professional season.

To further increase the scoring power Coach Ernie Nevers has called on Charles Belden, a star half back of last season. Belden reported yesterday and was immediately given individual instruction in hopes of using him at Green Bay if necessary. Belden is from St. Mary's in California, the alma mater of Frank McNally, another member of the Cardinal team, and is credited with a good change of pace.

SUBURBAN AND CITY APARTMENTS ARE REFINANCED

South Side and La Grange Flats Affected.

BY AL CHASE.

A trio of refinancing loans was filed for record yesterday at the county recorder's office, one on a suburban apartment building and the other two on south side flats. A trust deed for $250,000, five years from Sept. 21, at 6 per cent was secured by the six story apartment building at 6720-30 Jeffery avenue. The site is 124x124.

The other trust deed was for $35,000, five years from Sept. 21, also at 6 per cent. It was secured by the flat building on the east side of Ogleby avenue, 165 feet south of East 67th street, lot 45x179. August West was grantor and the Northern Trust company grantee in both instances.

The suburban refinancing covers the twenty-four flat building at 27 North Bernard avenue in La Grange. A trust deed for $108,000, ten years at 4 per cent, was given. Robert M. McNerly of Western Springs conveyed title by quitclaim deed to the Villa Grange Building corporation, composed of the bondholders. This was an Equitable Bond and Mortgage company project.

Leasing Terms Shown.

Filing of the lease between the Central Manufacturing District trustees and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, whereby the latter will occupy a two story building being erected at 3935-51 South Leavitt street, yesterday disclosed the terms. The A. & P. will pay $14,800 annual rental for five years beginning Jan. 1, 1932.

The E. M. Laird Airplane company, for many years at 83d and Cicero, has leased approximately 15,000 square feet of one story manufacturing space from the Clearing Industrial district at 5321 West 66th street. Various type planes will be constructed there. Hodge, Nicolson & Porter were brokers.

Downtown Transaction.

Title to the twelve story Brooks building at the southeast corner of Jackson and Franklin, 153x100, has been transferred by Richard Saltonstall to Arthur D. Hill, Richard Saltonstall and Leverette Saltonstall, trustees of the estate of Peter C. Brooks. The conveyance was made subject to a lease dated Nov. 15, 1926, for 198 years from Nov. 1, 1926.

Fisher's Bakery, operating three units on the south side, has leased the store at 2210 East 71st street from Meyer Krom for a ten year term at a term rental of $36,900. After extensive alterations the lease will open a bake shop about Dec. 1. M. H. Berkson of Coen-Schrager & Co. was broker.

The residence at 6847 Cregier avenue, lot 50x134, has been sold by Anton F. Hansen to Marie Corbett Cunningham for an undisclosed consideration. Barrett Bros. were brokers.

OUTLOOK FOR STEEL BUYING NOW BRIGHTER

Auto Builders Are Placing Orders.

Although the downward trend of steel and pig iron production is still unchecked, with new low records for the cycle having been made in September, some measure of recovery in the final quarter of the year is now indicated by prospective purchases of automobile steel, rails and line pipe, Iron Age says in its weekly review of the industries.

Youngstown district steel plant operations, due to an upturn in activity in some finishing mills, advanced slightly at midweek to 29 per cent of capacity, compared with 28 per cent at the beginning of the week.

The Ford Motor company is expected to place orders this week for a large tonnage of bars, sheets and strip steel for new models. Other automobile companies, including Chevrolet, have ordered steel for initial production of their 1932 cars. While the trend of automobile output may not be upward before November, the steel companies will benefit from larger sailings this month. The completion of some of the new automobile manufacturing programs is indicated by an order for 25,000 tons of sheets for a builder of bodies.

Inquiries for Rails.

Rail buying, though likely to be delayed by many roads until the pending freight rate case is decided, is expected to be of fair proportions. The Atlantic Coast Line has come into the market for 25,000 tons, and an inquiry from the Santa Fé for 6,000 tons is looked for soon. The Great Western has bought 2,500 tons for immediate laying.

Pipe line business, which was thought to be virtually over for this year, receives fresh impetus from an inquiry for 170 miles of 20 inch gas pipe for the Continental Construction company, which is just completing one line of a two line system from Texas to Chicago.

"Building construction may be stimulated if the plans of the Washington administration are successful in creating easier credit conditions," the review says. "Many construction projects have been held up by difficulties in financing. Moreover, some recent large steel contracts have been affected by legal entanglements. Structural steel lettings in the week were 24,500 tons, of which 8,000 tons is for dirigible dock in California. New building work calls for 26,000 tons of steel."

Ingot Output Recedes.

Production of pig iron and steel ingots declined again in September. The daily output of pig iron last month was 39,964 tons, or 5.7 per cent below the 42,393 tons of August. The decline, however, slowed up, the drop in active blast furnaces of three being the smallest for any month since April. Total output for nine months is 15,019,934 tons, a drop of 41.6 per cent from the corresponding period of 1930.

The September decline in steel ingot production was greater than in pig iron—13 per cent, against 9 per cent in each of the two preceding months. The daily rate of 60,523 tons, though the lowest since 1921, was 22,810 tons a day above the minimum rate in July of that year. In nine months 25,611,736 tons of ingots has been produced, about 37 per cent below the total for the like period last year.

Availability of Power Seen More Important Than Cost

BY SCRUTATOR.

Availability, adequacy, and reliability of power supplies, power companies contend, are more vital items than mere price.

Statistics show that successive reductions in rates over a long period of years when prices of other commodities have been going upward have brought power down to a point where it constitutes no considerable part of either the manufacturer's or householder's expense.

From 1913 to 1930 the price of fuel increased 85 per cent. Wages and taxes rose substantially. And the cost of materials used in constructing electric plants went steadily higher.

And yet the overall average of electric light and power rates remained at approximately pre-war levels, due to technical progress and gains in operating efficiency.

The latest available figures, taken from the U. S. census of manufacturers for 1927, show that in that year manufacturers spent $1,897,000,000 for fuel and all power in making $62,718,000,000 worth of products.

Small Part of Whole Cost.

In other words, the cost of fuel and power on the average was only 3.02 per cent of the value of the product. And this figure includes heat as well as power, because in many cases one is the by-product of the other and it is impossible to segregate them.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company, in a survey on "the migration of industry," found that most frequently the location of plants was determined by markets. Making cheap electric power available in almost any locality has left the manufacturer free to choose his site with reference to markets rather than source of power.

The domestic user, too, has benefited by the increased operating efficiency of electric plants. The average householder's bill today throughout the nation is about $33.40—about 50 per cent greater than in 1914, but he is using more than twice as much current.

Despite business depression the average number of kilowatt hours sold per consumer has increased steadily month by month since 1929. In that year sales of electricity for domestic purposes averaged 500 kilowatt hours per customer at 6.33 cents per kilowatt hour.

In 1930 the average was 548 kilowatt hours per customer at 6.04 cents per kilowatt hour, and for the twelve months ended June 30, 1931, the average was 563 kilowatt hours at 5.93 cents.

Electricity Cost Declines.

The cost of residence electricity, according to National Electric Light association figures, declined 30 per cent from December, 1913, to December, 1930. During the same period United States bureau of labor figures show that the cost of living increased 69.7 per cent.

The steady increase in revenues from domestic users has more than made up for the gradual decline in the traction business. Before the war more than 25 per cent of sales were to traction companies, but in recent years less than 10 per cent have been for such use.

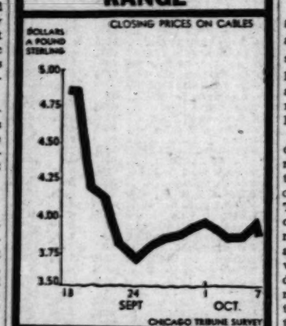
As a result traction concerns are now paying on the average more per kilowatt hour than they paid in 1912. All other classes of consumers throughout the country now pay a much lower average rate than in 1912.

Not only has the number of homes receiving electric service increased rapidly during the last few years, but the number of domestic appliances per home has been greatly enlarged.

At the close of 1929 there were 20,070,783 wired residences in the United States, compared with 15,323,990 four years earlier.

During 1930 the number of electric refrigerators in homes increased from 1,860,000 to 2,625,000, and the number of all electric radio sets grew from 6,700,000 to 10,500,000, according to trade estimates. Other types of appliances showed smaller but still substantial increases.

FOR PAST TWO WEEKS STERLING HAS FLUCTUATED IN A NARROW RANGE



STANDARD OF INDIANA TO LAUNCH LARGE AD, SALES CAMPAIGN

Standard Oil Company of Indiana yesterday announced plans to carry out in the remaining months of 1931 the biggest advertising and sales campaign the company has ever undertaken in so short a period.

"Directors have decided that the way to end the trench warfare with depression is to go over the top in something resembling in a business way what a major offensive is in warfare," the announcement stated.

"Advertising is to lay down the preliminary and prolonged intensive bombardment of gloom and hard times," it added, "and as the barrage prepares the way, the foot soldiers of the sales organization are to follow with a determined onslaught to secure new business."

The campaign will begin Oct. 9 and continue until the middle of December. The main ammunition will be introduction of a new gasoline which the company has been making at refineries for some time and now has at distributing points ready for delivery, but about which the story is not being told in advance of the actual advertising.

Newspaper advertising is to be the main reliance of the campaign. A feature of the motor oil advertising will be use of color ads and rotogravure.

Chicago Stocks Hold Gains; Hoover Plan Well Received

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Chicago stock market held its gains fairly well yesterday, which was almost as encouraging to La Salle street as was the sharp rally which had developed on the previous day in anticipation of the President's announcement of the program for the relief of the country's economic distress.

The momentum of the previous day's upswing was enough to carry many stocks still higher and most of the active shares on the Chicago exchange finished the day with net gains. There was some profit taking, as is customary after constructive news is made public, but there was a noticeable absence of raiding against individual issues. The irregularity which developed in prices on the New York market during the day did not extend to shares here to an appreciable extent.

In Right Direction.

Evidence of the better sentiment engendered by the Hoover proposal was found everywhere. While there was a disposition on the part of veteran traders to adopt a waiting policy and not get too excited about the program, the majority accepted the plan as a step in the right direction. The most common observation heard in the street was that "something was finally being done to fight the depression."

Trading here revolved around the utility shares, which in nearly every instance were in better price positions when the day drew to a close. Middle West Utilities was the most active stock on the board, with sales of approximately 25,000 shares. The issue was bid up fractionally to 9⅝. Insull common and other stocks in the group finished with moderate gains.

Considerable interest developed in Cord shares following the publication of the surprisingly creditable earnings statement by its affiliate Auburn Automobile company.

Motor Issues Improve.

Cord, which has substantial holdings of Auburn stock, stands to benefit from the increased earnings reported by the latter. Other motor shares, including Bendix and Borg-Warner, were active and each showed some improvement for the day.

Quaker Oats was a weak spot. Considering that the stock is closely held, the recent liquidation in the stock has been interpreted as necessitous selling. It has taken only small offerings to break the price and yesterday 160 shares was enough to depress the price to 97, which represented a net loss of 4 points for the day.

GRAHAM SALES LAST MONTH IN WIDE ADVANCE

Shipments of Graham eight cylinder cars in September were greater than the combined totals for June, July, and August, and were the largest for any single month since April, it was announced yesterday by the Graham-Paige Motors corporation of Detroit, in a message received here by Bird-Sykes company, Chicago distributors. It is also stated that dealer orders in September were more than five times as great as in August.

September shipments of 1,312 cars showed a marked gain over July and August, and for the first time this year the total was ahead of the corresponding month of 1930. Unfilled orders carried over into October were the largest in six months. Cook county registrations last month were 117 per cent ahead of August, while the Graham gain in Detroit amounted to more than 90 per cent.

HOOVER'S PLAN STARTS A RALLY IN BOND MARKET

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Bonds rallied confidently today in response to President Hoover's plan for releasing frozen assets of banks. All departments shared in the rise, which amounted to 1.5 points in the Standard Statistics-Associated Press average of 60 issues, one of the sharpest advances in some time.

Rails and utilities were particularly strong and in many instances the demand was active. Substantial gains, running to several points, were numerous, although these reflected chiefly the thinness of the market. Carrier bonds legal for savings bank investment in this state strengthened encouragingly and rallies of 1 to 3 points or more were well sustained.

Features in the industrial list were Goodrich issues, Remington 6s, Chile Copper 8s, American I. G. Chemical 5½s, International Match 5s, and Standard Oil of New York 4½s. Foreigns were mostly higher, exceptions being the German 5½s and 7s. The latter lost 3½. United States obligations were somewhat mixed. Liberty fourth 4¼s lost ¼ in a substantial turnover, but volume in other issues was moderate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 7.—With the "good news" out on President Hoover's plan for relieving the domestic credit situation, the stock market—following its natural bent—reacted somewhat today from the dazzling heights it attained in yesterday's sensational upturn.

The close found the leaders displaying net losses of from a fraction to 4 points.

The setback was due mainly to profit taking by traders who had convinced themselves that the rally was too spectacular to last even with the constructive interpretation generally placed on the Hoover program. There was some evidence also that bear operators had taken it for granted that the announcement had been sufficiently discounted by yesterday's developments and were adding their sales to those for realizing accounts. Still another suggestion, that no doubt had some basis in fact, was that certain Wall street powers that be, unwilling to risk the consequences of a runaway market at the present stage of developments, had thrown in a considerable lot of offerings with a view to keeping price movements within bounds until the way clears a little further ahead.

Praise Hoover Plan.

Observers agreed that the sudden slowing up of the advance could not be set down as a fair index to the street's reaction to the presidential proposals. Nothing but praise of the project was to be heard in any quarter.

Something of this general feeling of optimism and hope was reflected in the early dealings on the exchange. Opening prices showed an advance of from a fraction to more than 5 points over yesterday's final figures and the

OPERATING NET OF 171 ROADS IS $55,858,714

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 7.—Net operating income of 171 class 1 railroads in August was $55,858,714 against $96,017,000 in August, 1930, which was a decrease of 41.82 per cent, the largest monthly drop in earnings reported since the depression began. The drop in net operating income in July was 31.9 per cent and in June 27.5 per cent.

The figures, supplied by the bureau of railway economics, show also that in the eight months of 1931 net operating income was $350,942,000 against $556,466,000 in August, 1930, a decline of 36.9 per cent. In eight months, gross decreased 19 per cent and expenses were cut 17.1 per cent. The gross in August was down 21.8 per cent and expenses that month were cut 17.7 per cent.

Simmons Company Sales in September Decline

The Simmons company, excluding subsidiaries, reported September sales of $2,368,068, as against $3,101,652 in September, 1930. For the first nine months of this year sales totaled $19,084,835, against $25,609,691 for the same 1930 period. Including subsidiaries, sales for last month were $3,018,899, against $3,804,096; for the nine months' period, $23,217,187, against $31,432,191.

166,788 U. S. Steel Stock Holders Get Dividends

Holders of United States Steel corporation common stock to receive the dividend at the end of September numbered 166,788, an increase of 10,549 over the 156,239 at the end of June. Preferred stockholders at the end of August totaled 57,966, compared with 58,291 three months previously.

Argentine Orders Boost of 10% in Customs Duties

ABOUT $75,000,000 IN GOLD SHORTLY TO BE EXPORTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 7.—Further gold engagements for export, owing to the persistent strength in several foreign currencies, notably francs, increased from a preliminary figure of $25,000,000 yesterday to a total nearer $75,000,000 today. The bulk of these shipments will go to France and the shippers will be Lazard Freres and the Guaranty Trust company, with possibly a few others.

Up to a late hour Lazard Freres had engaged $2,000,000 for shipment on the Berengaria, $5,600,000 for the Bremen, and $3,500,000 for the liner Paris. The Berengaria sailed today, the Bremen tomorrow and the Paris Friday.

The $75,000,000 leaving this week will make a total of nearly $150,000,000 gold exported in two weeks, and is in addition to more than $300,000,000 earmarked for foreign account since the middle of September. Hence the country now has a loss of gold on the balance for the year, the $400,000,000 received from Jan. 1 to Aug. 30 being more than wiped out. Plenty of gold remains here to be redistributed and more is steadily coming in from South America and the far east. Japan is sending $35,000,000 to San Francisco during the next two months, and Argentina $10,000,000, half of which is due Friday.

Turner was named vice president of the firm. Besides Mr. Free and Mr. Turner the new directors of the business are L. A. Randall, M. J. Baum, and J. K. Garr.

Hosiery Workers Agree to 30-45% Wage Reduction

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Officers of the American Federation of Full-Fashioned Hosiery Workers and the Full-Fashioned Hosiery Manufacturers of America, Inc., today formally signed a new wage agreement under which pay of union workers is reduced from 30 to 45 per cent. Dr. George Wharton Taylor of the University of Pennsylvania was selected as wage arbitrator, succeeding Dr. Paul Abelson.

The pact was signed with the intention of bringing peace within the industry which has suffered many strikes and wage differences since 1928, officials said. More than 18,000 workers and 60 manufacturers in the United States and Canada are affected.

The new wage agreement was signed, union officers said, to enable manufacturers to continue business. As soon as conditions warrant the levels will be raised, manufacturers agreed.

EVEN A SLIGHT UPTURN

A study of the business of great corporations today, shows that, with an astonishing degree of uniformity they are making profits and that even a slight increase in business volume will mean very large increases in their net earnings. • The wise investor, unconcerned with short-term trends, will buy at depression prices, safe in the knowledge that recovery alone must greatly enhance the value of common stock holdings. • In times such as these, however, he will trust to the law of averages, avoiding guesses. He will buy stocks of not one or two but many great corporations. • This he can do today under special safeguards through NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARES, largest of all fixed trusts. • For further information ask any one of the 1500-security dealers who recommend them.

Top yesterday, $6.50; average, $5.75.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 6,000; hogs, 23,000; sheep, 25,000.

All classes of live stock sold to better advantage yesterday. A new high mark of $10.60 was chalked up for cattle on a house of the market which came soon after the opening despite the fact that receipts exceeded expectations. This figure stands highest since early April.

Hog supplies were held down and sales were up 10@25c and highest since last Friday. The brakes were also applied to sliding lamb prices and strength was in evidence at the finish. Buyers slashed lamb prices $1.25@1.50 in less than a week's, time and producers have retaliated by cutting down available market supplies.

Receipts Shrink.

Hog receipts at 14,000 were smallest for Wednesday in recent weeks and compared with 24,324 a week ago. All interests were eager for stock at the seemingly attractive prices, resulting in a quick clearance for all but the inferior grades which made up most of the 5,000 estimated left in the pens at the close. The holdover was smallest for Wednesday since last March.

Prime 280 lb butchers topped the price list at $5.70, showing a 15c gain, while the general average advanced 5c at $5.20. Since last week's close the tendency in some parts of the country has been to hold back.

The total receipts at the eleven leading markets for the three days this week show a 15 per cent decrease compared with a year ago. Inspected slaughter in the United States during the past month at 2,954,565 stands third largest on record for September, due to liquidation rather than any increase in production for this season. The record September slaughter was made in 1923 when 3,212,350 were slaughtered, but production in the United States is 25 per cent behind that year. It is the opinion of the trade that this liquidation will be noticed in receipts later in the winter.

December Hogs $4.65.

Contracts for December hogs were sold at $4.65 on yesterday's futures market, but few offers were made below $4.75. There are plenty of buyers for $4.50 December and January contracts. October light, medium and heavy grades carried bids of $5.00. On the to arrive market medium weights for today were bid $5.60.

The increase in cattle receipts failed to halt the advance in prices that started Monday. Good to choice grades advanced 10@25c more, while plain quality stock and thin cattle held steady on support from country buyers of stockers and feeders who have been more aggressive during the last few days. Buying of slaughter stock continued to favor medium and weighty stock.

Prime 1,272 lb averages topped the market at $10.60, while best yearlings stopped at $10.25. Inbetween classes of cattle, the kinds selling at $7.00@9.00, showed some weakness after early orders had been filled. Stock below the $7.00 line came in for competition with feeding steers and only the poorest grades were obtained at reductions. Cows and heifers were steady. Calves weakened again.

Sheep Receipts Small.

Sheep receipts were cut in half at leading markets yesterday and were easily held quotations in line with the best time of the previous day's session, which was the lowest spot for lambs since 1911. Top natives stopped at $6.50 again, while best range stock went at $6.25 to packers and at $6.35 to shippers.

Curtailment of supplies was widespread yesterday, but producers in the west are reported to be holding about 50 per cent of the year's crop in readiness and liberal receipts can be expected. The federal inspected sheep slaughter in the United States during last month at 1,666,986 established a new record for September. During the first nine months of the year 13,180,866 sheep and lambs were slaughtered, also a record. Three years ago the 9 months' total was below 10 millions. Back in 1917 less than 5 millions were slaughtered.

BULLISH FEELING IN GRAIN MARTS RECEIVES CHECK

Prices of Both Wheat and Corn Decline.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Enthusiastic bullish sentiment in the grain markets received a setback yesterday. The failure of aggressive outside buying to follow the sharp bulge of the previous day induced some of Tuesday's purchasers to sell out, and there was also more pressure due to the recession in the security markets. Trade in the aggregate, however, was fair, and the trade as a whole were not included to press the selling side on the breaks due to the already low level of prices.

For the time being traders are looking to the stock market for the incentive to take the buying or selling side. The supply and demand situation continues to attract little attention, as there has been no change of consequence in the latter of late and foreign buying of North American grain is below normal for the season, although the Liverpool market closed ⅝@⅝d higher. The exchange rate of $3.88, however, was slightly lower, so that net gains were only ¼@⅝c per bu.

Wheat Closes Near Bottom.

There was a small advance in wheat futures at the start, but the aggressive buying of Tuesday was absent, and the local element were quick to change their positions on the market in consequence. Houses with eastern connections were also fair sellers at times and the close was about the bottom, with net losses of ⅝@¾c, the December finishing at 48¾c, May 50¾c, and July 51¼c. The latter sold up to 53c at the start, or 2¼c above the previous close. Winnipeg eased toward the last on increased hedging pressure and closed ⅝@1¼c lower, December being 52¾c in Canadian funds, which were 10¼ per cent under American, against 11¾ per cent on Tuesday.

Confirmation of a heavy reduction in the Argentine wheat acreage was given in the second official estimate for that country, showing a total of 17,226,000 acres, compared with 21,307,000 acres in 1930, a decrease of around 19 per cent. Russia has ceased its efforts to collectivize all the farms in that country and announces that it will make every effort to show farmers how to seed and harvest in the most efficient manner.

Corn Closes Cent Lower.

Scattered buying was in evidence in corn early, but there was a lack of the aggressive support given by leading professionals which was so much a factor on Tuesday, and the close was at the bottom, with net losses of ⅞@1c, the December being 33⅞c, May 37⅞@37¾c, and July 38¼c. The lack of a good eastern shipping demand is counting against the market, and while heavy rains were shown in some sections of the west, the forecast indicated generally fair and much colder, and the trade is now inclined to look for an early movement of new grain, barring unforeseen developments.

The possibility of a farmers' selling strike, which is reported as making rapid progress in parts of Illinois and Iowa, due to the current low prices, has not attracted much attention from the trade, although, were conditions normal, the possibility of a small movement of corn to terminals might have had some effect on the nearby delivery. Country offerings to arrive remain fair, with purchase of 87,000 bu reported, while shipping sales were 67,000 bu.

Oats and rye were dominated entirely by the action of other grains, with oats closing ¼@¾c lower. December finished at 21⅝@21¼c and May at 24¼c, while rye was ⅝@¾c lower, with December 37¼c and May 40¼c.

COTTON HIGHER EARLY; LOSES ADVANCE LATER

Cotton markets were advanced sharply early yesterday on the continuation of the buying so conspicuous late the previous day. Cables were higher than expected and American markets were up around $1.00 a bale during the early trading. Toward the last a selling movement set in, due to the decline in stocks, and prices for cotton futures dropped around 30 points. The close was at the bottom, with net losses on futures in Chicago of 8@10 points and in other markets 7@12 points. Spots were off 10 points, with New York, 5.70c; New Orleans, 5.45c; Galveston, 5.50c, and Houston, 5.40c. Liverpool was 8@11 points net higher at the close.

Traders evened up for the government report due today. Expectations are that there will be only a moderate change from the September estimate of 15,685,000 bales. Last year's crop was 13,932,000 bales. Private estimates range from 14,287,000 to 15,908,000 bales. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Grain traders took the position yesterday that so long as the stock market is spasmodic, with bulges one day and breaks the next, there is no use in trying to start a bull market in grains. Trade sentiment has favored the buying side on all breaks for several days, and although a fair run of outside buying orders has developed on weak spots, the average buyer has insufficient courage to induce him to stand on his holdings when the market turns against him, regardless of low prices.

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The Nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small-loan law. We voluntarily established this low rate in 1928, and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

For example:

The average monthly cost of a $200 loan, repaid in 20 equal monthly payments, is $2.63. This is the lowest cost in Chicago.

JAPANESE AIR FLEET BOMBS CITY IN CHINA

Many Lives Lost in 2 Hour Attack.

The first skirmish of the Japanese invasion of Manchuria, including the occupation of Mukden and the bursting of the shot at Chanzin, are printed on the back page of today's Tribune.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Oct. 9 (Friday).—A dispatch to the Daily Express this morning from Peiping said a railway employe at Chinchow, China, telephoned that he had counted at least twenty civilians killed by Japanese bombs dropped during an air raid over the town and that he believed many more were killed. The German legation at Peiping, the dispatch said, received a message saying a German professor was among those killed. It said five planes also bombed Tung Chutun, a small town near Hsinmin. Heavy gunfire, it said, was audible to the northeast of Tung Chutun yesterday.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Oct. 8. Twelve Japanese military planes this morning bombed Chinchow, 147 miles southwest of Mukden and the seat of the provisional government of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, Manchurian war lord. The air raid was directed chiefly against university buildings, housing the Manchurian government, and Chinese military barracks.

About fifty bombs were dropped into the city as the air squadron, flying in perfect formation, circled over the city. The bombardment, which created a panic, lasted two hours. No heavy loss of life was reported, though the exact extent of the casualties is unknown.

Bombs Wreck Buildings.

The university and the barracks were reduced to wreckage by the exploding bombs.

The air raid was ordered by Lieut. Shigeru Honjo, commander of the Japanese forces occupying southern Manchuria. The attack was made after reconnoitering planes had reported that Marshal Chang was concentrating Chinese troops at Chinchow. Honjo was preparing to attack the Japanese forces at Mukden.

Chinchow is located on the Peiping-Mukden railway and is outside of the zone of the Japanese owned South Manchurian railroad.

As quickly as the bombing planes returned to their base at Mukden, Honjo, capital of Manchuria, seized by Japanese troops on Sept. 18, Gen. Honjo dispatched three scouting planes to Chinchow. The planes dropped thousands of leaflets, written in the Chinese language, into the city warning that if troop concentrations were continued by Marshal Chang, the Japanese would launch military operations. The residents of the city were also warned to avoid the establishment of the overlord's government there.

Chinese Fire on Flyers.

Gen. Honjo announced that the Chinese troops had fired upon the Japanese planes. His ultimatum to Marshal Chang and Chinese civil officials of Chinchow follows in part:

"Chinese troops who were responsible for the attempt to blow up the South Manchurian railway track last month have been incorporated in the Chinese army now congregated at Chinchow. The provisional government at Chinchow is trying to disturb peace and order at Mukden, which is being maintained through the efforts of the Japanese, by employing plain clothes operatives to carry on intrigue and also by secretly negotiating with 30,000 Chinese troops under Gen. Yen Hsi-shau, stationed along the South Manchurian railway.

Acts Considered Hostile.

"These actions are being committed by the Chinchow régime ... under command of Chang Hsueh-liang and are therefore considered hostile to the Japanese army, which is using all its energy to maintain peace and order in the Mukden area. ... not overlook such intrigue ... threats as they are seriously affecting the safety of the district ... is temporarily under the control of the Japanese army.

"The Japanese army cannot recognize Marshal Chang's provisional government at Chinchow, in which ... included troops formerly stationed at Mukden under Gen. Wang-ich ... are enemies of the peaceful ... population as far as the South ...
